ESPIONAGE - R

In connection with the case entitled "Soviet Espionage - R", a series of messages dated from July 20, 1944 to January 8, 1945 have been received which reflect the activity of the M.G.B. in recruiting three persons as Soviet agents, all of whom were apparently employed in agencies of the United States Government.

One of these persons was designated in the messages by the code name of Sina. In a message dated July 20, 1944 it is indicated that Sina was working in the Economic Section of the War Division of the Department of Justice. In a message dated December 5, 1944 it is stated that Sina was being "drawn into active work" and was to be advised where her information was going (i.e. Soviet Intelligence). On December 31, 1944 a message states that Sina was being transferred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice. A message dated January 8, 1945 comments that Sina's new work would be very important to the M.G.B. and she would enter the work (probably meaning the Foreign Agents Registration Section) on February 15, 1945. This message indicates that she would move to Washington, D. C.

Information has been obtained from the Department which reflects that Sina is without doubt identical with Judith Coplon, who is presently an employee in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice. The Department's file reflects that Judith Coplon was recommended by a Robert Wohlforth of the Economic Warfare Section, War Division, Department of Justice, New York Office, on May 29, 1943 for the position of translator-research assistant. She entered on duty June 15, 1943 and served in the Economic Warfare Section. On December 19, 1944 there appears a recommendation for her transfer to the position of political analyst in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department, Washington, D. C. with a potential assignment to matters dealing with the British Empire. The transfer was ordered on December 20, 1944 and was to be effective January 16, 1945. The transfer was actually effective on February 16, 1945. It was ascertained from the Department that Judith Coplon is the only employee of the Economic Warfare Section to ever be transferred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section.

It is to be noted that this subject was investigated by your Office (WFO file 77-18466) in the case entitled "Judith Coplon, Departmental Applicant, Political Analyst". You should carefully review that file for additional information regarding this woman. You will note that that file lists the subject's address as 2634 Tunlaw Road, N. W., Washington, D. C. It is also noted that the current telephone directory gives the same residence address and lists her telephone as Woodley 5217.

You will be issued separate instructions for a full field loyalty investigation of this woman which should be handled separately by your Office, but at the same time, carefully coordinated in so far as the information obtained by investigation is concerned. The Bureau is requesting authorization for a technical surveillance on this subject and as soon as this authorization is obtained, you will be advised. The following investigation of this woman should be immediately instituted.

You should arrange for Z coverage, make a survey to determine the possibilities for the institution of a microphone surveillance, and also to determine if a highly confidential source of information can be obtained. It is also requested that spot surveillances be conducted on this subject in order to determine her activities and contacts. Every effort should be made to conduct this investigation in such a manner so that we will, at the earliest possible time, be in a position to determine if this subject is presently engaged as an agent for the M.G.B.

You will be issued additional instructions for the investigation of the two other persons mentioned in the messages as Soviet agents. You should keep the Bureau fully advised of all developments in this case.

RE: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

At 1:30 P.M. on January 14th, Supervisor Ken Delavigne of the Washington Field Office called to advise that subject COPLON was en route to New York City via the Pennsylvania Railroad coach train, surveilled by Tom Mendenhall and Dudley Payne. COPLON was described as 27 years of age, 5'1" in height, 105 lbs, brown hair. She was dressed in black, dress and coat and wore a gray cone shaped hat. He stated COPLON was going to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. SAMUEL COPLON, 178 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, telephone GE 8-1048.

Mr. Delavigne stated, however, that informants of the Washington Field Office stated that COPLON indicated she was going to see someone else prior to going to her parents' home. He requested a discreet spot check physical surveillance and stated that emphasis should be placed on discretion in connection with the surveillance of this subject.

On January 15th at 4:30 P.M., I called SA Wills of the Washington Field Office and advised that we had picked up a very significant contact of hers during physical surveillance on the night of January 14th. I explained that we were sending a teletype to the Washington Field and the Bureau that afternoon and in the teletype were indicating that we had dropped the surveillance on COPLON in view of the importance of the contact, and in the interest of discretion.

I suggested Supervisor Delavigne and the agent handling the case arrange to review this teletype and in the event the Washington Field Office has any contrary instructions, they should be telephonically furnished to this office in order that our plans can be changed.

On the afternoon of January 18th, Mr. Fletcher of the Bureau called to advise that JUDITH COPLON is leaving Washington for New York City on the afternoon of January 19th to spend the weekend here. He advised that the exact time of her departure would be furnished later. He requested that the same type of surveillance be placed on her as last week. He suggested that one of the girl employees of the office be utilized at the station in order that COPLON's activities can be followed if she goes to the ladies' room. He also suggested that we cover the activities of the individual she met last weekend.

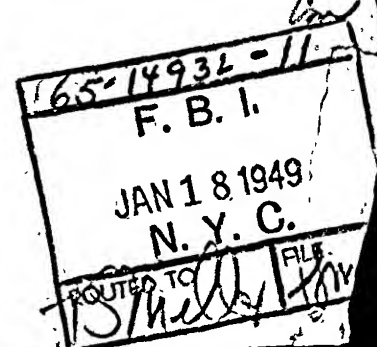

I pointed out to Mr. Fletcher that she is very surveillance conscious and that the agents will do their utmost to maintain a discreet surveillance without being made.

On the afternoon of January 19, 1949, Mr. H. B. Fletcher of the Bureau advised that he would like to be kept informed daily concerning the surveillance on JUDITH COPLON. He advised that the surveillance should be kept on throughout the weekend but that it must be discreet and should not be made by the subject. I advised him that, under these circumstances, we would do the best we could but that undoubtedly we could not maintain the surveillance on a complete basis; that we would have to use our best judgment and drop it from time to time if it becomes dangerous.

Mr. Fletcher further advised that the Bureau was sending a letter authorizing a technical surveillance on GUIBECHEV. I advised him we were requesting a technical coverage on COPLON's parents inasmuch as she has been up here twice in a few weeks.

On the afternoon of January 20, 1949, I called Mr. H. B. Fletcher of the Bureau and related to him the activities of JUDITH COPLON from the time she and her companion, HAROLD P. SHAPIRO, arrived in New York at 4:45 pm on January 19. I advised they went to the Hotel Taft, attempted unsuccessfully to register and then went to the Hotel Piccadilly, where he registered under his right name and address in Washington. They spent about an hour in his room and she left her luggage and purse while they went to the Alps Restaurant and the Century Theatre. They returned to the hotel and she waited in the lobby while he went to the room and got her luggage and purse. He took her home, remained about five minutes and then came back to the hotel. Today, January 20, she has been at home and just recently came out and is walking.

I advised Mr. Fletcher that we questioned the advisability of a continued surveillance of her. I told him that we had made a confidential check of her effects and the effects of SHAPIRO during their absence from the hotel room; that her address book reflected numerous names and addresses which we are checking and which we will advise the Bureau further concerning by teletype. The diary contained 7 entries and they were furnished to Mr. Fletcher as set forth in the memorandum of SA T. S. Miller dated January 20. It was pointed out that all of the entries make sense and apparently are identified with her friends with the exception of the first entry on January 14, which makes no sense, and the last entry, on February 18, 1949, which likewise does not appear to be normal. January 14 was the day she met GUBITCHEV. February 18 will be the first Friday after one-month lapse from her meeting with GUBITCHEV and may possibly be a reminder of the next meet.

I advised Mr. Fletcher that she resides in a Jewish neighborhood and a continued surveillance may burn her. I advised him that we thought here that there was a good possibility of possibly picking her up and GUBITCHEV at the time of their next meet, particularly if she brings some records up with her. Mr. Fletcher advised that he did not know what action the Department was going to take as to severing her services; however, the Bureau agreed that there might be a possibility of taking action against her at the time of the next contact with GUBITCHEV. He advised that the Bureau is seriously considering this. He advised further that he would call back as to whether we should maintain the surveillance over the weekend.

 There was an envelope in Coplon's purse with the return address "Morton Pomeranz, 1633 51st. St., Bklyn 4, N.Y." The letter was personal in nature and the signature was illegible. There was ~~####~~ added after the signature, in a different handwriting and at an ~~####~~ angle, the following "ECA - are looking for P-25 pretty closed corp - need someone to work for him. Send him over to Milton Quint. CAB Chertkoff."

The above material was obtained by SA's R.J. ~~####~~ Wirth, J. H. Glascock and the writer on January 19, 1949 in room 508, Picadilly Hotel, E. 45th. St., N.Y.C. Mr. Roy Moulton, Mgr. of the Hotel advised the writer that Shapiro had registered for a single room ~~###~~ at 6:03 PM, under the name of Harold P Shapiro, 2019 O St., NW, Wash. D. C.

A check of Shapiro's 2 suiter revealed nothing but clothing. In addition to clothing, Coplon's case contained the following:

- Copy of New Yorker (Jan)
- Book "RABELAIS" by Samuel Putnam, published by Viking Press, NYC, 1946.
- Black leather purse, with gold trim containing an address book, diary, bank book of Judith Coplon with the City National Bank Wash, acc't opened 1945, check book showing balance of $404.00, and an envelope with letter enclosed.

Re: Judith Coplon;
Espionage - R.

This is to advise that on the instant date the writer and R. J. Wirth contacted St. Joseph Murphy of the Penn. Rd. Police, Penn. Station. The following arrangements were made to cover the possibility that Coplon will again check her bag at Penn. Sta.:

Det. Oleski, Penn. Rd. Police will be on duty at 4 PM on, and will make available a private room where a camera can be set up. He will have the master key to all lock boxes in Penn. Sta. If situation severe, Coplon's bag will be removed from locker, taken to room, unlocked and anything of interest photographed. This master key does not trip the visible comptometer on the locker, designating the number of times the locker has been opened and relocked.

On January 20, 1949, COPLON spent all afternoon shopping. Finally took downtown Lexington Avenue subway. Train got to Wall Street station (going south). At last moment, COPLON jumped off the train, walked slowly along the platform looking in mirrors on vending machines for ostensible purpose of primping. Walked past the underpass entrance to 120 Broadway and also past the exit to the west side of Broadway. Walked through a long corridor going west which comes out on Trinity Place (parallel with Broadway), then north one block to Rector Street, then back east one block to Broadway, then north for part of a block, then crossed to east side of Broadway, then south to 120 Broadway which is just across the street from where she got off the subway. Waited a few minutes outside of the entrance, then went inside and waited in lobby 15 to 20 minutes. Left building with unknown woman at about 6:50 pm. Woman was carrying a brief case. Went to Old Dutch Tavern on John Street between Broadway and Nassau Street. Had dinner - could not tell whether anything was passed.

Left Tavern at 8:55 p.m., walked to Park Place and Broadway, talked a few moments and separated. COPLON went home. Unknown woman went to 404 Riverside Drive.

COPLON's diary for January 20, 1949 said "HELEN SIEGEL - eve shopping". Her address book gave SIEGEL's home address as 404 Riverside Drive and office phone as CO 7-3670. This is listed to EDWARD RAGER, attorney, 120 Broadway.

Files of this office show RAGER to be a Republican City Councilman, and as of 1942 was Recording Secretary of the National Republican Club. On March 18, 1947, RAGER called for an investigation by the FBI of the murder of JOSEPH SCOTTORIGGIO (Republican election worker) and of "political gangsters" terrorizing east Harlem. Also for a probe into the political practices in the 18th Congressional District, NYC (VITO MARCANTONIO's district). This resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules of the City Council.

On January 5, 1948, the "Militant", organ of the SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY, carried an article announcing a gathering on January 10, 1948, of the TRESCA MEMORIAL COMMITTEE, to pay tribute to CARLO TRESCA who was murdered in 1943. Several speakers were listed, among whom were EDWARD RAGER, City an

On the afternoon of January 21, I called Mr. H. B. Fletcher of the Bureau and furnished him in detail with the movements of JUDITH COPLON on January 20th, as reflected in the memorandum of SA T. S. Miller attached. I also advised that there may be a logical explanation for her actions in the circuitous route she took to meet HELEN SIEGEL but her actions do not appear entirely normal. I advised Mr. Fletcher that we have several references on Attorney RAGER and that these indicate that he is a reputable former secretary of a Republican club, a present New York City Council member and rather definitely anti-Communist. Therefore, if anything were given to COPLON by SIEGEL, it would have come from the files of RAGER inasmuch as it would appear that SIEGEL works in RAGER's office.

I further advised Mr. Fletcher that COPLON has been at home all day until just a short while ago when she left her home and she is presently on the street under surveillance.

I also advised Mr. Fletcher that HAROLD SHAPIRO had checked out of the Piccadilly Hotel on the morning of January 20, having spent only one night and had probably gone on to Connecticut.

At 10:55 P.M., January 15, 1948, SPECIAL AGENT J. M. KELLY received a telephone call from SPECIAL AGENT E. N. WILLS, Washington Field Office, concerning the captioned subject. SPECIAL AGENT WILLS advised that the only information Washington Field has is that the subject is in New York City for the weekend to visit her mother in Brooklyn, and that presumably she will return to Washington, D.C., for work on January 17, 1949.

On the morning of January 16, 1949, the writer advised SPECIAL AGENTS T. S. MILLER and R. R. GRANVILLE, of the above information.

GUY HOTTEL, SAC, Washington Field

JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

Reference is made to Bureau letter dated January 4, 1949, requesting that appropriate records of the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs be examined to determine the backgrounds of MARIAN PARK DAVIS and one MARION DAVIS. The letter further instructed that background information available regarding these two women should be carefully examined in order to determine if they are acquainted with subject JUDITH COPLON or a woman associate of JUDITH COPLON who might possibly be "ZORA".

From a check of the personnel files of Mrs. MARIAN PARK DAVIS and MARION DAVIS, there is no apparent acquaintanceship with the subject, JUDITH COPLON, or any mutual acquaintances, but the background of MARION DAVIS closely approximates and parallels that of COPLON and she may very well be acquainted with her.

The records of the Institute of Inter-American Affairs, Washington, D. C., reflect that MARION DAVIS was employed as an Economic Analyst, Department of Transportation and Economic Development, Economic Division, O.C.I.-A.A. from January 10, 1945 to November 28, 1945.

In an application for federal employment dated December 13, 1944, DAVIS gave her birthdate as June 14, 1922. She listed her father as JULIUS DAVIS, 644 Riverside Drive, New York City, born Warsaw, Russia, naturalized 1927; mother REBECCA DAVIS, born St. Petersburg, Russia, naturalized 1931. Miss DAVIS's legal residence was also listed as 644 Riverside Drive, New York City. In this application, MARION DAVIS gave as references the following individuals: Dr. FRANK TANNENBAUM and Dr. JOSEY ANTONIO AGUIRRE, both Fayerweather Hall, Columbia University, New York; MARIA CECILIA ARMIDA, Cancellor, Mexico Embassy and Embaixado de Mexico, Rio de Janeiro, Brasil; Dr. OTTO MAYER-SERRA, Editor of "Tiempo", Apt. 1122, Mexico, D. F.; Captain A. S. HICKEY, U. S. Naval Attache, American Embassy, Mexico, D. F.

The files of the O.C.I.-A.A. reflect that from September, 1939 to June, 1941, and from September, 1942 to June, 1943, she attended Barnard College, Columbia University, receiving an A.B. degree at the latter date. From September, 1941 to June, 1942, she attended the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin. From July to December, 1943, she attended the National University of Mexico, Mexico City.

She was employed from October, 1941 to May, 1942 as an apprentice reporter on the "Capitol Times" newspaper, Madison, Wisconsin. From December, 1943 to July, 1944 she was employed by the Office of Naval Intelligence, U. S. Naval Attache, American Embassy, Mexico, D. F., in which position she was in complete charge of the Naval Attache's files, translation and research in Spanish language periodicals and Mexican Government publications.

While employed in this position, she was under the immediate supervision of ELLSWORTH E. DODGE, Chief, Clerk. From July, 1944 to January, 1945, MARION DAVIS was unemployed.

Her personnel file at the O.C.I.-A.A. contains a favorable letter of recommendation dated December 26, 1944, directed to Mrs. BETTY R. BAYERS, Placement Officer, O.C.I.-A.A., from Captain M. S. HICKEY, U. S. Naval Attache and Naval Attache for Air. This letter stated that he considered her completely loyal to the United States.

On September 26, 1945, DAVIS entered on a 60 day leave without pay at which time she gave her intention of returning to New York City and attempting to transfer to another Government agency there. Her last day of actual work in Washington with the O.C.I.-A.A. was on September 28, 1945. By letter dated December 11, 1945, at New York City, DAVIS advised that she wished to resign.

While in Washington, D. C., DAVIS resided on January 10, 1945, at the Y.W.C.A., 1011 17th Street, N. W.; on January 23, 1945, at 1535 New Hampshire Avenue, N. W. and on October 2, 1945 at 1901 16th Street, N. W.

It is noted that both MARION DAVIS and JUDITH COPLON attended Barnard College between September of 1939 and June of 1943; both were interested in languages; and both were interested in newspaper work.

It is also noted that in reference letter, it is stated that in December of 1944, consideration was being given to drawing MARION DAVIS into the work of the MIS in that on January 15, 1945, there is

Letter to the Director

January 19, 1949

mention of "signing up LOU" through "ZORA", indicating that MARION DAVIS had agreed to work for the MOB.

It is further noted that MARION DAVIS filed an application for federal employment with the O.C.I.-A.A. on December 13, 1944 and commenced this employment in Washington, D. C. on January 10, 1945.

Reference letter further points out that a MARION DAVIS contacted JOSE ANTONIO ARZE, the head of the Party of the Revolutionary Left (Communist Party) of Bolivia in New York City on December 8, 1944. MARION DAVIS at the time of this contact informed ARZE that one ROBERTA had left Mexico on December 8, 1944 for the International Labor Conference which was to be held at Cali, Columbia on December 10, 1944. It is noted that MARION DAVIS ceased employment with the ONI in Mexico in July of 1944 and was employed from that date to January of 1945 and was possibly in New York during that period.

Referring to the portion of reference letter advising that "ZORA" was, in December of 1944, apparently working for the government and was considering transferring to the State Department, OSS, or some analogous agency, and requesting the Washington Field Office to determine what agency or agencies intended to cease independent operation six months after December of 1944, it is noted that the 1947 first edition U. S. Government Manual revised to December 1, 1946, published by the Division of Public Inquiries, Government Information Service, Bureau of the Budget, Washington, D. C., reflects the following information concerning the O.C.I.-A.A.: An order of the Council of National Defense, approved by the President August 16, 1940, established Office for Coordination of Commercial and Cultural Relations between the American Republics. This Office was succeeded by the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, created in Office for Emergency Management by Executive Order 8840 of July 30, 1941, to serve as coordination center of cultural and commercial relations with the other American republics. Name changed to Office of Inter-American Affairs by Executive Order 9532 of March 23, 1945. Executive Order 9608 of August 31, 1945, transferred to the Department of State the information functions. Terminated by Executive Order 9710 of April 10, 1946, and functions transferred to the Department of State, effective May 20, 1946. It is further noted that Appendix "A" of this publication lists Executive Agencies and Functions of the Federal Government abolished, transferred, or terminated subsequent to March 4, 1933.

Letter to the Director

The records of the United States Civil Service Commission were checked and it was ascertained that MARION DAVIS is not at the present time employed by any Government agency.

It is requested that the New York Division discreetly attempt to ascertain the present whereabouts of MARION DAVIS and furnish the Washington Field Office with all available background information concerning her.

The Washington Field Office will check the records of the Office of Naval Intelligence, Washington, D. C., for whatever additional information is available concerning MARION DAVIS.

The following information was contained in the records of the Institute of Inter-American Affairs concerning MARIAN PARK DAVIS:

The records of the Institute of Inter-American Affairs, Washington, D. C., reflect that MARION PARK DAVIS was employed by the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs as an Information Publicist, Press Division, Radio News Section, from April 7, 1943 to July 7, 1944, at which time she terminated this employment to accept a position at the Office of War Information. She had previously been employed by the Central Administrative Services of the Office of Emergency Management and transferred from this position on the aforementioned date to the O.C.I.-A.A.

The files of the OCI-AA contain an application for Federal employment dated March 8, 1943, which reflects that MARIAN PARK DAVIS was born May 31, 1909 at Wellsville, New York. She attended the University of Buffalo from 1926 to 1927, and from 1928 to 1930, receiving an A.B. degree at this latter date. From 1927 to 1928, she attended Syracuse University at Syracuse, New York. She also took a special course in English and Classics at the University of Pittsburgh (no dates given) and studied Spanish at the American Institute. She was employed from February 5, 1943 to April 7, 1943 as an Information Specialist, Office of Emergency Management, under the supervision of EDWARD MARD and AL HAUSRAHL, Bond Building, Washington, D. C. From May of 1942 to February of 1943, she was a

Letter to the Director

January 19, 1949

Senior Conference Writer, WPB, Temporary Building E, Washington, D. C., summarizing discussions at the W.P.B., Industry Advisory Committee meetings and was under the supervision of D. TEPPER. From December, 1941 to April, 1942, she was the Director of the Tropical News Bureau, furnishing news stories and pictures to northern papers reporting leading hotels and working with the Chamber of Commerce under the supervision of Mr. ARTHUR OGLE, 719 Las Olas Boulevard, Fort Lauderdale, Florida. From November, 1940 to April, 1941, she was employed as a reporter for the Miami Daily News, Miami, Florida under the supervision of CHAL LEYSHON, news editor. During the summer of 1939, she was employed on a special assignment in Nassau, B. I., for the International News Service, New York City, covering the arrival of the WINDSORS. From November of 1939 to April of 1940, she was Publicity Director of the Surf Club, Miami Beach, Florida, under the supervision of Vice-President ALFRED BARTON. From November of 1938 to April of 1939, she was employed by STEVE HANNAGEN's Miami Beach News Service, Miami Beach, Florida as a feature writer working with camera men and newsreel photographers under the supervision of JOE COPPS. From 1932 to 1937, she was a feature writer, news reporter and columnist with the Buffalo Times, Buffalo, New York, under MILES STETTENBENTZ, managing editor and GEORGE LYON. In 1931, she was a woman's page reporter with the Pittsburgh Press, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. In 1930 she was a reporter with the McKeesport Daily News, McKeesport, Pennsylvania. From 1926 to 1943, she was a correspondent at intervals with the Buffalo Evening News, Buffalo, New York. From 1930 to 1937, she planned, wrote and presented radio programs for women during short periods of time between these dates for radio stations WBBN, KQV, and WWSW.

She also listed employment as a trade reporter for "Modern Beauty Shop" magazine, Chicago, Illinois, over a period of ten years, and wrote publicity releases for three campaigns of joint charities in Buffalo, New York.

DAVIS's personnel file reflects that while with the O.C.I.-A.A., she served as an assistant in editing news items; rewriting of news stories, analyzing Latin American news editorials, writing news roundups as directed; interviewing domestic and Latin personalities to secure, supplement, confirm and vitalize news about war activities, serving as night editor and as editor during less active periods of the day; and assigning and editing stories to conform with the current policies of the O.C.I.-A.A. and the State Department.

Letter to the Director

January 19, 1949

At the time of her employment with the O.C.I.-A.A., she furnished the following names as references: PAUL RAMSEY, Washington Bureau, Philadelphia Inquirer, National Press Building; WILLIAM DAFRON, managing editor, Alexandria Gazette, Alexandria, Virginia; ROBER HANTHORN, Public Relations Director, New Zealand Legation; CARTER OGLE, Lauderdale Beach Hotel, Fort Lauderdale, Florida; MARGERY MARBLE, Buffalo Evening News, Buffalo, New York.

Her husband was listed as KENNETH R. DAVIS, employed at the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, U. S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C. She listed a brother-in-law, BRUCE G. DAVIS, employed as an engineer at the Panama Canal. She also listed her mother and father-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. DAVIS, Old Charming Inn, Victoria, B. C., American citizens/residing in Canada. She listed as a special skill, radio announcing, and expressed an intense interest in Latin America.

The file contained the following resident addresses: March 23, 1943, she resided at 1121 Portner Road, Alexandria, Virginia. On July 18, 1944, she indicated her address as 8008 Eastern Drive, Silver Spring, Maryland, voting residence, Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

The records of the U. S. Civil Service Commission reflect that MARIAN PARK DAVIS terminated employment with the OWI on October 5, 1945 because of a reduction in force, and that she is not presently employed by the federal government.

The current district telephone directories list a KENNETH R. DAVIS, 8008 Eastern Drive, Silver Spring, Maryland.

Re: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

Dear Sir:

There are being enclosed copies of the report of SA T. SCOTT MILLER, JR., dated January 28, 1949 in connection with the captioned matter.

Attention is called to that section of the report dealing with contacts and associates of JUDITH COPLON, and in particular, the information set out pertaining to ROBERT MARTIN WOHLFORTH, who is currently employed in the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice, New York City. It will be noted that WOHLFORTH was the individual who recommended COPLON for her position with the Department in 1943.

An investigation was made of WOHLFORTH in the case entitled "ROBERT MARTIN WOHLFORTH, aka WOHLFURTH; Antitrust Division, U. S. Department of Justice, New York, New York; LOYALTY OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES". In the reports in that case, it is noted that several individuals referred to WOHLFORTH as a person who associated with alleged Communists.

It is felt that WOHLFORTH might possibly be a very important contact of COPLON from the Bureau's point of view, because of the following circumstances:

WOHLFORTH is acquainted with ALFRED K. and MARTHA DODD STERN, subjects of a Soviet espionage case, and connected with the MOCASE group.

VALENTINE ALEKSEEVICH GUBITCHEV, the Soviet agent who apparently handles COPLON, is a patient of Dr. ROBERT SOBLE, another subject in the MOCASE group. ROBERT SOBLE is a brother and close confidant of JACK SOBLE, a known Soviet agent who succeeded VASSILI ZURILIN in directing the activities of BORIS MORROS and ALFRED K. STERN in the formation of a Soviet cover company in the United States. In addition, JACK SOBLE has stated that his brother, ROBERT SOBLE, was connected with Soviet intelligence for a number of years but has of late decreased his activity in that field.

It can be seen that there is, at least, a thread of connection between COPLON and the MOCASE group, and also, there is a slight possibility that WOHLFORTH was used, whether knowingly or not, to assist in getting COPLON a position with the Department in 1943.

It will be interesting to note whether WOHLFORTH also recommended HELEN SIEGEL for a position in connection with her application for the same type of position in the Department as COPLON shortly after the latter was given Federal employment.

Although the New York Office was the office of origin in the WOHLFORTH investigation, it is possible that the Bureau file contains information which is not in the possession of this office. It is, therefore, requested that the Bureau review its file on WOHLFORTH and furnish this office with any pertinent information relative to WOHLFORTH. Upon receipt of such information, a complete analysis of it will be made together with that in the New York file and the pertinent information reported in the next report in the captioned matter.

The Bureau's attention is directed to the fact that leads have not been set out for an active investigation of all the contacts of COPLON, in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding their relationship, such as those relating to COPLON'S contacts with GUBITCHEV and SIEGEL. It is being pointed out, however, that a number of COPLON'S contacts are in the government service, some of whom possibly are in a position to furnish her with information of interest to the Soviets. It will be noted that one of COPLON'S contacts resides in Yakima, Washington, which is very near the Hanford Engineering Works, an atomic energy installation.

The suggestion is, therefore, offered that possibly it will be desirable to conduct a limited amount of investigation on every contact, for the purpose of ascertaining the contact's employment, as well as the employment of the contact's spouse, to determine whether COPLON would thereby possibly have access to information in which the Soviets would be interested.

It is requested that the Washington Field Office submit its opinion in this matter to the Bureau.

Very truly yours,

Rebulet January 23, 1949. The records of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., were checked and reflect that HELEN SIDGEL was employed by the U. S. Department of Justice from July 12, 1943 to July 19, 1944. There is a notation in the file to the effect that the working fund of the Office of Economic Warfare was transferred to the Department of Justice. No further information concerning SIDGEL was available in these records.

The indices of the Washington Field Office reflect no information concerning this SIDGEL.

Regarding SYMOUR NAGAN, the Readers Guide Indices of the Library of Congress reflected the following articles written by him:

1. An article entitled, "Another Language; Honorable Japanese is a troublesome tongue as our Occupation Troops are finding out", appears on page 26 of the September 23, 1945, New York Times Magazine. This article is a short treatise on the Japanese language with emphasis on the Japanese practice of the functional naming of objects and persons. This same article in abbreviated form under the title, "Honorable Japanese is a Troublesome Tongue", appears on pages 87 and 88 of the December, 1945 issue of the "Science Digest".
2. An article entitled, "Bringing Down the House", with a sub-title "With Hammers and Torches the Building Wreckers are busy clearing sites for new construction", appears on page 28 of the February 3, 1946 issue of the New York Times Magazine. This is an article concerned wholly with the building wrecking trade.

Both of the above mentioned articles are of no significance to this investigation.

3. An article entitled, "Top Secret; Nazis at Work", appears on pages 24 to 26 of the August 11, 1947 issue of the "New Republic" Magazine. This article is concerned with "Operations Paperclip", in which it is stated that the German scientists brought to the United States by the Army and Navy to work on technical research in the United States are a great potential threat to the United States security, endangering the most vital defense secrets.

4. An article entitled, "I'd Like to Take it Easy", appears on pages 17 to 20, of the August 18, 1947 issue of the "New Republic". This article is a story about one WILLIAM J. COOK who after 35 years of service with the General

LUSH, a Business Man who Knows What he is Talking About", appears on pages 24 to 26 of the September 15, 1947, issue of the "New Republic". This article concerns itself with one SAMUEL B. LUSH, President of the Lush Trading Company and the Lush Cotton Products Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. It points out that the Lush Trading Company imports products from all over the world and sells them through the United Nations Bazaar in Philadelphia. It further points out that the Lush Cotton Products Company, which imports cotton waste from China, India and the Soviet Union, does more than 60% of its total business with the Russians. (The entire theme of this article is highly favorable to the Russians and disparages the Truman Doctrine and the American Foreign Policy as a threat to war.

Paul { In an addendum to the above mentioned articles appearing in the "New Republic", it is noted that SEYMOUR NAGAN was formerly on the staff of the New York Times Magazine, Fortune Magazine, and Newsweek Magazine.

Records of the indices of the Washington Field Office reflect no information concerning NAGAN.

The New York Office will, if deemed advisable, discreetly contact the offices of the above mentioned publications and obtain and furnish to the Bureau and the Washington Field Office whatever background information is available on NAGAN.

In an effort to determine if Coplon is presently delivering documents to her Soviet Intelligence superiors, the Bureau has prepared a short summary memorandum on the Amtorg Trading Corporation on which there was placed a memorandum of transmittal to the Department in which it was stated that the Bureau is presently using as informants on a confidential basis, two highly placed officials of the Amtorg Trading Corporation. This memorandum which has been prepared from a Foreign Agents Registration angle will reach Judith Coplon's hands and it is contemplated that she will either attempt to transmit the documents for copying purposes to her contacts or in the alternative will orally pass the information concerning the two Amtorg officials. This information, is as you know, false, and has been prepared for deceptive purposes.

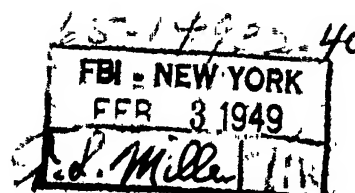

The Washington Field office, as previously advised, should be alert for the transmittal of any documents by Coplon.

The New York office should report any information which might be developed to the effect that an investigation of officials at Amtorg is undertaken by Soviet Intelligence. In connection with the recent contacts between Judith Coplon and Helen Siegel in New York City, the personnel file of Helen Siegel was obtained from the Department of Justice and reflects the following information:

Helen Siegel was born September 19, 1922 in the Bronx, New York City. Her father's name is Louis, who was also born in New York City, and her mother's maiden name was Storch and she was born in New York City. In her application, dated June 28, 1943, Helen Siegel listed an uncle, Dr. H. H. Storch, who was the head of the Physicist's Laboratory, Bureau of Mines at Pittsburgh. Helen Siegel listed the following education: PS 73, 164 Anderson Avenue, New York City - 1928 - 1935; Walton High School, 1935 - 1939; Hunter College, 695 Park Avenue, 1939 - 1942; Barnard College, 1942 - 1943. The application indicates that Miss Siegel obtained an AB degree at Barnard College. She listed her foreign language abilities as reading French and German and speaking French. She applied for the position of Research Assistant and entered on duty July 12, 1943. She indicated that she had previously taken a Civil Service examination for Junior Professional Assistant in July, 1943.

A memorandum in the file dated July 22, 1943 signed by Mr. Hugh B. Cox recommended her for a position in the Economic Warfare Section in New York City. An efficiency rating dated March 31, 1944 at New York City was made by Robert Wohlforth and rated Miss Siegel as "Very Good." She submitted her resignation on June 27, 1944 to take effect June 30, 1944. This resignation is actually noted in the Departmental files as taking effect on July 14, 1944. There was no reason noted for the resignation.

There are attached for possible assistance in further investigation of this girl in connection with this case three photographs obtained from her application for employment with the Department of Justice, for both the New York and Washington Field Offices.

In line with previous instructions issued by the Bureau, every attempt should be made to determine if this woman might be identical with the unknown subject Zora, concerning whom you have previously been furnished information.

MEMO

This Informant supplies information about SAMUEL M. COPLON and his wife, who reside at 178 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, New York. Their daughter, JUDITH COPLON, is the subject of an investigation and resides in Washington, D. C.

In view of the above, unless you are advised that JUDITH COPLON is in New York, the main thing to be on the alert for is any information concerning JUDITH COPLON'S plans to be in New York.

After you have been advised that JUDITH COPLON has arrived in New York you should particularly be on the alert for any information concerning possible meetings she intends to have while here inasmuch as she probably will not be under a constant physical surveillance and any meetings she intends to have will be covered by a spot physical surveillance if there is sufficient time to institute one. It can be seen that time will be of the essence in most instances.

Any plans that she might make to meet VALENTINE GUBITCHEV are of extreme importance and should be made available to the proper persons immediately.

(ORIGINAL OF THIS MEMORANDUM SUPPLIED TO CITEC TO BE USED IN CONNECTION WITH THE OPERATION OF CAPTIONED TECHNICAL SURVEILLANCE).

JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

Dear Sir:

Reference Bureau letter February 2, 1949, concerning the current investigation of JUDITH COPLON.

It is pointed out that the technique being used in the above investigation might, at least temporarily, affect the ability of this office to use Confidential Informant []. The possibility exists that the information mentioned in the referenced letter might already have been transmitted to AMTORG or official Russian circles in New York. If this has been done it is believed that it would cause the Russians to take security measures that would focus attention on [] particularly since it might be expected that he would come under suspicion as the only [] at night. In their expected attempts to identify the two alleged Russian officials the AMTORG people might resort to [] and the two participating agents.

In view of the above, therefore, the agents who deal with [] will make only the most circumspect contacts with him and will undertake no highly confidential operations at AMTORG for such period of time as deemed by the Bureau and the New York Office to be adequate for security.

The New York Office would appreciate the comments of the Bureau in this matter inasmuch as [] of the investigation of the AMTORG case.

Very truly yours,

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

Re report of Special Agent SCOTT MILLER, dated January 26, 1949, at New York, New York in this matter, which on page 22 calls attention to the fact that the entry in COPLON's diary for February 18, 1949, "Get tickets for show" may mean that she is scheduled to meet GUBITCHEV on this date.

Confidential Informant [] had advised that the subject in a conversation with PAULINE SLAVIN, Cornish Alms, 311 West 23rd Street, telephone Chelsea 3-7400, extension 626, stated that she would be in New York on the 18th and thought that she would be free that evening after nine but would have to go home early. The subject stated that she would not be in New York before 5:00 P. M. She first suggested that PAULINE call her at home, GE 8-1048, but then said "I've just been thinking it over, I don't think I want my mother to know that I'll be in and not go right home". During the conversation, PAULINE said, "Listen, you know I have that book for you - I've had it ever since". COPLON replied, "That's okay, I have the thing for you". No definite arrangements between COPLON and SLAVIN were arrived at and it was agreed that if COPLON did not hear from SLAVIN by mail, the former will know that SLAVIN just couldn't arrange anything for that Friday. COPLON also mentioned that she intended seeing her "two married friends in Flushing" on Saturday, February 19, 1949. b7D

Informant further advised that subject informed LORRAINE SINDERBRAND that she was going to New York on February 18th. SINDERBRAND then told COPLON that her sister SOPHIE PEARLBERG, nee ELKINS, in New York wants to introduce COPLON to a young man. LORRAINE described this man as a French Jew, short and rather bald, whose father is a multi-millionaire in the steel industry in Paris, France. The man's name was given as LUZAR (phonetic) and COPLON stated that she would plan on seeing LUZAR on Sunday night, February 20th. LORRAINE then said that LUZAR had a sister who married an American and is living in Pittsburgh. She said that LUZAR was planning to visit her and that it might be on the weekend of the 18th. According to LORRAINE, LUZAR is engaged in the junk business in the United States. Mrs. SOPHIE PEARLBERG is believed to be the wife of EVERETT PEARLBERG.

Re: JUDITH COPLON

Another confidential informant had advised that COPLON indicated that she intends, while in New York over the weekend of February 18th to 20th, 1949, calling a man who has stated that he has something for her. The identity of this individual is not known but it may possibly have been MORTON POMERANTZ, 1633 - 51st Street, Brooklyn, New York, although the informant stated that the name sounded like "MORTON", "MORRIE", or "MORTIE KERVITZ". The individual in question was in Washington, D. C. on January 27, 1949, at which time COPLON contacted a number of persons concerning a job for him, apparently without success.

COPLON has also advised her mother and others that she intends being in New York on February 18th, 1949.

MEMO

February 15, 1949

I further inquired whether the Bureau was making up a plan of action in case COPLON came to New York; that we did not want to get caught short the last minute trying to make up our minds what should be done in the event of a meet. I pointed out she might meet GUBICHEV's secretary or someone else and there were many different situations that might arise. I pointed out we did not know exactly what plans had been made between the Department and the Bureau. Mr. Fletcher advised that he would discuss this with Mr. Ladd, but that insofar as he knew, no pickup was being contemplated for any meeting this coming Friday night.

Re: JUDITH COPLON;
ESPIONAGE - R

Information has been received that JUDITH COPLON will arrive in New York City on February 18, 1949, and further, it is believed that she will contact VALENTINE GUBITCHEV much in the same manner that she did on January 14, 1949.

The following personnel in the New York Office have been assigned to work on the physical surveillance and related investigations on the above-mentioned date:

Roger W. Robinson
Richard T. Hradsky
Richard E. Brennan
John F. Malley
Daniel F. Garde - X
T. Scott Miller
Thomas J. McAndrews

Robert J. Wirth 1226
J. Harold Glascock 771
Irene Maloney 7112
Sappho Manos

EQUIPMENT TO BE USED

Portable Leica set up for document shots.
Chamfering equipment.
Lock tools.
Two F.M. radio cars.
Master key to steel lockers in Pennsylvania Station.
Office space for setting up photographic equipment.

TSM:MFH

Memo
NY 65-14932

PRELIMINARY ASSIGNMENTS

Special Agent Robert J. Wirth has made the necessary arrangements for the obtaining of the master key, as well as the office space in the offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad for setting up the photographic equipment.

Robert J. Wirth, Raymond P. Wirth and J. Harold Glascock will have the responsibility of getting all the photographic, chamfering and lock equipment as well as one of the two radio cars. These agents will take the equipment to the Pennsylvania Railroad Police Office, Pennsylvania Station, and there set up the equipment. They will also take Irene Maloney and Sappho Manos to Pennsylvania Station, who will subsequently meet the writer at the incoming train bulletin at a time to be designated later. The two-way radio car will be parked somewhere in the immediate vicinity of Pennsylvania Station, Glascock retaining possession of the key. This car is to be used in the event the subsequent meeting between COPLON and GUBITCHEV takes place in midtown Manhattan and a car is needed.

Malley will obtain the second radio car and proceed to the 191st Street stop of the Broadway IRT subway at a time that will be set depending upon COPLON's hour of arrival. He will park the car near the exit of the subway and remain there with the radio on, awaiting COPLON's appearance, for further instructions by radio. It is expected that this car will be utilized on the surveillance in the event the meet takes place in upper Manhattan.

The remainder of the agents will meet the writer at the incoming train bulletin at a time which will be set dependent upon when COPLON is scheduled to arrive.

SURVEILLANCE OF COPLON IN PENNSYLVANIA STATION

It will be the responsibility of the following men to take over the surveillance of COPLON from Washington Field agents upon the train's arrival:

Roger W. Robinson
Richard E. Brennan
Richard T. Hradsky
Thomas J. McAndrews
Martin F. Carey
Daniel F. Garde
T. Scott Miller
Robert J. Wirth

Memo
NY 65-14932

Miss Manos will accompany the agents on the train platform.

Miss Maloney will remain near the entrance to the ladies room on the upper level of Pennsylvania Station, awaiting COPLON's arrival there.

If COPLON enters the ladies room, it will be the responsibility of Miss Maloney to determine her activities there and be on the alert for any contact she might make. In the event a suspicious contact is made, it will be Miss Maloney's responsibility to make sure the agents are made known her identity so that she can be identified. In that event the surveillance personnel will have to be divided, such division being made at that time.

While COPLON is in the ladies room, Brennan and Carey will take up a position near the exit from the ladies room on the lower level of Pennsylvania Station. If COPLON uses that exit, Miss Maloney should immediately inform the agents on the main level of this fact so they can join Brennan and Carey. In the event all the surveillance agents are on COPLON when she leaves the ladies room, Carey will immediately contact Glascock, obtain the key to the two-way car parked outside of Pennsylvania Station, and remain in contact with the office radio for possible instructions to join the surveillance if needed.

After COPLON leaves the ladies room, Miss Maloney should keep in touch with Glascock to see if there is any chamfering work to be done.

Miss Manos will accompany the surveillance of COPLON until after the meet with GUBITCHEV has been made.

SEARCH OF COPLON'S BAG

Robert J. Wirth will remain on the surveillance of COPLON until she leaves Pennsylvania Station. If she has checked her bag in one of the steel lockers the surveilling agents who observe this should make sure that Wirth is aware of the exact number and location of the lock. When Wirth observes COPLON leave Pennsylvania Station by cab or subway, he should immediately inform Glascock and R. P. Wirth so that the bag can be immediately obtained and taken to the Pennsylvania Railroad Police Office for a search.

In the event of an emergency, Glascock can always be reached on the Police private line, PENNSYLVANIA 6-7275. Every agent should have this number immediately available while on surveillance inasmuch as on Friday nights it is very difficult to get through the Pennsylvania Station switchboard.

Memo

If the search of COPLON's bag reveals that it contains material which is obviously for delivery to the Soviets, this fact should immediately be made known to ASAC Belmont or Supervisor Granville at the office for further instructions. If the decision is made that the bag should be placed back in the locker with the material, it is suggested that the two WIRTHs maintain a surveillance on the locker.

PHYSICAL SURVEILLANCE AFTER LEAVING PENN. STATION

After COPLON leaves Pennsylvania Station the surveillance will be continued by the above-mentioned agent personnel and Miss Manos. It should be pointed out that when COPLON reaches a point where she is obviously waiting for someone, the utmost caution should be exercised by all agents still on the surveillance to guard against GUBITCHEV making the surveillance prior to his contacting COPLON. In the event COPLON goes to some place other than the 191st Street stop of the IRT Broadway subway, one of the agents still on the surveillance should, if the opportunity presents itself, immediately contact Mr. Belmont or Mr. Granville at the office, and request that one of the surveillance cars be dispatched to assist the surveillance.

Once the meet is made between GUBITCHEV and COPLON, the surveillance will be continued and in the event they again go into a restaurant or bar, it will be the responsibility of McAndrews or Robinson, whichever is still on the surveillance, to accompany Miss Manos in the establishment almost immediately after COPLON and GUBITCHEV enter, so it can be determined whether anything is physically passed between the latter. When COPLON and GUBITCHEV leave the restaurant, no attempt should be made by McAndrews or Miss Manos to continue the surveillance.

The physical surveillance will then be continued until GUBITCHEV and COPLON separate, at which time the surveillance will be discontinued on both.

Following the discontinuance of the surveillance, the surveilling agents should notify the radio room at the office of the fact that the surveillance has been discontinued, and should request the radio room to advise the radio cars to proceed to the vicinity of 680 Park Avenue; there to maintain a spot surveillance in an effort to determine whether GUBITCHEV appears at 680 Park Avenue and enters the building.

It is realized many things can happen on a physical surveillance which will alter the above plan. However, it is felt that if all those participating in the instant operation are aware of the purpose, it will be much easier to continue in operation with a skeleton surveilling force necessitated by unforeseen developments.

Memo

The above procedure will be discussed at a conference on Friday, February 18, 1949, at 10:30 A.M. in Mr. Granville's office. All personnel assigned to this investigation must attend this conference.

A copy of this memorandum is being charged out to all interested personnel and it is requested that they become familiar with the contents thereof. These copies should be returned at the end of the above-mentioned conference.

JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

In view of the fact that Judith Coplon's present position gives her access to numerous FBI reports of a confidential nature as well as access to other restricted material, it will be necessary to bring this case to a conclusion at an early date. It is contemplated that following her trip to New York City on February 18, 1949, for the week end, consideration will be given to interviewing her at an early date. While such an interview will be aimed at gaining her cooperation in acting as a double agent, there is, of course, a strong likelihood that the interview will not be successful in this and that the espionage activities of Coplon and Gubitchev will cease. The activities of other persons active in the network, not known to us, will also probably cease at least temporarily. In order that we may be in as good a position as possible at the time of the interview, it is imperative that all possible investigative leads be completed by the date of interview. This means that our investigative coverage of the following leads must be expedited:

1. We must determine, in so far as is possible, the extent and nature of the espionage activities being engaged in by Valentine A. Gubitchev. This necessitates that his activities from now until the interview of Coplon should be given full coverage through technical and spot physical surveillances.

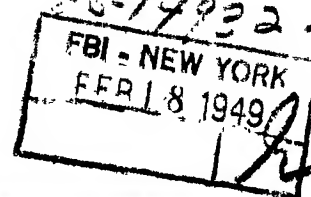

2. On February 18, 1949, both Coplon and Gubitchev should be under physical surveillances in order that we may have coverage of any meeting which takes place between the two persons. The physical surveillances should be extremely discreet in nature and it may be necessary to drop the surveillances for security reasons following the meeting.

3. We should determine additional background information concerning Seymour Nagan and check his activities by spot surveillances to determine if he is the espionage contact between Coplon and her Soviet principles.

4. We should determine background information concerning other contacts of Coplon in an effort to determine which of her contacts and associates may also be engaged in Soviet espionage activities.

5. We should determine the nature of the present activities being engaged in by Marion Davis who has been tentatively identified as the Marion Davis who was employed by the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs. The investigation of her in New York City should be expedited.

✓ CC - New York

6. We should continue to make every effort to identify the unknown subject Zora who recruited Coplon as a Soviet agent.

In addition to the foregoing, it is contemplated that if the interview with Coplon, when conducted, is unsuccessful in developing her as a double agent, the various contacts and associates of Coplon will be interviewed in an effort to determine the nature of their association with her. You should keep the Bureau fully advised of all developments in this matter as they occur.

ReWFOtel dated February 15, 1949 to the Bureau and New York Office requesting New York to interview Mr. W. VAN ALLEN and Miss JEAN WALICKI, employees of the New York Office of the Department of Justice.

At noon today, Mr. LEROY McCAULEY, Special Assistant to the Attorney General and Administrative Officer of the Anti-Trust Division, Department of Justice, advised the writer that he had just received a letter dated February 15, 1949, from Mr. W. VAN ALLEN, formerly in charge of the personnel in the Anti-Trust Division, U. S. Department of Justice, 30 Broad Street, New York City, in which after mentioning a previous telephone conversation with Mr. McCAULEY, he stated that JEAN WALICKI had recently become friendly with the left-wing group in the New York Office. In this letter, VAN ALLEN expressed the opinion that "anyone who hires a gang of commies and party followers must have similar leanings himself. An examination of the personnel which stacked at least 50% of the New York Office of the War Division will emphasize this point". It is believed that Mr. VAN ALLEN is referring to ROBERT WOHLFORTH as having hired these individuals.

VAN ALLEN also advised of having been interviewed in 1946 by an FBI agent concerning JUDITH COPLON. He expressed concern over the fact that Miss WALICKI had referred the agent to him rather than to ROBERT WOHLFORTH and expressed the possibility that WOHLFORTH and WALICKI had arranged it that way in order for WOHLFORTH to learn through his Washington contacts what he, VAN ALLEN, had to say about JUDITH COPLON.

Mr. McCAULEY explained that in his telephone conversation with VAN ALLEN, various employees of the New York Office of the Department of Justice were discussed and that JUDITH COPLON's name was mentioned. Mr. McCAULEY questioned VAN ALLEN as to whether he would be willing to furnish information to a Special Agent of the FBI concerning any of these individuals. He replied that he would be glad to furnish any information that he could. In this connection, however, VAN ALLEN requested that if an FBI agent interviewed him he, the agent, first mention Mr. McCAULEY's name to him.

It was ascertained that the New York Office had not as yet conducted interviews with VAN ALLEN and WALICKI and that office was telephonically advised not to conduct such interviews unless further instructions were received.

Unless advised to the contrary, it is desired that Mr. W. VAN ALLEN be interviewed at his residence, 11403-09 Holly Avenue, Flushing, Long Island, as he has advised Mr. McCAULEY that if an FBI agent interviewed him at his office it would be detrimental to his position among his fellow employees. The lead to interview Miss JEAN WALICKI should be disregarded and she should not be interviewed.

At 10:25 pm on February 18, 1949, I called Night Supervisor Sandall at the Bureau to advise him of the developments concerning the meet between COPLON and GUBITCHEV as follows:

COPLON's train was 35 minutes late and arrived at Pennsylvania Station at 6:35 pm, thus putting COPLON under pressure of time to make the meet at 7:00 pm. She was first off the train and in such a hurry that she broke her heel strap. She checked her suitcase at a locker in Penn Station and immediately took the 8th Avenue express at 6:40 pm. Surveilling agents noted on the subway that when she was adjusting her purse there were one or two sheets of onion skin paper with typewriting in the upper pocket of the purse where it could be reached easily. She arrived at the 190th Street stop and took the wrong way out of the subway as a result of which she became lost in the park. This was 7:10 pm. She went back through the subway entrance and got to Broadway, walked up Broadway to 193 Street and stood on the corner of 193 Street and Broadway for about six minutes. This is the spot where the meet took place on January 14. She walked around the vicinity and went into a shoe store between 192nd and 193rd Streets where she had her shoe strap repaired. She entered the store at 7:19 pm and came out at 7:29 pm. She walked around the area and then proceeded east on 193rd Street where the surveillance was lost on the darkened street.

Surveillances had been placed on the home and office of GUBITCHEV but he was not noted to have come out. An agent in a Bureau car covering 193rd Street and Broadway spotted GUBITCHEV at 7:05 pm walking north on Broadway just above 193 Street where he crossed and took a southbound bus on Broadway at 7:08 pm. The surveillance was picked up on the bus. GUBITCHEV got off at 166 Street and Broadway and walked north two blocks to 168th Street. He left the bus at 7:25 pm. At 168th Street, he maneuvered on the subway elevators to shake a surveillance and it was necessary to drop the surveillance at 7:35 pm.

Inasmuch as the meet had not been made, the original spot of the meet was again covered and at 8:00 pm, COPLON was observed at 192 Street and Broadway on the west side of the street. She started crossing Broadway diagonally, walking north, and when half way across the street, GUBITCHEV was spotted walking north on the east side of Broadway. When she reached the other side of the street, she was checking into her purse. GUBITCHEV drew up along side of her and leaned over and said something to her and reached out his hand in front of her. The agents could not see anything actually passed because they were behind the two subjects, but it was entirely possible that she gave GUBITCHEV something. The two subjects walked together for not more than 10 seconds at 8:02 pm. She continued north on Broadway, while he stopped and checked her, apparently for any surveillance. It was not possible to surveill her. GUBITCHEV crossed the street and caught the 8th Avenue subway. He was placed under surveillance. He went to 125 Street and took a cab to 110th Street and Broadway. He went into a store and made purchases of food and then walked home to 64 West 108 Street, where he arrived at 8:45 pm.

After COPLON checked her bag at Penn Station, the bag was examined and found to contain a Civil Service Prospectus and a blank application form for Intelligence Specialist. There were two rolls of developed film, most of which pertained to a small child. Mr. Sandall was advised we had expected this film from previous conversation between COPLON and her mother. There was one page torn out of a magazine section of a newspaper regarding book reviews. The rest of the items appeared to be of a personal nature.

COPLON arrived back at Penn Station at 9:00 pm, picked up her bag and was surveilled to the 8th Avenue A express at 34 Street and 8th Avenue. She was surveilled on the subway to High Street, Brooklyn Bridge, where she was dropped at 9:24 pm as she appeared to be going home to her residence at 178 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn. NYT 512 placed her at her home at 10:00 pm.

I spoke to Mr. H. B. Fletcher of the Bureau on February 18 regarding Bureau letter dated February 16, reflecting action to be taken in instant case, with particular reference to what we believed to be a scheduled meet this evening between COPLON and GUBITCHEV. Mr. Fletcher was advised that the Bureau's instructions that GUBITCHEV should be kept under surveillance prior to the meet were instructions that necessarily must be handled with discretion because our past experience with GUBITCHEV has reflected that he is constantly checking for a surveillance and the worst thing we could do would be to burn him before the contemplated meeting with COPLON. I advised Mr. Fletcher we would, of course, do our best in this respect insofar as it could be done discreetly, but if GUBITCHEV starts to double back and otherwise check for a surveillance, we were going to drop it rather than run the chance of being made.

Relative to COPLON, we are, of course, going to keep her under surveillance and we contemplate checking her activities over the weekend through spot checks and information furnished by our technical. We believe we can ascertain her activities and the persons she meets in this manner without running the risk of detection which would be present if we attempted to keep a full time surveillance on her.

On February 17, 1949, Supervisor Delavigne of the Washington Field Office called and made reference to Washington Field teletype of February 15th and wanted to know if we had interviewed VAN ALLEN and WALICKI. I advised him that we had not and that we doubted the advisability of interviewing WALICKI because of her close association with WOHLFORTH.

Mr. Delavigne said that the WFO had just received information from Mr. LEROY McCAULEY, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, and that they were sending a letter to this office February 17th, pointing out the details of the information furnished by McCAULEY. Previously McCAULEY pointed out that JEAN WALICKI recently became friendly with a left-wing group in the Department of Justice in New York and it appeared highly undesirable that she be interviewed and requested that we do not conduct one.

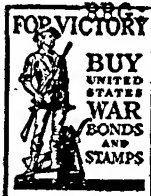

Mr. Delavigne advised that no further instructions would be sent to this office relative to the advisability of interviewing VAN ALLEN.

On February 18th at 11:10 A.M., Mr. Delavigne called to advise that Washington Field was in receipt of Bureau letter dated February 16th wherein it was instructed that COPLON and GUBITCHEV be placed under physical surveillance prior to their meet and that this surveillance should be discreet. He reiterated other material in the Bureau letter of February 16th, a copy of which this office had received. He advised that COPLON would depart Washington on the 1:00 or 2:00 P.M. train and had mentioned that she had a dinner engagement at 7:00 P.M. She was accompanied by SAs Tom Mendenhall and Carl Bucholz of the WFO.

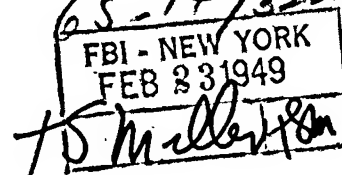

COPLON had mailed a photographic album to KATHERINE LESSER, 144-35 76th Avenue, Flushing.

JUDITH COPLON, ESPIONAGE R. WILLIAM VAN ALLEN, OF THE ANTITRUST DIVISION, NEW YORK CITY, ADVISED TODAY THAT THE ECONOMIC WARFARE SECTION OF THE WAR DIVISION OF THE DEPARTMENT IN NEW YORK CITY CLOSED ITS OFFICE IN NEW YORK CITY JUNE THIRTY, FORTYFIVE. HE FURTHER ADVISED THAT FOR SOME TIME PRIOR TO THE ACTUAL CLOSING IT WAS MORE OR LESS KNOWN IN THE OFFICE THAT SUCH WOULD HAPPEN BECAUSE OF DIFFICULTY IN OBTAINING SUFFICIENT FUNDS. HE FURTHER SAID THAT THIS WAS KNOWN PRIOR TO JANUARY ONE, FORTYFIVE. HE FURTHER STATED THAT IT WAS KNOWN SOME TIME IN ADVANCE THAT ONLY PART OF THE EMPLOYEES COULD BE RETAINED. THIS WOULD BE A FURTHER INDICATION THAT ZORA WAS WORKING IN THE ECONOMIC WARFARE SECTION AT THE SAME TIME AS COPLON. VAN ALLEN ADVISED THAT THE FEMALE EMPLOYEES IN THE OFFICE WHO SHARED COPLON'S POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY AND WERE CLOSER TO HER THAN THE OTHER EMPLOYEES IN THE OFFICE WERE ELSIE FRIEMUS, HELEN SIEGEL, SHIRLEY ARONOW, MRS. BEATRICE WALFISH, AND VIRGINIA M. MARINO. VAN ALLEN WILL MAKE AVAILABLE THE PERSONNEL FILES OF ALL EMPLOYEES, ECONOMIC WARFARE SECTION, ON A CONFIDENTIAL BASIS BUT THIS WILL TAKE AT LEAST ONE WEEK. HE FURTHER STATED THAT ROBERT WOHLFORTH AND HAROLD CARTER, OF THE NEW YORK OFFICE OF THE ECONOMIC WARFARE SECTION, AS WELL AS SIMS CARTER, BROTHER OF HAROLD, AN EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT IN THE WAR DIVISION OF THE DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, WERE INSTRUMENTAL IN COPLON'S TRANSFER TO WASHINGTON, D.C., WHICH WAS A PROMOTION AS WELL AS A TRANSFER. JUDITH COPLON; ESPIONAGE R. REMYTEL MARCH ONE, SETTING OUT RESULTS OF INTERVIEW WITH VAN ALLEN. REVIEW OF EMPLOYEES' ECONOMIC WARFARE SECTION, NYC, INDICATES FIVE FEMALE EMPLOYEES EMPLOYED THERE, WHO WERE MEMBERS OF BARNARD COLLEGE GRADUATING CLASS, JUNE FORTYTHREE. THESE EMPLOYEES WERE JUDITH COPLON, ELSIE FRIEMUS, HELEN SIEGEL, SHIRLEY GLADYS ARONOW, AND MRS. BEATRICE K. WALFISH, NEE KAPLAN. ALL FIVE OF THESE GIRLS WERE STRONGLY RECOMMENDED FOR EMPLOYMENT BY ROBERT WOHLFORTH. EXAMINATION MADE OF PERSONNEL FILES MAINTAINED BY ECONOMIC WARFARE SECTION ON COPLON, ARONOW, SIEGEL AND FRIEMUS. NO ADDITIONAL INFORMATION OBTAINED RE COPLON WHICH IS NOT ALREADY IN POSSESSION OF BUREAU. WITH REFERENCE TO HELEN SIEGEL, ONLY ADDITIONAL INFORMATION OBTAINED FROM FILE WAS THAT SHE APPLIED FOR A POSITION WITH THE ANTITRUST DIVISION OF THE DEPARTMENT AROUND APRIL FORTYEIGHT. MEMORANDUM IN SIEGEL'S FILE DATED APRIL EIGHT, FORTY EIGHT, FROM GUY R. HILL, DEPT OF JUSTICE TO J. FRANCIS HAYDEN, DEPT OF JUSTICE, NYC, REFERS TO POSSIBLE EMPLOYMENT OF SIEGEL FOR "ECONOMIC RESEARCH IN CONNECTION WITH THE INVESTMENT BANK CASE". HILL DISCOURAGED SUCH EMPLOYMENT OF SIEGEL, STATING THAT BECAUSE SHE HAD BEEN TRAINED IN LAW, IT WOULD BE INADVISABLE TO HIRE HER FOR A POSITION WHERE SHE WOULD BE UNDER SUPERVISION OF AN ECONOMIST. THE RECORDS OF THE PLACEMENT SERVICE AT BARNARD COLLEGE REFLECT THAT AFTER LEAVING THE DEPT OF JUSTICE, SIEGEL WORKED FROM SEPTEMBER FORTYFOUR TO ABOUT AUGUST FORTYFIVE AS A REPORTER FOR THE NEWARK STAR LEDGER AND FROM

REVIEW OF HER PERSONNEL FILE, EWS, DISCLOSES IN ADDITION TO INFORMATION ALREADY SUPPLIED THAT SHE WAS EMPLOYED BY THE EWS FROM JUNE SIXTEEN FORTYTHREE TO APRIL FIFTEEN FORTYSIX WHEN HER EMPLOYMENT WAS TERMINATED DUE TO A REDUCTION IN FORCE. A LETTER IN HER FILE FROM ROBERT WOHLFORTH TO THE UNITED NATIONS, LAKE SUCCESS, NY, DATED SEPTEMBER ELEVEN FORTYSIX SETS FORTH A BRIEF HISTORY OF ARONOW'S EMPLOYMENT WITH THE EWS AND RECOMMENDS HER FOR AN UNNAMED POSITION WITH THE UN. Reference is made to the report of Special Agent T. Scott Miller dated January 28, 1949, at New York City, in which numerous contacts of Coplon were listed as reflected by her address book. The Bureau's files contain information regarding a number of these persons as listed below:

Hannah Annes, Do. 9827

The name of a Mrs. Annes of Massachusetts is included on a list of members of the Morning Freiheit Association, Inc., for 1946 and 1947, which list was made available by Confidential Informant ND-426 on February 11, 1948.

Perry Mae Barnes, 501 23d Street, N. W., Dl. 5513

The March, 1948, Washington, D. C. Telephone Directory does not list the telephone number Dl. 5513 to anyone with the surname of Barnes. An inquiry of the Information Service of the Telephone Company revealed that no telephone number was listed to the address of 501 23d Street, N. W.

However, it is known through Confidential Informant [] that on February 3, 1949, Judith Coplon indicated she had been in touch with Perry Mae on the previous evening and was to go to her house on the following day. This individual is probably Perry Mae Barnes.

b7D

Claude Beaulieu, 3679 Laval Avenue, Montreal, Canada

There are no identifiable references to this individual in Bureau files.

Henry Becker, Alban Towers, Washington, D. C.

An inquiry of the Information Service of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company revealed that A. Harry Becker, telephone Woodley 2609, is listed as residing in the Alban Towers Apartment Building, 3700 Massachusetts Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. The Washington City Directory lists A. Harry Becker as an attorney for the Federal Communications Commission.

On August 7, 1942, the Bureau received a letter from the Federal Communications Commission regarding an individual who was conducting a weekly German-language radio program over Station WTRC of Elkhart, Indiana.

FBI - NEW YORK
MAR 3 1949
Dir

The Bureau was advised by this letter that the Federal Communication Commission's investigative attorney working out of Chicago would be available in the event the Bureau desired his assistance. His name was given as A. Harry Becker, 110 South Dearborne Street, Chicago, Illinois.

On November 21, 1942, a Mr. A. Harry Becker, who was the regional attorney investigator of the Federal Communications Commission operating out of Chicago, Illinois, appeared at the Cleveland Office and requested information from the Bureau's files concerning numerous individuals. He was referred to the Seat of Government.

A highly confidential and reliable source advised on April 10, 1947, that Mary Jane Keeney called the Federal Communications Commission for Harriet Simons, who was not in her office but was in Harry Becker's office where Mary Jane reached her.

Information obtained from ledger cards of the National Headquarters of the National Lawyers Guild by a highly confidential source disclosed that one A. Harry Becker, 1808 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., resigned from that organization on April 25, 1939.

There are also references in the Bureau's files concerning one Harry Becker, president of the Group Health Association of Washington, D. C. It is not believed that this individual is identical with the person named in Judith Coplen's address book.

Sarah Becker, 705 18th Street, N. W., Executive 4700, Extension 310

The telephone number Executive 4700 is listed in the March, 1948, Washington D. C. Telephone Directory to the McReynolds Apartments, 705 18th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. This is identical with the address in Miss Coplen's address book.

A Sara Becker applied for a position in the Department of Justice on December 12, 1942, and was investigated by the Bureau as a Departmental Applicant. This individual was born April 29, 1911, at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and attended the University of Wisconsin from September, 1928, to June, 1935, receiving a PhD degree. She was employed by the Wisconsin Citizens Welfare Committee as a clerk from June to July, 1936, and at the Wisconsin Historic Records Survey as assistant supervisor on a WPA project from July, 1936 to July, 1942.

Confidential Informant [] has indicated that Judith Coplon is acquainted with Sarah and Sylvia Becker, Apartment 210, 705 18th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. It is to be noted that the Departmental Applicant case reflected that Sara Becker, in her Department of Justice application, set forth that she had a sister, Miss Sylvia Becker, who was a teacher in the Milwaukee public schools in 1942. In that connection, an investigation by the Milwaukee Office set forth that Milwaukee Confidential Informant M-56 advised on August 18, 1942, that Mary Leigh Phillips had been selling copies of the "Soviet Power" and at the same time had been working for the Russian War Relief. Josephine E. Nordstrand advised Miss Phillips to contact one Fred Brots in connection with German youths and Sylvia Becker and Morris Lazarus as Jewish contacts.

Dr. Herman Bernstein, 5430 Connecticut Avenue, Wc. 5045

The Washington D. C. Telephone Directory for March, 1948, lists Dr. Herman F. Bernstein, dentist, as having his business address at 5430 Connecticut Avenue, N. W., telephone Wc. 5045, and residing at Sedgewick Gardens, telephone Emerson 0642. In an investigation regarding a Mrs. Lottie Reeves, suspected of having German sympathies, it was reported in 1941 that Dr. Herman Bernstein, of the same address as listed above, had corresponded with Mrs. Reeves. At that time the following information was developed regarding Dr. Bernstein:

The files of Stone's Mercantile Agency contained no information concerning him. Dr. Hertford of the District Dental Society stated that he was personally acquainted with Dr. Bernstein and that Bernstein had always impressed him as being quite an unassuming person who never commented upon the political situation and who had no interest in European politics. He stated that to his knowledge Bernstein was not a member of any political group and had never made any comments indicating un-American tendencies. A mail cover placed on Dr. Bernstein's address failed to reflect any significant material.

Ruth Blaustein, 4408 First Place, N. W., Apartment 22, Ra. 7936

A telephonic inquiry of the Information Service of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company reflected that a Mrs. Ruth N. Blaustein resided at 4408 First Place, N. W., Washington, D. C., telephone Ra. 7936. In August, 1941, Miss Ruth Nearnsberg filed an application for a position as junior stenographer with the Department of Justice. She was born June 19, 1919, at Baltimore, Maryland, the daughter of Samuel Nearenberg, born in Poland, and Sarah Honich, deceased, born in Russia. She was married to Melvin Blaustein in August, 1941, shortly after her application for a position with the Department of Justice. This woman was still employed by the Department of Justice on September 12, 1947, on which date the Department of Justice submitted a Loyalty Form concerning her. There is no disloyalty information regarding her in the Bureau's files.

David Bookstaver, 3363 B South Wakefield, Fairlington, Virginia

The March, 1948, Washington, D. C. Telephone Directory lists David R. Bookstaver at 3363 B South Wakefield, Fairlington, Virginia. He is listed as an attorney with offices at 1028 Connecticut Avenue, N. W., telephone Executive 5525. This individual, from 1929 to 1934, was employed as associate attorney by the law firm of Mitchell, Taylor, Tapron and Marsh, 20 Exchange Place, New York City. From 1934 to 1938 he practiced law in East Hampton, New York, and from 1938 to 1942, he was a partner in the firm of Stephens and Bookstaver in East Hampton, New York. In 1942 he was employed in the Transportation Services Section of the OPA, which position he maintained until March 10, 1945, the date of his application for a position with the Department of Justice in the Foreign Agents Registration Section. The Bureau's files fail to reflect any disloyalty data concerning him.

Maurice Borst, 73 Warrington Crescent Haida Vale, London, W9.

There are no identifiable references to this individual in the Bureau's files.

Bea Braude, Paris, Dinard 29 Rue Casette

In addition to the information set forth in the referenced report concerning this individual, it is to be noted that she has been the subject of a Loyalty Investigation based upon her contacts with Mary Jane Keeney. She was employed by the Office of Strategic Services and the State Department in Washington, D. C., from September, 1943, until January 20, 1948, when she was assigned to Paris, France, as a research analyst in the Foreign Service Branch of the State Department. In addition to the contacts with Mary Jane Keeney, her name appeared, according to Confidential Informant C-332, in a list of names of members of the Washington Book Shop in September, 1944, whose dues were delinquent. The Bureau has been advised by the chairman of the Loyalty Review Board of the U. S. Civil Service Commission that Bea Braude has been retained in her position as a research analyst of the Department of State.

9 Sonia Cohen, 3714 Woodley Road, N. W., Or. 4604

The address and telephone number as listed above have been verified by checking the March, 1948, Telephone Directory for Washington, D. C. There are no references in the Bureau files which can be definitely identified with this individual.

9 Mrs. Russell Cole, 851 South Windemere, Littleton, Colorado

There are no identifiable references to this individual in the Bureau's files.

9 Alfred Coplon, 17-01 Park Lane, South Que Gardens, Vi. 7-4117

In addition to the information set forth in the referenced report regarding this individual, the Bureau's files reflect that an individual named Alfred M. Coplon was among those who signed a joint postal telegram from New York and Philadelphia dated January 24, 1941, which was a protest concerning the Sam Darcy case at San Francisco, California.

9 Ann Coplon, 547 Park Avenue, Albany, New York, Al-2-9425

The Albany Office, by letter dated February 3, 1949, stated that the City Directories of Albany from 1939 through 1948 reflect that this individual's name is Anne Coplon and she has resided at 547 Park Avenue, Albany, New York, at least since 1939. The Directory reflects she is presently employed as a stenographer for the New York State Executive Department of the Alcohol Beverage Commission, Albany, New York. She took a New York State Civil Service examination in July of 1944, which reflected she was born February 22, 1902, at New York City, and had resided in Albany for 42 years. There were no identifiable references to this individual in either the Albany or Bureau files.

Max Coplon, 6036 25th Avenue, Kenosha, Wisconsin

A letter from the Milwaukee Office dated January 31, 1949, verified the above address through a check of the current Kenosha, Wisconsin, telephone directory. The name of Max Coplon was checked against the indices of the Milwaukee Office and the Bureau with negative results.

Ismere M. Croutsicos, 1461 Girard, N. Y.

The Bureau files fail to reflect any identifiable information regarding the above individual.

Developex, P. O. Box 146, Madison Square Station, New York 9, New York

Al Hudson, 3230 N Street, N. W., Apartment 2, Ad. 4322

The Information Service of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company advised that Alfred E. Hudson resides in the apartment house at 3230 N Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., telephone Ad. 4322. This individual is identical with Alfred Emmons Hudson, who in July, 1947, filed a Personal History Statement with the Central Intelligence Agency. He was born February 14, 1904, in New York City. He attended Yale University at New Haven, Connecticut, receiving a degree in 1927. From September, 1927, through August, 1928, he traveled around the world visiting about twenty-five countries. He attended the Yale Graduate School from 1929 to 1937, at which time he received a PhD degree. During this period he was also employed by Yale University as a research fellow and instructor.

Hudson was married to Elizabeth Emaline Bacon at Hilo, Hawaii on July 18, 1931. He and his wife went to Russia in September, 1933, where they did research work in anthropology until August, 1934. They returned to Russia in October, 1935, to do more research work and stayed until November, 1936. In 1938 Hudson left the United States en route to the Middle East. He did research work there until 1940, being financed by a combined grant from Yale University, the American Council of Learned Societies, and the Social Science Research Council. From 1940 to 1942, he was employed by the University of Washington, Seattle, Washington, as a teacher and research worker. He was then employed as an associate research analyst by the Office of the Chief of Staff, G-2, Military Intelligence, Washington, D. C., which position he terminated on April 13, 1943, to accept an appointment in the U. S. Army, being discharged in September, 1946, with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He apparently served with CSS during part of this period. He was then employed by the Central Intelligence Agency, which employment he is believed to hold at the present time. Hudson has been separated from his wife since about 1945, and is believed to be divorced from her at the present time.

Confidential Informant [] of the Seattle Office advised that Elizabeth Hudson addressed a meeting of the Democratic Precinct Committee-men and Branch 350 of the Communist Party, Seattle, on October 22, 1943, on how the Russian Revolution took place and the history of Russia since that time. She denounced fascists and appeasers for painting a dark picture of Russia and stated that Russia was fighting our war. She further stated that Russia was wise to Churchill and Roosevelt and would not tolerate their interfering in the peace of Europe. b7D

Mr. Frederick B. Littlefield, owner of the Maine Wood Company in Cambridge, Massachusetts, advised in 1947 that he had been acquainted with Hudson since they were boys and at one time (at least) Hudson had held definite Communist ideas. Mr. Andrew Spaulding of Hilo, Hawaii, advised that he was acquainted with the Hudsons prior to and immediately following their marriage and Hudson had frequently expressed his approval of the Russian form of government.

until May, 1941, in Boston, Massachusetts. She was then employed by the Treasury Department as an attorney and subsequently worked as an attorney for the War Manpower Commission, the OPA, and the Department of Commerce. She was employed by the latter agency at the time of her Department of Justice application. In September, 1941, she was residing at 1820 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. In her Personal History Statement she admitted membership in the Americans for Democratic Action but the Bureau investigation of her failed to reflect any other disloyal information. A letter to the Director from the U. S. Civil Service Commission dated November 21, 1947, enclosed a list of names and identities of persons of that Commission regarded as persons whose loyalty was questionable. Information has been received from Confidential Informant of the Washington Field Office to the effect that Morris is presently employed by the State Department, having left his position in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice during the year 1948. He also stated that he has made a long study of Soviet propaganda. The investigation of Nemzer by the Bureau failed to reflect that he was a Communist but did reflect he had a number of questionable contacts among pro-Russian sympathizers, including Henry Ware, Payton Dennis Carter, and Jessie Rubin.

According to Mrs. Irma Kalman, who is presently employed by the Bureau as a translator, Nemzer was very friendly with Judith Coplon while in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice. Mrs. Kalman, who was formerly employed in that Section, stated that she suspected that Nemzer had Communist sympathies but could base this only on the fact that Nemzer had supported Tito as opposed to General Mikhailovich during World War II. Mrs. Kalman stated she believed Nemzer was presently employed at some university, which she thinks is in Ohio.

Confidential Informants [redacted] of this office have advised that the subject, SARA BECKER, presently employed by the American National Red Cross, Washington, D. C., and BERNARD S. MORRIS, employed in the International Functional Intelligence Division, Department of State, have been in contact with each other concerning an application which all three wish to file with the Civil Service Commission for positions with the Central Intelligence Agency.

Informant advised that in a conversation with MORRIS, the subject discussed the advisability of disclosing confidential information on an application form, and stated that she didn't want anyone in her office to see this application. She then stated that the only person that she would really want to go to would be "R. P. W.". It is noted that the informant may have misunderstood the middle initial and it is possible that COPLON was referring to ROBERT MARTIN WOHLFORTH. However, the possibility also exists that she was referring to a different individual.

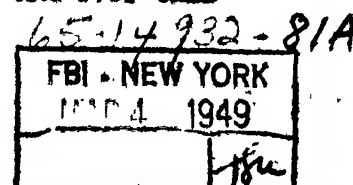

According to this informant, on March 2, 1949, COPLON was contacted by a female (BECKER ?) who inquired about filling out an application blank and who was wondering how to reply to several questions as to past work experiences. COPLON advised this individual that she was going to New York over the weekend and would call her upon her return.

Later in the day, informant advised that BERNARD MORRIS of the State Department advised COPLON, "I have given that thing to a guy to look over and he was glad to look it over". He further stated that he was waiting to get it back and that he would bring it over Friday, to which COPLON replied that she was leaving at 1:00 P. M. Friday for New York and returning early Sunday. MORRIS then said that if this "guy" drafted it he could type it in. COPLON then informed him that it had to be in the 15th.

Today, informant advised that COPLON indicated that she wished to leave Washington at 1:00 P. M. because she desired to get to New York early as she wanted "to pick up something downtown", explaining that downtown meant around 42nd Street.

It therefore appears likely that the subject intends seeing WOHLFORTH in connection with these applications while in New York over this weekend.

HRADSKY will obtain a sound truck at the office and proceed to the intersection of 193rd Street and Broadway, where the truck will be parked in such a position that he can observe from the rear of the truck that part of the east side of Broadway which is north and south of 193rd Street. It is in this area, of course, that the two previous meetings between between COPLON and GUBITCHEV have taken place..

WIRTH and MARCELLA JUDGE, upon being advised that the meeting is taking place, will enter the Deluxe Restaurant and await the possible arrival of GUBITCHEV and COPLON. In the event GUBITCHEV and COPLON do enter the restaurant their activities should be observed by R.P. WIRTH and it will be in his discretion whether he can attempt to obtain pictures with the Minox camera of the two together. J.R. ✓ The entire operation will be coordinated from the office radio WFEBV, ^ who will keep a chronological log of all activities. Entries will be made in this log of every telephone call received by the radio room and of every message sent out or received pertaining to movements of the agent personnel and/or the subjects.

It will be the further responsibility of KENNEDY to advise R.P. WIRTH when he should enter the restaurant and KENNEDY should further direct the personnel in all radio cars who are not immediately on a surveillance as to what action they should take.

It will be the responsibility of all agents having a radio car to check the two-way radio immediately upon obtaining the car to determine if it is operating properly inasmuch as the success of the entire operation might depend upon radio communication.

SURVEILLANCE OF COPLON IN PENN STATION

✓ The following agents will take over the surveillance of COPLON from the Washington Field agents on the platform at Penn Station: RICHARD E. BRENNAN, M.F. CAREY, BREWER WILSON, J.F. MALLEY, J.M. O'MARA, E.F. McCARTHY, KAY CONDON, (Steno). Miss MALONEY will remain near the entrance to the ladies' room on the upper level of Penn Station awaiting COPLON'S arrival there, and if COPLON enters the ladies' room Miss MALONEY will immediately proceed to the exit from the ladies' room on the lower level and join agents McCARTHY and O'MARA, who will institute a surveillance on such exit.

KAY CONDON will, if such can be done in a discreet manner, ascertain whether COPLON makes any contacts in the ladies' room. If COPLON does make a contact Miss CONDON should make sure that such contact is pointed out to the agents at the exit which she uses. In the event this happens, sufficient surveillance personnel will be put on that contact for identification.

If COPLON uses the exit on the lower level Miss MALONEY should immediately inform the agents on the upper level of such so that they can join McCARTHY and O'MARA on this surveillance.

If COPLON leaves the ladies' room Miss MALONEY should keep in touch with GLASCOCK for possible use in chamfering work.

MEMO

Miss CONDON will stay with this surveillance until COPLON leaves Penn Station. If COPLON checks her bag in a steel locker those agents who observe it should make sure that Miss CONDON knows the location and locker number.

When the surveillance leaves Penn Station Miss CONDON will immediately notify O'MARA and McCARTHY and inform McCARTHY which subway COPLON utilized and in which direction she was going. McCARTHY should immediately call KENNEDY and give details of COPLON'S departure so that the other personnel can be alerted. McCARTHY will then obtain the keys to the radio car parked outside of Penn Station and remain in the car in service for possible assistance in the event the meeting takes place in midtown-Manhattan.

SEARCH OF COPLON'S BAG

Agent O'MARA, upon being informed that COPLON has left Penn Station, will immediately notify GLASCOCK and the two will obtain the master key, get COPLON'S bag, and make the search.

In the event of an emergency GLASCOCK can always be reached at the Pennsylvania Railroad Police private line, PE 6-7275. Every agent should have this number immediately available while on surveillance.

After the search of the bag it should be returned to the locker and KENNEDY should be advised of the results of the search. KENNEDY will then advise GLASCOCK when O'MARA and McCARTHY should institute a surveillance on the locker.

SURVEILLANCE AFTER LEAVING PENN STATION

Agents BRENNAN, CAREY, WILSON and ^{Murphy} MALLEY will surveil COPLON away from Penn Station. In the event she goes to the vicinity of 193rd Street and Broadway no attempts by them should be made to stay in that immediate vicinity, but should immediately inform MILLER and DALY in the radio car, which will be parked two blocks south of the intersection, so that agents HRADSKY, ROBINSON and WIRTH can be advised. These last named agents will cover the actual meeting between GUBITCHEV and COPLON.

MEMO

SURVEILLANCE OF GUBITCHEV

The object of the surveillance on GUBITCHEV is to surveill him from either his home or office to the meeting place, which will possibly be on 193rd Street and Broadway. This surveillance must be conducted in an absolutely discreet manner and in the event GUBITCHEV begins checking for a surveillance in such a manner that the surveillance can not be held discreetly, then it should be dropped and KENNEDY so informed.

SURVEILLANCE DURING AND AFTER MEETING

After GUBITCHEV and COPLON have met they will be surveilled by ROBINSON and MILLER in the two radio cars already in that vicinity together with the remaining personnel who are in the vicinity at the time.

HRADSKY should not attempt to leave the vicinity with the truck until he receives instructions from ROBINSON or MILLER.

It should be reiterated that once COPLON is put in the vicinity of 193rd Street and Broadway all agents on foot should stay a safe distance away after making sure that ROBINSON and HRADSKY have been notified by radio that COPLON is in the vicinity.

The same applies to the agents on the GUBITCHEV surveillance.

In the event COPLON and GUBITCHEV go to a restaurant other than the one named above, the radio car which happens to be on the surveillance at that time will notify MURPHY so that he can immediately take R.P. WIRTH and Miss JUDGE to the restaurant. WIRTH and JUDGE will then enter the restaurant in an attempt to cover the subject's activities there.

Before leaving the restaurant four men will be designated to surveill the two subjects until they separate. Upon separation the surveillance of both should be dropped and KENNEDY informed, who will then dispatch an automobile to GUBITCHEV's home provided one is not already there and who will further inform GLASCOCK to have O'MARA and McCARTHY institute a surveillance on COPLON'S bag.

On the afternoon of March 4, Mr. H. B. Fletcher of the Bureau advised that the following memorandum had been received by the Bureau from the Department relative to instant case:

"Referring to the above matter, it is understood that there probably will be a meeting between the subjects in New York on the evening of March 4, 1949, at which time a transmission of information or documents relating to the national defense or other government materials or information will be effected.

"It is the desire of the Department that this meeting be covered by the Bureau and, in the event it appears a transmission has occurred, that the subjects be apprehended. Upon such apprehension, both should be searched and questioned. If it is thus established that transmission of documentary information within the terminology of the Espionage Act (VIV "relating to the national defense) has been effected or that a removal of government records within the purview of Sections 641 or 2071, Title 18, United States Code (1948 edition) has occurred, prosecution should be initiated by the filing of a complaint with the U. S. Commissioner and the prompt arraignment of both defendants. The prosecutive phase of the matter should be handled by the United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York. If, on the other hand, it is found, upon searching and questioning the subjects, that no transmission has occurred and that no prior transmission of material and relevant data is admitted, the subject GUBITCHER should be released promptly. [redacted] however, in addition to the Bureau's questioning, should be served with a subpoena to appear before the regular Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York at its earliest following session and there should be examined at length under oath concerning every phase of this matter. Such examination, of course, will be conducted by the U. S. Attorney or one of his assistants. The Bureau should exercise every precaution, however, to be cognizant of the subject's activities from the point of apprehension up to her examination before the Grand Jury and should endeavor, so far as possible, to prevent any collusive contacts with others which might afford opportunity for fabricating or altering testimony. [redacted] should also be subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury on the same date as subject [redacted] but should not be detained unnecessarily prior thereto, if the results of the apprehension are negative.

MEMO

"It will be appreciated if you will arrange to advise me immediately as to developments in this matter in order that the State Department may be informed and enabled to make such contacts with the Secretary General of the United Nations as may be necessary.

"Notwithstanding the directions in the foregoing paragraphs, it is not intended hereby to restrict the Bureau in the exercise of its sound discretion as to whether the events as they develop on March 4 warrant the steps here outlined. If the agents covering the case feel the circumstances are unfavorable for carrying out the proposed action and that it should be delayed until a subsequent meeting, the decision is left to them.

"Similarly, if you are of the opinion that national interests will be better served by continuing observation for a further period to determine whether espionage of a more serious character is involved, do not hesitate to so advise the Department. Should you be of the opinion that the case should not be brought to an issue at this time, I should like to have your views as to whether the subject COPLON should be separated from the Department now or continued in her present capacity to permit such observation. If separated, however, further surveillance of the subject GUBITCHEV should be so conducted as not to raise prematurely questions of a political nature before the government is ready to act finally on the case.

PEYTON FORD

The Assistant to the Attorney General"

In addition to the above, Mr. Fletcher advised that two agents from the Washington Field office who are thoroughly conversant with this case are bringing COPLON up on the train leaving at 1:00 pm from Washington, D. C. After they turn her over to agents of the New York office, they will come to the New York office and stand by for further instructions.

Mr. Fletcher advised that we should make the same efforts as we have in the past to cover COPLON's contacts; that we should make every effort to cover both subjects by surveillance but that we should not blow the case. The question as to whether we should arrest the subjects is being left to our discretion; that because we are on the scene here we will have to decide whether the activities of the subjects warrant apprehension. If something is passed by COPLON to GUBITCHEV, we are authorized to apprehend both of them. If there is no indication that anything has been passed between the two of them, we should not pick them up but rather we should wait for another occasion. I pointed out to Mr. Fletcher that in our last two meets it had been very difficult to ascertain whether anything had been passed. In the first meeting, nothing was seen to be passed at all, while in the 2nd meeting, although we did not actually see something passed, we have reason to believe that something was passed because GUBITCHEV reached out and COPLON's actions indicated that something had been passed. Mr. Fletcher advised that, on the basis of the past two meets, he would say we should not pick them up on the basis of the first meet but we would pick them up on the second meet; that is, there are reasonable grounds to believe that she had passed something on the 2nd meet.

Mr. Fletcher pointed out that if we did apprehend the subjects, we should search GUBITCHEV immediately on the spot to make sure that he does not get rid of anything that was passed to him by COPLON before he arrives at the office. He suggested that we immediately place anything taken from him in a cellophane envelope so that a fingerprint examination could possibly establish COPLON's fingerprints on the items, thus proving that she had it in her possession, regardless of their denials.

Relative to the subpoenas mentioned by the Departmental memorandum, Mr. Fletcher advised that Ray Whearty is supposed to be in NY this evening to answer any questions for the Department and that he is going to request Whearty to furnish us with a couple of blank subpoenas so that we can fill them in and serve them on the subjects, if we pick them up.

Mr. Fletcher advised that if COPLON meets someone other than GUBITCHEV and passes something to him, we should not apprehend the two individuals unless we know the identity of the 2nd individual to be a Russian representative or an individual who would be pertinent to the investigation, such as EARL BROWDER. Otherwise, we would surveil the individual with whom she made the contact to establish his identity.

I inquired whether the Bureau had any information as to what COPLON might bring up with her. He advised the Bureau does not have, but that a one page memo was passed to her this morning entitled "AMTORG", which reflects that the Bureau has an informant in AMTORG by the name of NEEDLEMAN, which, of course, is false information, and which memo further furnishes some classified and restricted information on atomic energy. An extra copy was inadvertently left with the copies furnished COPLON so that she could extract one if she so desires and not be charged with one. In the event she passes this information, she will clearly come within the espionage statute. This is on onion skin paper. In the event the Bureau ascertains this extra copy is missing after she leaves, we will be so advised.

In view of the fact that any apprehensions in this case would be based on prosecutive possibilities, I pointed out that we will have to inform the subjects of their rights before interviewing them. Mr. Fletcher agreed. However, prior to allowing either of them to contact anyone, we should clear with the Bureau. In the event GUBITCHEV flashes his UN credentials, we should merely acknowledge seeing them and continue and bring him to the office, advising him that we will verify the credentials. In the event COPLON should meet GUBITCHEV on UN property, we should make no apprehensions there.

MEMO

COPLON advised her superior in the Dept. of Justice that she was leaving Washington early in order to do a little shopping in NYC, this afternoon. She was typing for a considerable period of time last night at her home.

Mr. Fletcher advised that the Bureau is to be advised every 30 minutes of the status of this matter, starting with COPLON's arrival in NYC until such time as this matter has come to a head; that is, they are either apprehended or she has gone to her home in Brooklyn. In other words, we should telephonically advise the Bureau of the status of this matter every 30 minutes from the time of her arrival until the Bureau gives us clearance to cease reporting in this matter.

ESPIONAGE R.

I called Assistant Director D. M. Ladd at 3:35 PM today and advised that we had been going over the above matter and his reaction as to how ASAC Belmont, the Supervisor and myself should place ourselves tonight; that the likely place for the meet to occur would be around 193rd Street, as that is where two previous meets were held; that I would like to be there but the question arises about keeping in touch with the Bureau, the radio room, etc. I indicated that I planned to be in a radio car. Mr. Ladd said he thought this would be very desirable as I might be in a position where I could pass information on to the Bureau. He said it would also be OK for ASAC Belmont and Supervisor Granville to go.

I stated the question as to control of the office had to be decided. Mr. Ladd said we could have a supervisor available here. I advised that Special Agent H. V. Kennedy, Assistant Supervisor, who knows the case inside and out, could be stationed in the radio room. Mr. Ladd agreed that this would be a good arrangement. He definitely indicated it would be OK for Mr. Belmont, Mr. Granville and myself to be out of the office on this matter.

At 3:55 PM I called Mr. Ladd and advised I thought I would make one change in the arrangements I had previously proposed; that I think I will have ASAC Belmont stay in the radio room and I will go out with Supervisor Granville inasmuch as there is the possibility that there might be some difficulty in radio transmission and someone in authority should at the office to make decisions. Mr. Ladd agreed that probably this would be a more desirable arrangement.

MEMORANDUM:

RE: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE R.

SA Kenneth Delavigne of the Washington Field Office called at 1:10 PM today to furnish details of subject's trip to New York.

She left Washington on the Pennsylvania Senator, train #176, at 1 PM today, this train arriving in New York at 4:45 PM this afternoon. She is in Car #1629. At the time she left she wore a gray-tan kerchief with dime-size circular figures around her head, inside the circular figures are small white dots. She wore a black cloth full length sweep skirt coat, and carried a red imitation alligator make-up kit which she has carried on previous trips to New York. She also carried a black pocketbook with gold trim which she has also carried on previous trips.

The two Agents from the Washington Field office who are conducting the surveillance are SA Tom Mendenhall, age 31, 6'1", 175 lbs., broad face, wore gray gabardine topcoat, tan snap brim-hat, gray plaid suit and orange and blue necktie, this being exactly the same clothes he was wearing on Coplon's last trip to New York City. Mendenhall is personally known to SA Robert J. Wirth of this office. The second Agent is Dudley Payne, age 38, 5' 10", 180 lbs., blue-gray topcoat, gray suit, red tie, usually walks with coat open and has watch chain from which is displayed a "possible" key.

Mr. Delavigne advised that Car #1629 is in the center of the train and also pointed out that Coplon ran frantically to catch the train and that on her last trip to New York as the train approached New York City she worked her way forward through the coaches until she was as far forward as possible, apparently in an effort to save time, and indicated Agents should be alert to this possibility. He advised that SAS Mendenhall and Payne have been instructed by him, according to the Bureau, that they are to turn the surveillance over to NY Agents at the station if possible, and then proceed to the NY office and await developments, and are not to accompany the NY Agents in the NY portion of the surveillance. He indicated that on her previous trip the NY Agents picked her up in Pennsylvania Station on one of the exits which lead into the station proper. He also advised that SAS Mendenhall and Payne are the two Agents most familiar with this matter, and for this reason are proceeding to the NY office in the event of an interrogation.

Re: JUDITH COPLON;
ESPIONAGE-R

Dear Sir:

There are transmitted herewith the originals of documents removed from the purse of subject, JUDITH COPLON, subsequent to her apprehension on the night of March 4, 1949. These documents were found folded up and wrapped with scotch tape in a flat package about the size and resembling a pair of ladies' hose. The documents have been marked for identification. In removing them from the package and identifying them, the documents were necessarily handled to a very limited extent by Special Agents T. Scott Miller, Jr. and Brewer Wilson; therefore, there is a slight possibility that fingerprints of these two Agents may be found on the documents.

It is requested that these documents be examined for fingerprints. However, such examination should not mar the documents as they are vital evidence. They should also be examined to determine the make, typewriter or typewriters used, and the typewriting should be compared with any typewriter which may have been used by COPLON either at the Department of Justice or in her home. It is requested further that the handwriting appearing on these documents be compared with the handwriting of JUDITH COPLON, samples of which undoubtedly can be obtained from the Department of Justice by whom she is employed. In the event it is ascertained that any of these documents were typed or written by anyone other than JUDITH COPLON, immediate steps should be taken to ascertain the authors. Any further examination of the paper utilized, the forms on which typed, etc., which the Laboratory may be able to accomplish, will be appreciated.

Twenty-five copies of the photographs of JUDITH COPLON and VALENTINE GUBITCHEV are likewise being forwarded herewith together with 3 sets of photostatic copies of the original documents mentioned above.

The documents and the photographs are being brought by Special Agents Payne and Mendenhall of the Washington Field Office personally to the Bureau.

Very truly yours,

THEY WALKED TOGETHER FOR ABOUT FOUR STEPS AND THEN DREW APART. SHE SLOWED DOWN AND WENT TO THE INSIDE OF THE WALK WHILE HE SPEEDED UP AND WALKED NEXT TO THE CURB. GUBICHEV WALKED NORTH ON BROADWAY TO NAGLE AVENUE AND PROCEEDED A FEW BLOCKS THEN TURNED BACK TO BROADWAY AND WAS BELIEVED TO HAVE CAUGHT A NORTH BOUND BUS ON BROADWAY AT EIGHT NAUGHT EIGHT PM. SURVEILLANCE NO LONGER POSSIBLE AT THIS POINT. MEANWHILE COPLON HAD TURNED LEFT AT ONE NINETIETH STREET FOR A BLOCK THEN DOUBLED BACK TO BROADWAY AND TOOK THE IRT SUBWAY TUNNEL TO THE ONE NINETY FIRST STREET AND ST. NICHOLAS AVENUE STOP. DURING BOTH OF ABOVE DESCRIBED MEETS BETWEEN THE TWO SUBJECTS ON BROADWAY NOTHING WAS OBSERVED TO BE PASSED BETWEEN THEM. COPLON BOARDED A SOUTH BOUND IRT SUBWAY TRAIN WHICH SHE LEFT AT FORTY SECOND STREET AND SEVENTH AVENUE. SHE PROCEEDED UPSTAIRS WHERE SHE STOOD ON THE NORTHWEST CORNER OF SEVENTH AVENUE AND FORTY SECOND STREET ON SEVENTH AVE. SHE STOOD THERE ABOUT THREE MINUTES THEN WALKED ONE BLOCK NORTH ON SEVENTH AVENUE AND DOUBLED BACK AND TOOK HER ORIGINAL POSITION ON FORTY SECOND STREET. THROUGH THE BUS NUMBER OBTAINED BY SURVEILLING AGENT IT WAS POSSIBLE TO AGAIN PICK UP THE SURVEILLANCE AT TWENTY SECOND STREET AND NINTH AVENUE GOING SOUTH.

AT FOURTEENTH STREET BOTH SUBJECTS LEFT THE BUS AND WALKED EAST ON FOURTEENTH STREET FREQUENTLY LOOKING BEHIND THEM. AT EIGHTH AVENUE THEY ENTERED THE BMT SUBWAY, CANARSIE LINE. ^{W. J. THEY OCCURED TWO SEPARATE SEATS FACING IN DIFFERENT DIRECTIONS IN THE SUBWAY CAR. AT THE THIRD AVENUE STOP THEY LEFT THE SUBWAY HURRIEDLY JUST BEFORE THE DOORS SHUT. THE SURVEILLANCE WAS AGAIN DISCONTINUED THROUGH NECESSITY. AT NINE THIRTY FOUR PM SUBJECTS AGAIN LOCATED AT FIFTEENTH STREET AND THIRD AVENUE AND STILL CHECKING FOR POSSIBLE SURVEILLANCE. COPLON ALSO REFUSED TO TALK ALTHOUGH SHE IS BEGINNING TO FURNISH SOME BACKGROUND INFORMATION. BOTH SUBJECTS WERE FINGERPRINTED AND PHOTOGRAPHED. IN COPLON'S PURSE WAS FOUND A SMALL ~~FLAT~~^{FLAT} PACKAGE RESEMBLING A WRAPPED UP PAIR OF HOSE. UPON EXAMINATION THIS WAS FOUND TO CONTAIN APPROXIMATELY THIRTY FOUR ABSTRACTS OF FBI REPORTS ON SECURITY MATTER AND ESPIONAGE CASES CHIEFLY IN THE RUSSIAN AND SATELLITE NATION FIELD. AT SIX FORTY A.M. SUBJECTS WERE AGAIN BROUGHT BEFORE JUDGE RIFKIND. COPLON WAS REPRESENTED BY LESTER LEVIN, ATTORNEY. GUBITCHEV STILL HAD NO ATTORNEY. JUDGE RIFKIND SET TEN THOUSAND DOLLAR BAIL FOR COPLON FOR APPEARANCE AT AN ADDITIONAL HEARING AT ELEVEN A.M. TO ENABLE HER TO OBTAIN A MORE EXPERIENCED COUNSEL. NO BAIL WAS SET FOR GUBITCHEV AND HE WAS ALLOWED UNTIL ELEVEN A.M. TO SECURE COUNSEL. IN LIEU OF BAIL BOTH COPLON AND GUBITCHEV REMAINED IN CUSTODY OF FBI. GUBITCHEV CONTACTED SOVIET DELEGATION OF U.N. AND ADVISED OF HIS ARREST. AT EIGHT FOUR A.M. MR. OSCAR SCHACHTER, ATTORNEY FOR U.N., WAS ADMITTED TO TALK PRIVATELY TO GUBITCHEV WITH APPROVAL OF MR. THERE WAS SOME DIFFICULTY REACHING AN UNDERSTANDING BECAUSE THESE INDIVIDUALS CLAIMED THEY DID NOT SPEAK ENGLISH. MR. THOMAS F. POWER, JR., DEPUTY SECRETARY GENERAL, U.S. MISSION TO UNITED NATIONS, LIKEWISE CAME TO NY OFFICE MORNING OF MARCH FIFTH AND CONSULTED WITH WHEARTY AND SCHACHTER BUT DID NOT INTERVIEW GUBITCHEV. AT ELEVEN A.M. SUBJECTS WERE TAKEN TO ROOM THREE ONE EIGHT DISTRICT COURT OF JUDGE RIFKIND. UPON ASCERTAINING THAT ATTORNEYS FOR SUBJECTS WERE NOT PRESENT, JUDGE RIFKIND RECESSED UNTIL ELEVEN THIRTYFIVE, AT WHICH TIME BERTRAM J. ADAMS APPEARED AS ATTORNEY FOR COPLON. NO COUNSEL APPEARED FOR GUBITCHEV, ALTHOUGH HE ADVISED RIFKIND THAT HE HAD EXPECTED COUNSEL. THE GOVERNMENT REQUESTED FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS BAIL FOR COPLON AND ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS BAIL FOR GUBITCHEV WITH WHEARTY STRESSING THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE CHARGES AND THE POSSIBILITY OF FLIGHT ON THE PART OF GUBITCHEV. JUDGE RIFKIND SET BAIL AT TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR COPLON AND ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR GUBITCHEV, STIPULATING THAT WHEN GUBITCHEV OBTAINED COUNSEL HE COULD APPLY FOR REDUCTION IN BAIL IF ARGUMENTS WARRANTED. COPLON WAIVED EXAMINATION AND WAS REMANDED TO CUSTODY OF MARSHAL WITH INDICATIONS THAT POSSIBLY SHE MAY MAKE BOND MARCH SEVENTH. IN ABSENCE OF COUNSEL FOR GUBITCHEV, JUDGE HELD THAT GUBITCHEV DID NOT WAIVE EXAMINATION AND SET HEARING FOR MARCH SIXTEENTH. Judge SIMON RIFKIND telephoned the office at 7:26 pm this date and stated that he was anxious to get in touch with U.S. Attorney MCGOHEY or Mr. WHEARTY. He stated that the Russian Embassy had been contacting him relative to GUBITCHEV, and he wanted to discuss the matter with Mr. MCGOHEY or Mr. WHEARTY. He asked if this office would try to reach one of these men and have them call him. The writer stated he would do so.

The writer reached Mr. WHEARTY at his home at 7:27 pm and relayed Judge RIFKIND'S message. Mr. WHEARTY stated that he would call Judge RIFKIND immediately.

In connection with the above, Agent ANATOLE BOGUSLAV advised at 7:35 pm that a man identifying himself as TOLOKOLNIKOV of the office of the Chief Counsel, Soviet Embassy, had just called Judge RIFKIND and insisted upon seeing GUBITCHEV. Judge RIFKIND advised the caller that he would have to clear with the State Department before seeing GUBITCHEV. When the caller insisted upon seeing GUBITCHEV, Judge RIFKIND said that he would check with representatives of the State Department and the Justice Department and asked the caller to call back in an hour. This information came through [redacted]

Agent GALLAHER at [redacted] later advised that at 7:43 pm TOLOKOLNIKOV called SOKOLOV at Washington, D.C. (National 8549) and stated that he had tried four times today to get to see GUBITCHEV. He said that he had been to the FBI office and had been advised that GUBITCHEV was now under the jurisdiction of Judge RIFKIND; had tried to reach the prosecuting attorney but was told he was out; and Judge RIFKIND was checking on the matter

Agent GALLAHER also advised that at 8:24 pm Judge RIFKIND advised TOLOKOLNIKOV to call Mr. POWER of the State Department at Murray Hill 3-6810 and Mr. WHEARTY of the Department of Justice at Talmadge 9-6639 to arrange an interview with GUBITCHEV.

TOLOKOLNIKOV called POWER at 10:00 pm and stated that he would like to see GUBITCHEV as soon as possible. Mr. POWER advised TOLOKOLNIKOV that he would attempt to arrange the interview and would call him back.

At 10:35 pm Mr. WHEARTY called the writer and stated that he was making arrangements for the Russians to interview GUBITCHEV. He stated that agents in a radio car were in his neighborhood last night (March 4) when he was needed here at the office and that these agents picked him up and brought him to the office in a very expedite manner. He stated that he may have to leave his home on short notice again tonight and he wondered if there might be other agents in radio cars in the vicinity of his home at 1969 McGRAW Avenue, Bronx tonight. The writer advised him that there were no agents on duty in that vicinity tonight but that this office would be glad to render him any assistance if the need arose. He stated that he did not want any agents to make a special trip just to pick him up. The writer repeated the offer of assistance. Mr. WHEARTY replied that he was not certain that he would have to go to the Federal Detention House tonight but that if an emergency situation arose wherein he could not obtain transportation he would call back. As of 1:00 am, March 6, he had not called back.

ESPIONAGE - R

Following the arraignment of JUDITH COPLON at 11:35 A.M. today, Special Assistant to the Attorney General RAY WHEARTY requested that agents proceed to Penn Station and obtain COPLON'S suitcase and bring it to her at either the Federal House of Detention or the Marshal's Office and request an authorization from her and if she grants such authorization, to conduct the search.

I explained to Mr. WHEARTY I thought it was inadvisable for agents to obtain this suitcase at Penn Station unless they were accompanied by either her lawyer or a member of her family, and that this individual would have custody of the suitcase until such time it was turned over to subject COPLON. Mr. WHEARTY agreed and together with her attorney Mr. ADAMS, it was decided that COPLON'S brother would accompany the agents to obtain this suitcase.

In accordance with Bureau instructions that the Bureau be kept advised continuously during the evening of March 4th on the progress of this case, I called Mr. H. B. FLETCHER at 6:10 P.M. to advise him that JUDITH COPLON had arrived at Penn Station at 5:35 P.M. She immediately checked her bag at a public locker in Penn Station and proceeded on foot to a restaurant or bar at 491 7th Avenue. I further advised that at the time I was calling COPLON had left this bar and had gone to 42nd Street and 8th Avenue, where she took an 8th Avenue Washington Heights express. Mr. FLETCHER was informed that our surveillance had shown that GUBITCHEV left his U.N. office at 405 East 42nd Street at 4:50 P.M., accompanied by an unidentified man. The surveillance was kept on him until 5:05 P.M., when the surveillance was dropped because of the subway crowd and the fact that he was checking for a surveillance.

At 6:40 P.M. I again called Mr. FLETCHER to advise him that COPLON had come off the subway at the 181st Street stop, which is at Broadway. However, she walked in the opposite direction from the crowd and went out a deserted exit with the consequence it was necessary to drop the surveillance.

At 6:50 P.M., while speaking to Mr. L. B. NICHOLS, I advised him that we had again picked up the surveillance on COPLON while she was walking up Broadway at approximately 187th Street, proceeding north.

At 7:12 P.M. Mr. FLETCHER with the Bureau was also advised concerning this and was informed that she had arrived at the corner of 193rd Street and Broadway at 7:00 P.M., which was the usual time for the meet.

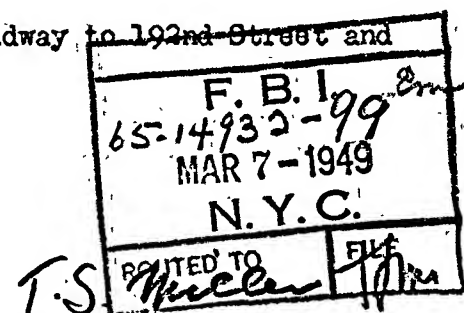

At 7:40 P.M. Mr. FLETCHER was advised that our surveillance had picked up GUBITCHEV coming out of the 191st Street subway at Broadway at 7:23 P.M.

At 7:25 P.M. he was under observation at the southeast corner of 193rd Street and Broadway in a drug store, while at the same time COPLON was at the northeast corner in a cigar store.

At 7:27 P.M. GUBITCHEV went down Broadway to 192nd Street and

AHB:DMCK

COPLON left the cigar store going south on the opposite side of the street.

At 7:40 P.M. while this information was being furnished to Mr. FLETCHER, COPLON was going down Broadway and was at 188th Street. At this time GUBITCHEV apparently had gone up a side street, as he could no longer be seen at the bus stop.

At 8:12 P.M. Mr. FLETCHER was further advised that GUBITCHEV took a bus at 7:45 P.M. going south on Broadway and went only one stop, after which he dropped off the bus and started walking south on Broadway. At the same time COPLON was noted walking north on Broadway at approximately 183rd Street on the same side of Broadway. At 7:51 the subject met between 187th and 188th Streets. She continued walking past him. He stopped but she brushed past and threw her head back over her shoulder toward him. He appeared surprised but she did not stop. He waited a minute or two and then went after her, going north. He overtook her just south of 190th Street. They walked together for about four steps and then veered apart. She slowed down and went to the inside of the sidewalk while he speeded up and went to the outside of the walk next to the curb. GUBITCHEV continued up Broadway and continued north on Nagle Street for several blocks, then cut back to Broadway and apparently took a north-bound bus on Broadway about 8:03 P.M. It was necessary to drop the surveillance of GUBITCHEV at this point.

Meanwhile COPLON had continued up Broadway to 190th Street, where she turned left and went up 190th Street for one block, then doubled back on the same side of the street back to Broadway and entered the IRT tunnel leading to 191st Street and St. Nicholas Avenue stop. This was a long tunnel approximately 150 yards and was practically deserted so that all but one agent were forced to drop off the surveillance. Mr. FLETCHER was advised that we had reason to believe that Agent Murphy was still on surveillance.

Relative to the two instances where the subjects passed each other as related above, Mr. FLETCHER was advised that both times the subjects were well covered and the agents had no reason to believe that anything was passed between the subjects.

It is noted that at 7:40 P.M. Mr. RAY WHEARTY, of the Department, called from Penn Station to inquire as to how things were proceeding. He advised that he would call back later. At 8:43 Mr. WHEARTY again called and inasmuch as no meet had been made by the subjects, he advised that he was going on up to the Bronx and could be reached at TA 9-6639, address 1969 McGraw Street, Bronx. He was advised that he would be contacted there in the event developments warranted.

At 8:54 Mr. FLETCHER was advised that Mr. WHEARTY had been in touch with the office and that we had a location where we could reach him. Mr. FLETCHER was further advised that we did not have anyone on GUBITCHEV and that in so far as we knew Agent Murphy was the only agent possibly on COPLON. While I was talking to Mr. FLETCHER, Agent Murphy called in and advised that COPLON had taken the IRT down to 42nd Street and 7th Avenue, where she dropped off and stood in the vicinity of 42nd and 7th for approximately ten minutes. She then started to walk toward 9th Avenue and GUBITCHEV appeared to be conducting a surveillance behind her, apparently looking for any surveillance on her. As they came up to 9th Avenue, GUBITCHEV ran ahead of her to catch a bus and she ran also and caught the same bus. The agent was not able to catch the bus but did get the number, which was No. 89.

At 9:20 P.M. Mr. FLETCHER was advised that we had been able to again locate the subjects through the surveillance of bus No. 89 and that they had dropped off at 14th Street and were walking toward 8th Avenue. Mr. FLETCHER was advised that subsequent to that the subjects were walking around the vicinity and checking carefully for any surveillance with the result that it was very difficult for us to continue the surveillance of them. Mr. FLETCHER was advised that in view of the extent to which the subjects were going, the Bureau should immediately consider whether any action was contemplated relative to apprehending the subjects. Shortly thereafter Mr. FLETCHER called back to advise that the Bureau was checking with Mr. PEYTON FORD and that we should hold the line open, as there was indication that authority would be given to apprehend the subjects. Mr. FLETCHER was advised at that time that we no longer had the subjects under surveillance but that we were making continuous efforts to again locate them.

At approximately 9:34 P.M. Mr. FLETCHER was advised that we had again located the subjects at 15th Street and Third Avenue, going north on Third Avenue.

At 9:35 P.M. Mr. FLETCHER advised that we were authorized to apprehend the subjects immediately. At 9:36 P.M. the subjects were apprehended between 15th and 16th Streets on Third Avenue. At 9:37 P.M. the Bureau was so advised.

At 10:10 P.M., following several calls to Mr. FLETCHER advising of the subject's arrival at the office, he was advised that a search of COPLON has revealed a small, flat package which looks somewhat like a new pair of hose which was found in her purse. Upon opening this package the agents ascertained that it contained numerous abstracts regarding Bureau cases of a security nature as well as a handwritten note giving the information contained in the Bureau's memorandum of March 3, 1949, relative to NEEDLEMAN and certain classified and restricted atomic energy information. Mr. FLETCHER requested that we immediately consult Mr. WHEARTY to get his opinion on the action to be taken against the subjects. A call had been placed for Mr. WHEARTY and one of the Bureau cars covering the surveillance in the Bronx was dispatched to bring him to the office. Mr. WHEARTY arrived shortly thereafter.

At 11:00 P.M. Mr. WHEARTY called Mr. PEYTON FORD regarding the charges to be placed against the subjects, the amount of bond, etc. It was decided at that time that both subjects would be held on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States.]

At 11:10 P.M. Mr. WHEARTY called Assistant United States Attorney Siegel in order to arrange for a commissioner to be available on the morning of March 5th.

At 11:25 P.M. Mr. WHEARTY called PEYTON FORD again to advise that GUBITCHEV wanted to call the First Secretary of the USSR Delegation to the U.N. Mr. FORD advised him that GUBITCHEV should not be allowed to call until clearance had been obtained from the State Department.

At 11:20 P.M. I advised Mr. FLETCHER that the charge against the subjects would probably be conspiracy to defraud the United States and that Mr. WHEARTY was working on the charge and will draft the complaints later. It was suggested to Mr. FLETCHER that the typewriters in COPLON'S office in the Justice Building and any other typewriters she had access to in the building as well as typewriters in her home be secured and samples obtained for comparison with the documents found in her purse. I advised him that we would try to get a consent to search but suggested that the Washington Field Office place a watch on her home to insure that no attempt was made to get the typewriter. Mr. FLETCHER was advised that Mr. WHEARTY contemplated asking that bail be set at $100,000.00 for GUBITCHEV and from $10,000.00 to $25,000.00 for COPLON. I advised that GUBITCHEV has been inquiring as to the charge under which he is being held and that we are going to inform him that the charge against him is conspiracy to defraud the United States in accordance with Mr. WHEARTY'S authority. I advised also that GUBITCHEV wants to call the First Secretary of the USSR Delegation to the U.N. and that Mr. WHEARTY is clearing this through Mr. FORD.

At 11:35 P.M. Mr. ^{Fletcher} called and instructed that we put a detailed teletype on the wire to get to the Bureau by 6:00 A.M. in order that the Bureau may have the full picture of the activities which occurred during the surveillance and subsequent thereto. He advised that a press release will be made in Washington and that we will not make a press release in New York. He requested that we get photographs of the subjects in the mail to the attention of Mr. NICHOLS special delivery.

At 11:55 P.M. Mr. MILNE of the Bureau called and requested the exact location of the apprehension of the subjects. He was advised that it was between 15th and 14th Streets on Third Avenue. Mr. MILNE requested that we send the previously referred to photographs down by Agent courier and that we send the original documents taken from COPLON down by the same courier after first clearing with Mr. WHEARTY. Mr. WHEARTY was advised that we contemplated sending these documents down and he agreed to the procedure. Photographs and documents were dispatched to Washington by Courier Agents Pane and Mendenhall, of the Washington Field Office. They left New York at 7:15 A.M. and the Bureau was so notified.

At 12:20 A.M. on March 5th Mr. MILNE called. He was advised that COPLON had refused to give consent to search and therefore a search warrant should be secured by the Washington Field Office on the basis of the papers taken from her purse and information in the possession of the Washington Field Office which reflects that she has a typewriter and was using it late the night of March 3rd. Mr. MILNE requested that we call down the information in one of the typewritten memoranda dealing with COPLON'S failure to get a secret FBI report. This was furnished telephonically to Mr. MILNE.

At 12:15 A.M. the possibility of securing search warrants to search COPLON'S home in Washington, as well as GUBITCHEV'S home and COPLON'S parents' home in New York, was discussed with Mr. WHEARTY, who believed that a search warrant was possible for the residence in Washington but not for the two residences in New York.

At 12:50 A.M. Mr. MILNE inquired what sort of a fingerprint examination was desired on the documents, that is, whether examination should be restricted to one which would not damage the documents or whether a more thorough examination was desired. He was advised that the examination should be restricted to one which would not harm the documents, as they were vital evidence. He was further advised that we would like to have all possible typewriting comparisons and handwriting comparisons made relative to these documents. Mr. MILNE was further advised of the conversations between Mr. PEYTON FORD and Mr. WHEARTY relative to the immediate arraignment of the subjects. He was advised that it appeared that the State Department was insisting on an immediate arraignment and Mr. FORD was attempting to get a Federal Judge out of bed to hold the hearing.

The Bureau was kept advised thereafter periodically concerning further developments along the above line.

Again at 5:05 A.M. Mr. Scheidt called Supervisor Milne and advised him of the proceedings at the arraignment before Judge RIFKIND, which occurred at 4:45 A.M. At 7:10 A.M. Mr. Scheidt again called Mr. Milne to advise him of the results of the appearance of the subjects before Judge RIFKIND at 6:45 A.M.

At 6:10 A.M. Mr. MILNE called to request that we furnish information to enable the Washington Field Office to get out a search warrant, as it was contemplated that United States Attorney Fay would be contacted at 8:00 A.M. Mr. MILNE was referred to our detailed teletype which had been sent out to the Bureau at 2:50 A.M. Mr. MILNE was further advised that GUBITCHEV had been allowed to call the Russian Delegation to the U.N. after GUBITCHEV had been before Judge RIFKIND and Judge RIFKIND had released him in our custody in order that he might arrange for an attorney. We first cleared this with Mr. WHEARTY.

Mr. MILNE was further advised that Mr. WHEARTY had served subpoenas on the [REDACTED]

He was advised further that Mr. WHEARTY [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Mr. MILNE was further advised that one LESTER M. LEVIN, attorney, had just come into the office to represent COPLON. Relative to GUBITCHEV'S call to the U.N., NYT-507 reflected that this call was made at 5:30 and that GUBITCHEV asked for MOROSOV, the night man told him that MOROSOV could not be located and he instructed the night man to report his arrest to MALIK and have MALIK send official representatives to the Court House. He instructed the night man to tell MALIK and no one else.

At 8:10 A.M. BERTRAM COPLON, who advised that he is Miss COPLON'S brother, telephonically inquired as to when he would be able to see her. He was advised that her arraignment is scheduled at 11:00 A.M. before Judge RIFKIND and presumably he could make arrangements to attend that hearing.

At 8:44 A.M. Mr. SCHACHTER, attorney for the U.N., was admitted to talk privately to GUBITCHEV after first clearing with Mr. WHEARTY. Mr. SCHACHTER discussed GUBITCHEV'S status with him and later advised that he had called the Soviet Delegation of the U.N., which advised that they knew all about the matter and would take care of GUBITCHEV.

Our technical coverage reflected this call and reflected that Mr. SCHACHTER had told the Soviet representative that GUBITCHEV preferred a Soviet attorney.

At approximately 10:00 A.M. our technical coverage reflected a telephone call from BERTRAM COPLON to Miami. COPLON told the individual in Miami that JUDY would be arraigned at 11:00 A.M., that "My uncle, who is a lawyer, is going down with me. . . . The man tells me to get in touch with ARCHIE PALMER, who is pretty well connected in Washington. He, ARCHIE, knows KEENAN intimately. KEENAN tried the criminals in Japan."

At 10:40 A.M. Mr. NICHOLS of the Bureau called and inquired as to what publicity was developing in New York City. I advised him that we had two papers so far, the "Sun" and "Journal American," and that both of them played the story up with headlines on the front page. The headlines and sub-headlines were briefly furnished to Mr. NICHOLS and he advised that he was attempting to track down any story to the effect that papers had been planted after a loyalty check, such as appeared in the "New York Sun." I advised him that the "Sun" did not have any Washington date line, although the "Journal" did. I advised him that the New York Office is not commenting in any way on this case and will continue to follow that policy in strict accordance with Bureau instructions. Mr. NICHOLS advised that if the press desired to be referred to anyone they should be referred to Mr. SCHEDLER, Director of Public Relations, Department of Justice.

Mr. NICHOLS was advised that Mr. SCHACHTER, U.N. Attorney, had been allowed to talk to GUBITCHEV after clearing with Mr. WHEARTY and that SCHACHTER had called the USSR Delegation to the U.N. They advised him that they knew all about GUBITCHEV'S case and would take care of him. Our technical NYT-507 covered this call and reflected that SCHACHTER told them that GUBITCHEV preferred a Soviet Attorney. SCHACHTER later advised that GUBITCHEV is being suspended from the U.N. pending an investigation.

The following call from NYT-507 was furnished to Mr. NICHOLS:

"3/5 10:40 A.M. NYT 507 to Wash

"Morosov contacted Ippolotov left report for Panyushkin,

"Today, at 6 AM I conversed with Gubitchev telephone who is a Soviet citizen working for UN. Gubitchev reported that he was arrested last night on the street and was allowed to report it only this morning. Upon my arrival there I was not permitted to converse with him because of all sorts of formalities."

"M. requested that this info be given to P. since G. is a Soviet citizen. Ippolotov said he would do so."

Re: Judith Coplon
Internal Security - R.

Mr. Patrick J. Daly, 58, 345 E 62 St., N.Y.C., employed as a printer for the Daily News, NYC., was interviewed in this office at 1:20 pm. concerning the above subject. Mr. Daly said that his mother-in-law, Mrs Mary Gerth now deceased, resided at 2506 Ave., S., Brooklyn, which was next door to the former residence of the Coplon family. The Coplon's resided at this address from about 1927 to 1941 when they sold the house and moved to an address on Marine Parkway near 36 St., which Daly believed to be the residence Mrs. Coplon's sister. Daly said that he read of the event in the paper and had a hunch that Judith Coplon's brother, Bertram Coplon, may have been involved. Bertram Coplon was a difficult boy for his parents to handle and Daly said that Bertram had the family "buffaloed" and they could do nothing with him. Bertram did not make friends with the neighborhood boys but associated with those from the Kings Highway and Brighton areas. Daly said that he did not know the names of any of the friends of either Judith or Bertram nor did he know of any of the clubs or associations to which they belonged. He had never heard either of them make any disloyal statements and had no concrete reason for assuming Bertram Coplon involved other than his aforementioned "hunch" and the nervousness that the press reports ascribed to Bertram when he was interviewed by the press. The reputation of the elder Coplon's in the neighborhood is excellent and Daly believed that Mr. Coplon served on the draft board during the war. Daly said that he believed that Bertram had been reluctant to enter the armed forces during the war and his father was said to be disappointed in Bertram's Attitude.

Daly said that he and his wife Olga lived at 1967 E. 21 St., Bklyn., from 1922 to 1933, a few blocks from the Coplon home and then lived on Garrison Ave., near Avenue R until about 1936 when they bought a home at R. F. D. # 1, Wappingers Falls, NY., where they now live. Daly lived with his mother-in-law at 2506 Ave., S., during the week and on days off lived at Wappingers Falls. Daly has one brother-in-law Nicholas Gerth who lived at the above address until the house was sold and now lives with Daly on E 62nd St. Daly advised that he only had a nodding acquaintance with the Coplon's and the only one now living in that neighborhood who he knew that would know the Coplon's was a family named Sullivan, address unknown, but said to be a government employee.

Daly advised that he would keep the matter confidential and if he remembered any facts or learned of any thing of value he would communicate with the F. B. I.

At 5:55 PM, S.A. GALLAHER at [] advised the following. NYT 507 informed that SOLDATON, spokesman for Russian UN delegation, called THOMAS POWER, member of US mission to UN at POWER'S home at Great Neck, L.I., N.Y. at 4:40PM today.

A long and involved conversation ensued wherein SOLDATOV was protesting bitterly about the response received concerning previous conversations regarding GUBITCHEV. During the conversation today, POWER remarked to SOLDATOV'S protests that there apparently was a basic misunderstanding. In substance the points of issue were:

- 1- Permission for officials of the Russian UN Delegation as well as the Russian Embassy to visit GUBITCHEV.
- 2- Permission for said officials to inspect the actual quarters in Federal House of Detention where GUBITCHEV is held.
- 3- Permission for GUBITCHEV'S wife to visit him at Federal House of Detention and bring him some books.

Regarding (1) and (2) above, after a lengthy discussion, SOLDATOV stated he wished to renew his request. POWER stated he would obtain a reply to such requests and recontact SOLDATOV. (From the tenor of these discussions it appeared SOLDATOV desired no specific limit placed on what officials were to see GUBITCHEV.)

Regarding (3) above, SOLDATOV protested because a woman and two individuals (identity unknown) were refused admission to see GUBITCHEV. POWER said it was granted that GUBITCHEV'S wife could see him and take him books, not any woman or other individuals. SOLDATOV said the wife does not especially wish to see him and such request will not be pressed, at this time.

NYT 512 reported numerous calls made by BERTRAM COPLON, brother of subject, in attempt to obtain bail for subject, He claims to be able to produce this bail and have her released by 1PM Monday, March 7, 1949.

NYT 512 reported BERTRAM COPLON called MEL (last name unknown) who apparently has an office at 15 Park Row, NYC, requesting a loan of $5,000.00 in consideration of a note, the money to be used as bail for subject. BERTRAM stated he still needs $15,000.00 as balance of bail, that one individual he counted on for a large part of it won't have anything to do with it now. No bondsmen have been contacted as there is doubt they would supply the bail, and even if they would, it would cost over $700.00 which is hard to get now.

Above information supplied Supervisor Granville who suggested the Bureau be advised.

At 7:00 PM , Supervisor R. C. Godfrey was given this info.

At 1:00 P.M. today SA Anatole A. Boguslav called [redacted] to advise that a call had come in over NYT-507. TOLOKOLNIKOV telephoned PANUSHKIN in Washington and said that he and SOLDATOV visited GUBITCHEV (presumably at the Federal House of Detention) from 12:00 midnight to 2:00 A.M. last night. Mr. TOLOKOLNIKOV said that GUBITCHEV feels all right and conditions there are not too bad. He was not permitted to sleep, handcuffs were placed on him and he was questioned. TOLOKOLNIKOV asked PANUSHKIN whether he, TOLOKOLNIKOV, should come to Washington. PANUSHKIN said he should stay in New York and that they would probably take some other measures tomorrow.

After conferring with Supervisor R. R. Granville and ASA A. H. Belmont, the writer furnished the above information to Mr. TURNER at the Bureau at 2:35 P.M. this date.

I, T. Scott Miller, Jr., Special Agent, Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice, declare that on the evening of March 4, 1949 in the offices of the FBI in New York City, I made a search of the purse belonging to Judith Coplon. During such search I found two packets bound in scotch tape containing approximately 34 abstracts of Government documents pertaining to the National Security in the custody of the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C. I know this person to be Judith Coplon inasmuch as she identified herself to me.

At 1:50 P.M. on above date, Special Agent Ken Delavigne of the Washington Field Office advised that he wanted me to dictate an affidavit on the search of Coplon to Cyril Lawrence, United States Commissioner, Washington, and Charles Murray, Assistant United States Attorney, Washington. Mr. Delavigne stated that first he wanted me to talk to Special Agent Dudley Payne so that he could identify my voice.

Mr. Delavigne then put Mr. Lawrence on the phone and I dictated the above affidavit. Mr. Lawrence requested that I have the above affidavit either notarized or signed for the United States Commissioner in New York and mail it to Mr. Lawrence at 631 E Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C., Monday.

After this Mr. Delavigne requested that Mr. Belmont call Mr. Ladd at the Bureau and read him the affidavit for clearance.

Mr. Belmont did this at 2:05 P.M. and Mr. Ladd stated that the affidavit as such was all right.

On March 5th at 11:30 AM I received a call from Agent Leonard [redacted] who furnished the above information from NYT 507, which I called to L. B. Nichols at the Bureau.

The informant advised that the Chief of the Consular Division of the USSR Embassy in Washington, Mr. TOLOKONNIKOV, was departing Washington on the 11:05 AM plane for New York; also that Mr. MALIK, the Soviet Delegate to the UN was trying to see Senator Austin, the head of the U. S. delegation to the UN for a twelve o'clock conference. b7E

At 11:50 AM Special Agent Christianson at [redacted] gave me the following information: NYT 507 - which I in turn called down to Mr. Nichols.

The informant advised that SOLATOV had gotten in touch with Mr. CORDIA (ph.) at the UN and explained that he, Solatov, was with the USSR delegation; that he considered the arrest of Mr. GUBICHEV to be a violation of his Diplomatic rights and immunity; that GUBICHEV held the rank of Third Secretary in the Soviet Diplomatic Service and entered this country with a diplomatic passport and a diplomatic visa and requested that the UN take appropriate measures to protest his arrest.

At 2:00 pm on March 5, 1949, Mr. L. MOROSOV and Mr. S. PETROV, who advised that they are Soviet representatives to the UN, personally called at the New York office and were interviewed by SA T. J. McAndrews. They stated that they wanted to make a statement to Mr. Whearty re the arrest of GUBITCHEV and also wanted to see GUBITCHEV today.

They were advised that Mr. Whearty was not here but if they left a telephone number we would attempt to reach Mr. Whearty and have him call them regarding both of their problems. They left the number REG 7-8300 (ask for PETROV).

I tried to reach Whearty at TA 9-6639 but he had not reached home. He will call the office.

Mr. Ladd of Bureau was advised of this at 2:05 pm. He advised that we should let Whearty handle this.

At 2:30 pm on March 5, Mr. Whearty was informed of the above facts and he advised he would handle the requests of the Russian representatives.

Conf. Inf. NYT 507 advised at 2:10 pm on March 5 that IPOLITOV of the USSR Embassy called SOLDATOVA and advised her that Ambassador PAN-YUSHKIN had filed a protest with Mr. Webb of the State Department and had requested an immediate release of GUBITCHEV. SOLDATOVA is Secretary to JACOB MALIK, Chief Soviet Delegate to the UN. Mr. Ladd of the Bureau was advised of this at 2:30 pm.

For the further information and possible use, Mr. TOLOKONNIKOV through his interpreter after making his protest, advised that Mr. GUBICHEV could certainly not be held and should be released to them since he is a Soviet citizen enjoying diplomatic immunity. I advised Mr. TOLOKONNIKOV that his opinion or any one else's opinion on the matter of Mr. GUBICHEV's status was not determinative at this point outside the court room which has custody over GUBICHEV. I politely advised him that it might be appropriate that he seek competent legal advice of his own choosing to assist him since the matter was before an American judicial tribunal. Mr. TOLOKONNIKOV continued to complain that he had a right to interview GUBICHEV, a Soviet citizen; that he wanted to determine the state of his health; whether he was sick or was hurt or in need of any assistance. I politely advised him that there was no basis for his fear; that members of the press and others saw Mr. GUBICHEV before the court and that it could be seen that he was in excellent condition. A big boyish smile registered on the face of TOLOKONNIKOV.

On the morning of [redacted] I called Mr. Ray Whearty to ascertain what his plans were concerning the possible presentation of this case before the Grand Jury today. He advised that the Grand Jury was taking up a possible contempt proceedings in another matter this morning and then the GJ was going to be asked whether it would care to hear this case. If they do, it may be desirable to have testimony [redacted] before the GJ later today. Mr. Whearty pointed out that this case is almost entirely dependent on the testimony [redacted] I advised that [redacted]

Mr. Whearty advised that Mr. Donegan is working with him on this case now and consequently he would like to have any copies of reports designated for Mr. Donegan here in New York. I advised him we would do this.

Mr. Whearty advised that as there had been several attempts by various people to talk to COPLON at the Women's House of Detention, he had restricted any visits to her to persons cleared by him. He wanted to know if we desired to know the identity of such visitors. I advised him we did and, as a matter of fact, we would like to know in advance as we might have information concerning them which would be pertinent as to whether clearance was given to visit her. Mr. Whearty advised that he was going to notify the Women's House of Detention to call us relative to any requests for visitors in order that we might check these names after which we could furnish him with the names and our comments relative thereto and that he would make the decision as to whether anyone should be permitted to talk to her. He advised that after the point of the decision had been reached, he would call the House of Detention and pass along the decision. I advised him this was entirely satisfactory with us.

On the afternoon of March 7, Mr. Leo Laughlin of the Bureau called with reference to the report from this office furnished by NYT 507 that GUBITCHEV was visited from midnight until approximately 2:00 am on March 6 by Soviet representatives who reported to Ambassador PANYUSHKIN that GUBITCHEV was handcuffed, was not allowed to sleep and was questioned. Mr. Laughlin wanted to know whether we had handcuffed GUBITCHEV.

I advised him that GUBITCHEV had never been handcuffed by agents of this office and that he was apprehended and brought in without handcuffs and was not handcuffed at any time during the questioning. I advised him that it is our understanding from newspaper photographs that GUBITCHEV was handcuffed by the U. S. Marshal when he was turned over to the Marshal.

I advised Mr. Laughlin that we did, of course, question GUBITCHEV and following the questioning he went to sleep in his chair.

At 3:00 pm on March 7, I received a call from Mr. JOHN FOWLER, of the New York City Department of Correction, who advised that one BERTRAM G. COPLON had made a request to see his sister, JUDITH COPLON, and that FOWLER had discussed this with Mr. Whearty who had given his approval if COPLON presented identification. Mr. FOWLER advised that COPLON had sufficiently identified himself as the brother of JUDITH COPLON and was on his way to see her.

On the afternoon of March 7, I spoke to Mr. L. B. Nichols of the Bureau, in the absence of Mr. Ladd, to advise him that in one of the documents taken from COPLON's purse dealing with her attempts to get a secret FBI report on intelligence activities, she mentioned that she had described the report to "MICHAEL". Mr. Nichols was advised that while we of course cannot say that we know what MICHAEL she is talking about, the report of SA Stephen A. McGarr dated December 29, 1948 at New York on ALFRED KAUFMAN STERN, page 21, reflects that an individual using the name of MICHAEL contacted the STERNS and made an appointment with them and, upon surveilling this meeting, we ascertained that the individual using the name MICHAEL was VALINTIN A. SOROKIN, Second Secretary of the Embassy of the USSR. Mr. Nichols was advised that SOROKIN is believed to be deeply involved in Soviet espionage activities. I advised Mr. Nichols that SOROKIN uses the code name MICHAEL in his activities. Consequently, we are sending a teletype to the Bureau and Washington Field, requesting Washington Field to ascertain whether COPLON had ever been in touch with SOROKIN.

At 11:30 am on [redacted] Mr. Ray Whearty called to advise that he and Mr. Donegan went before the Grand Jury this morning and that the GJ wants to hear this case. As a result, [redacted] before the GJ about [redacted] Mr. Whearty advised that he is going to Washington by plane this afternoon and the GJ is adjourning until [redacted] at which time [redacted] will be required to testify, both from NYC and possibly from Washington, D. C. He advised that there were several questions that he would like to have the Bureau give him advice on and he requested that the Bureau be advised of these questions and that he would be in touch with the Bureau when he reached Washington. He desired to have memoranda or reports reflecting the investigation in this case in order that the case could be properly handled before the GJ. He advised that the only memos that he had were relative to the examination of COPLON's office in the Department and a memorandum concerning her contact on February 28th. Mr. Whearty also wanted to know the results of the laboratory examination.

Relative to these, I advised him that we had received a report this morning by teletype that the Laboratory had identified the typewriting on the documents taken from COPLON's purse as having been typed on a typewriter in her office, a typewriter in an office close to hers in the Department building, and on a typewriter located in her apartment in Washington, D. C. Further, the Laboratory had identified as her handwriting the writing on the hand written memorandum we had taken from her purse. Mr. Whearty also wanted to know the results of the search of her apartment in Washington. I advised him we had not received word on this as yet but that the search must have been conducted because the Laboratory has identified the typewriter in her apartment. Mr. Whearty also requested that the Washington Field office be advised that agents who had conducted surveillances and who had conducted investigation in this case may be required as witnesses starting Wednesday, March 9th, before the GJ.

Mr. Whearty further advised that he is having Mr. KNEIP and someone else in the Department start to work on the indictment and that they will probably have the indictment drawn up for presentation to the GJ within the next few days. This information was furnished to Mr. Leo Laughlin of the Bureau, in the absence of Mr. H. B. Fletcher, with the suggestion that it be passed on to Washington Field in view of Mr. Whearty's request.

RE: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

At 8:05 pm on March 5, Mr. Ray Whearty called me to advise that Soviet protests over the arrest of GUBITCHEV had reached Ambassadorial level and that one KALINAKOFF (ph) had approached Judge Rifkind to have him rule that the Soviets could see GUBITCHEV but that Rifkind had advised him that he could not consider such a ruling unless application is made through GUBITCHEV's attorney. Rifkind suggested to the Soviets that the State Department be contacted relative to their desires. Mr. Whearty advised that the Soviets did so and the State Department said it had no objection, providing that State Department and Department of Justice representatives were present during the interview. Mr. Whearty wanted to know if the FBI wanted agents present during such a meeting. I told him that GUBITCHEV is in the custody of the U. S. Marshal and as such a meeting is in the field of international relations, we would not want agents present unless first cleared by the Bureau. I advised we are interested if GUBITCHEV or COPLON wants to furnish information. I suggested that Mr. Whearty, when he was discussing this case with the Department, have the Department advise the Bureau if it was definitely felt that an agent should be present during such a meeting.

I then called Mr. Godfrey of the Bureau to advise him of the above conversation and what I had told Mr. Whearty. I suggested that Mr. Godfrey advise Mr. Ladd concerning this. I also advised Mr. Godfrey that we are making the Bureau's direct line available to Mr. Whearty to discuss this with the Department as Whearty has been very cooperative with us.

At 8:20 pm, Mr. Godfrey advised that the position of the New York office was sound in this matter and if the Department contacts the Bureau, the Department will be advised that no agent will be present at the meeting unless it has to do with GUBITCHEV furnishing information.

Judge Rifkind: As far as Gubitchev is concerned, he demands a hearing, and we will set it for 11 AM today.

Mr. Whearty: On behalf of the Government, I respectfully request hearing be set two weeks in advance.

Judge Rifkind: Now, do you want bail fixed pending that time or remain in custody?

Gubitchev: I don't know much about your laws, but I would prefer to wait for my lawyer.

Judge Rifkind: You want to wait here and you can't raise bail until that time.

Gubitchev : I will get his advice when he comes in.

Judge Rifkind: Are you willing to wait here in the custody of the FBI for your lawyer. You are at this moment under arrest.

Gubitchev : All right.

Judge Rifkind: I can fix bail which if you make you will then be free.

Gubitchev: You mean I will pay the money?

Judge Rifkind: If you have the amount of money.

Gubitchev; I don't have any money. I can't do it.

Mr. Whearty: In connection with bail, Your Honor, we regard this as an extremely serious case.

Judge Rifkind: I'll treat this as an adjourned hearing. He, Gubitchev, will remain in your custody until that time.

Mr. Whearty: Would you rather be agreeable to custody of the United States Marshal or custody of the FBI?

Judge Rifkind: The Marshal. Before going to the House of Detention, I did want to fix bail. Do you have facilities, Mr. Scheidt?

Mr. Scheidt: Yes, we have the facilities.

Mr. Levin: Now, in respect to my client, could she be paroled to my custody?

Judge Rifkind: Are you acquainted with the fact this is a serious charge?

Mr. Levin: She is a low salaried employee.

Judge Rifkind: You haven't made up your mind to waive hearing?

Mr. Levin: No.

Judge Rifkind: She is entitled to a prompt arraignment. Do you want to make it at 11 AM, the same as Gubitchev?

Mr. Levin: Can you fix bail without the formal arraignment?

Judge Rifkind: I can fix bail.

Mr. Levin: I would like to have Mr. Whearty agree to some reasonable figure.

Mr. Whearty: Before we get to that, you are not too familiar with these cases. Where a defendant demands a hearing, the bond is retained to cover only the hearing date. After a hearing is held, then bail is doubled. In this case, we are frankly prepared to go to Grand Jury. In any event, an indictment would be returned. The case will be presented to the Grand Jury in advance of the hearing date. It, of course, would destroy jurisdiction for such a hearing. I am telling you that for your information. On the question of bail, Your Honor, this is an extremely serious case, serious for several reasons:

1. This girl worked under me in the Department of Justice. If she had accessto any confidential documents or reports, we are in a position to show that the contents of some of those reports were transmitted by her to some unauthorized person including this defendant, Gubitchev.

We ask for bail, Your Honor, which might seem high, but in view of the circumstances, I don't think it is. We respectfully request to set bail for Gubitchev at 100,000 dollars. One reason for this high bail is if bail is set in any amount which is not substantial, we have every reason to believe that he might leave the United States. He has been granted a leave of absence to return to Russia in June. I think it might be expedited. With respect to Miss Coplon, I have been told by the Department, bail be set at $50,000.

Mr. Levin:

I can see the bail does have some relation to the seriousness of this case, but the point is to make sure that the Defendant is available for trial. This is a young girl, a Barnard College graduate, whose friends and family are of moderate means, and such a bail would be a confinement. I think the Department will realize this Defendant will be available so that the only question of the amount of bail is the question of the nature of defense. I realize it is serious, but I think.....She is 27 years of age, been employed by the Government for six years, her family is in Brooklyn, she is a Barnard Graduate and of such background that the purpose of justice would be served.

Judge Rifkind:

If you could tell me what time you would be prepared for hearing, I would be able to set bail for that immediate situation.

Mr. Levin:

As soon as I can get ahold of counsel, Your Honor, and I should be able to get somebody by 11 AM.

Judge Rifkind:

As far as between now and 11 AM of getting bail is slim,- We will fix bail for Miss Coplon at $10,000. Are you going to be here at 11 AM Mr. Whearty?

Mr. Whearty:

Whenever you wish.

Judge Rifkind:

We will adjourn until 11AM for both defendants. They will be arraigned pending that adjournment; otherwise, they will remain in the custody of the United States Marshal or if you would rather I will leave you in custody of the FBI. I think you would be better in the custody of the FBI.

New York, New York
March 5, 1949 (at 5 AM)

Judge: Simon H. Rifkind
Special Assistant to the Attorney General: Raymond P. Whearty
Subjects: JUDITH COPLON and VALENTINE GUBITCHEV
Special Agent: T. Scott Miller, Jr.
Stenographer: Sappho Manos

Judge Rifkind: (To Special Agent Miller) Do you swear to these affidavits?

Special Agent Miller: Yes, I do.

Judge Rifkind: Do we have Judith Coplon and Valentine Gubitchev here?

Special Agent Miller: Valentine Gubitchev and Judith Coplon are here.

Judge Rifkind: Judith Coplon and Valentine Gubitchev, you are being charged in this complaint with participating in conspiracy to defraud the United States; more, particularly the Department of Justice, in greater particularity, the Defendant, Coplon, being an employee of the Department of Justice and having lawfully had possession and access to certain documents relating to national defense did unlawfully communicate and transmit the same to persons not entitled to receive them, with intent and reason to believe they would be injurious to the United States. These are the complaints against you. You have the right to retain counsel. Do you desire to do so?

Miss Coplon: Yes, I do.

Gubitchev: First of all, I want to protest against my arrest as unlawful and I want immediately to have an official representative.

Judge Rifkind: Very well. Do you want to retain counsel? That is what I want to know particularly.

Gubitchev: Yes, of course, I want to have an official representative.

Judge Rifkind: Before you say anything further, I should tell you that you are not required to make any statement, and that if you do make a statement it may be used against you. You have the right to wave preliminary investigation. If you do want to retain counsel, we will give you a reasonable opportunity to do so.

Gubitchev: All right.

Judge Rifkind: How about you Miss Coplon?

Miss Coplon: I said I would.

Judge Rifkind: Can you get in touch with counsel right away?

Miss Coplon: I will attempt to do so.

Gubitchev: No, I can't until I contact my representatives.

Judge Rifkind: Is Valentine Gubitchev employed by a foreign Government?

Mr. Whearty: He was employed, according to our information, as an engineer attached to the Planning Board of the Department of the United Nations, Department of Administrative and Financial Service in the United Nations. That, I believe, also is his present position.

Judge Rifkind: He does not hold any diplomatic position?

Mr. Whearty: No as far as I know.

Gubitchev: May I make a statement. I am not a citizen of this country. That is why I ask you for permission to make contact with my representative.

Judge Rifkind: Well, let us first see whether Miss Coplon can contact an attorney.

Mr. Whearty: We thought it was not proper under the rules until she appeared before the court.

Judge Rifkind: Now, as far as Mr. Gubitchev is concerned, I have no doubt he is entitled to communicate with counsel. Do you have any objections?

Mr. Whearty: None whatever.

Judge Rifkind: You (meaning Coplon and Gubitchev) will go with these agents, make your phone calls and come back here.

Mr. Whearty: With respect to Mr. Gubitchev, I believe that the United Nations has been notified by the State Department, and is aware of his apprehension and also has procured bail. That will be done by the State Department in Washington.

Judge Rifkind: Well, I have no desire to detain these people unnecessarily. I would want to fix bail if they are at liberty. Examination will be conducted with all possible dispatch. In that examination it will be the duty of the Government to show probable cause; that is, probable cause that the crime has been committed and probable causethey would not have to go beyond that.

You are entitled to cross-examine witnesses but since you are going to consult counsel, I would leave it to his responsible duty. We will suspend now and resume when they have done so.

Mr. Whearty: With respect to Miss Coplon. (Speaking to her) Do you estimate it will be a matter of days or hours?

Miss Coplon: I don't know. I hope it will be hours.

Judge Rifkind: We will suspend.

Mr. Whearty: We will advise you, Your Honor, when they have counsel.

Judge Rifkind: Very well.

Mr. Whearty: In the meantime, they will remain in the custody of the Agents.

Attached are memoranda prepared by Miss Sappho Manos relative to the two appearances before Judge Rifkind at approximately 5:00 am on March 5 and again at 6:50 am on March 5. These should not be construed as complete transcripts of the statements before Judge Rifkind but rather as a summary because Miss Manos was working under a distinct disadvantage and merely made shorthand notes of such information as she could gather.

The writer and SAC Scheidt proceeded from the New York Office to 193rd Street and Broadway at 4:00 PM, March 4, 1949, in connection with the surveillance of VALENTIN A. GUBITCHEV and JUDITH COPLON.

We arrived at 193rd Street and Broadway and took up our surveillance position at 4:50 PM. We remained at this position until 8:02 PM, at which time GUBITCHEV was observed walking north on Broadway and continuing north on Nagle Avenue, at which time the writer took up the physical surveillance of GUBITCHEV and surveilled him to the intersection of Ellwood Street and Nagle Avenue where he crossed from the east to the west side of Nagle Avenue and proceeded up Ellwood Street toward Broadway at approximately 8:04 PM. GUBITCHEV was last observed at 8:08 PM turning south at the intersection of Ellwood Street and Broadway and at that time a bus was observed just leaving the intersection of Broadway and Ellwood Street bound north on Broadway. GUBITCHEV was not actually observed in the bus nor was he observed in the immediate area surrounding the bus.

At approximately 9:00 PM, SAC Scheidt and the writer proceeded down the West Side Highway to 14th Street and east on 14th Street to Third Avenue, arriving at Third Avenue and 14th Street at approximately 9:30 PM. We then went toward 13th Street and at 9:34 PM made a U turn on Third Avenue, cruised back up Third Avenue and spotted GUBITCHEV and COPLON walking north in Third Avenue on the east side of the street at 9:35. They were conversing while walking up the street.

At 9:36 PM, COPLON and GUBITCHEV were placed under arrest by the writer and SAC Scheidt. GUBITCHEV was searched immediately by the writer and we proceeded to the office at 9:38 PM in Bureau Car N-220, occupied by GUBITCHEV and SAs Martin Carey, John Malley, the writer and SAC Scheidt. We arrived at the office at 9:51 PM in the basement of the building and proceeded immediately to the sixth floor. GUBITCHEV was turned over for interrogation to SAs McAndrews and R. J. Wirth.

Re: VALENTINE GUBITCHEV AND
JUDITH COPLON SURVEILLANCE, 3/4/49;
ESPIONAGE.-R

On the afternoon of March 4, 1949, at approximately 4:15 PM, the writer proceeded with SA DANIEL F. GARDE to the vicinity of 42nd Street and First Avenue, where they joined SA JOHN J. WARD in Bureau Car #201, and instituted a surveillance on First Avenue south of 42nd Street.

At approximately 4:45 PM, the writer and agents WARD and GARDE proceeded via Bureau car to 42nd Street, then west on 42nd Street in pursuit of an individual who had been seen leaving the building at 405 E. 42nd Street, in an attempt to definitely establish if this person were identical with GUBITCHEV. After determining that it was not GUBITCHEV, agents GARDE and WARD left car 201, which was then driven by the writer to circle around the block for the purpose of resuming original position on First Avenue. Agent WARD and GARDE proceeded back on foot in an easterly direction toward First Avenue on 42nd Street.

At approximately 5:10 PM, Agent WARD returned to car #201 and approximately 5:30 PM, Agent GARDE returned to car #201.

At approximately 8:40 PM, the writer proceeded in car 201 to the vicinity of 680 Park Avenue, for the purpose of observing if GUBITCHEV, who reportedly had left the area of the rendezvous at 193rd Street and Broadway, should perhaps enter the Russian UN Headquarters.

At 8:51 PM, upon receipt of instructions from the radio room, the writer and occupants of car 201 proceeded toward the vicinity of Pennsylvania Station, by proceeding south on Park Avenue. While on the Park Avenue ramp above 42nd Street, adjoining the Commodore Hotel, the message was received that subjects had boarded Bus 89 at 42nd Street and 9th Avenue, going south. The writer and other occupants of car 201 then proceeded in haste down Park Avenue, across 34th Street and then south on 9th Avenue, and at approximately 9:01 PM, observed Bus 89 proceeding south on 9th Avenue at approximately 22nd Street. A few moments later, the writer observed VALENTINE GUBITCHEV seated on the right side of the bus to the rear of the side exit door, which is located toward the rear of the bus. JUDITH COPLON was observed seated on the left side of the bus across the aisle and several seats forward of GUBITCHEV. She was approximately in the middle of the bus and was looking straight forward.

Bus 89 was sparsely populated and did not appear to have more than a half-dozen passengers at that time.

At approximately 9:04 PM, the bus arrived at 14th Street and 9th Avenue, at which point GUBITCHEV could be seen standing at the exit door. Simultaneously, a message was received from car 194 that he had arrived on the scene and had the bus under observation. The writer and other occupants of car 201 observed COPLON and GUBITCHEV alight from the bus at the bus stop on the northwest corner of 14th Street and 9th Avenue. This area was then practically deserted, it being in the wholesale produce area, where, at that hour of the night there is no activity.

It will be noted that 9th Avenue, going south, ends at 14th Street and its continuation on the south side of 14th Street is Greenwich Street. Hudson Street, going south starts at a triangular intersection of Greenwich and 14th Street. Bus 89 left the above-mentioned corner of 14th Street and 9th Avenue and proceeded south down Hudson Street. The writer and occupants of car 201 observed subjects standing on the corner and looking all around the neighborhood. Car 201 proceeded directly across 14th Street in order to take up a position in a dimly lighted block between 14th and 13th Streets on Greenwich Street. Upon entering this street, a policeman blew his whistle and indicated that he desired the car recognize his beckoning inasmuch as it appeared that we had gone into a one-way street. At about this time, the subjects were observed crossing 14th Street to the southwest corner of the intersection where they stood for several minutes looking about in every direction, and obviously eyeing Bureau car 201.

MEMO:

Car 201 then proceeded to the end of the block and made a U-turn at 13th and Greenwich Streets, and pulled up behind a truck in order to get some cover while observing the subjects. After watching the subjects scrutinizing the area for several minutes, they were observed crossing the intersection by walking east to the southeast corner of 14th Street and Hudson Street. Here again they stood for several minutes, looking about in all directions and again apparently were taking cognizance of Bureau car 201. While the subjects were crossing to the last-mentioned intersection, the aforementioned policeman approached car 201, which then went forward to meet him about half-way between 14th and 13th Streets. To this policeman's inquiries as to what was going on, he was advised that we were FBI agents on official business and when he started to turn away he was requested to stay at the window of the car for a reasonable amount of time and make it appear that he was giving us a lecture for a traffic infraction. He responded willingly and during the period that he was giving an apparent lecture to the occupants of car 201, the subjects were observed walking eastward on the south side of 14th Street toward 8th Avenue. When they had proceeded approximately ten paces eastward, they stopped and then again looked about in various directions for several moments. They again proceeded east on 14th Street. Car 201 was then driven across the intersection in a northerly direction, at which time, subjects were again observed still going east. The car was driven to a point just out of view, beyond the intersection, north of 14th Street on 9th Avenue, where agent JOHN J. WARD alighted and took up a surveillance on foot.

The writer and agent GARDE then proceeded in car 201 to make a circuit of the block with the intention of picking up the surveillance at the intersection of 8th Avenue and 14th Street. In view of the fact that 15th Street is a one-way block going west, it was necessary to proceed to 16th Street in order to make the circuit. Upon arriving at 8th Avenue and 14th Street, agent GARDE left car 201 to make a search on foot of the vicinity, but was unable to observe either the subjects or SA WARD. After making a quick survey of the neighborhood, the writer was rejoined by Agent GARDE in car 201 and notified all cars and the office over the radio as to what had occurred. The writer and agent GARDE then toured 14th Street as far as 5th Avenue and back to 9th Avenue. A few moments later, we were joined by the occupants of another car including agents T. SCOTT MILLER, BREWER WILSONN and JOHN F. MALLEY.

After a few moments, information was received over the radio that the subjects were in the vicinity of 3rd Avenue and 14th Street. Car 201 then proceeded to that vicinity with above-mentioned agents and made a canvass of 14th Street as far as 1st Avenue. Upon returning along 14th Street to approximately 2nd Avenue, a radio message was received that subjects had been located at the intersection of 15th Street and 3rd Avenue. Car 201 then proceeded immediately to that location, where the writer and other agents observed GUBITCHEV and COPLON in the process of being apprehended at approximately 9:37 PM., near the corner of 16th Street and 3rd Avenue.

The writer parked car 201 directly behind two Bureau cars that preceded him to the scene. The writer observed that subject COPLON was placed in the second Bureau car in line and subject GUBITCHEV in the first Bureau car in line. The writer following the apprehension, followed the cars which contained the subjects to the United States Court House.

On the afternoon of March 4, 1949, at approximately 4:15 PM, the writer proceeded with SA MARTIN J. MC GUINN to the vicinity of 42nd Street and First Avenue, where they joined SA JOHN J. WARD in Bureau Car #201, and instituted a surveillance on 1st Avenue south of 42nd Street.

At approximately 4:45 PM, the writer and agents WARD and MC GUINN proceeded via Bureau car to 42nd Street, then west on 42nd Street in pursuit of an individual who had been seen leaving the building at 405 E. 42nd Street, in an attempt to definitely establish if this person were identical with GUBITCHEV. After determining that it was not GUBITCHEV, agents GARDE and WARD left car 201, which was then driven by agent MC GUINN to circle around the block for the purpose of resuming original position on 1st Avenue. Agent WARD and the writer proceeded back on foot in an easterly direction toward 1st Avenue on 42nd Street, and while under the tunnel between 2nd and 1st Avenues, and while approximately 30 paces from the intersection on 1st Avenue, the writer observed GUBITCHEV crossing the intersection of 1st Avenue and 42nd Street. He was at that point accompanied by an unidentified man who appeared to be about 6' tall, of slender build and wearing a brown overcoat and light tan hat. The two were observed crossing 1st Avenue from the northeast corner of 1st Avenue and 42nd Street, in a direction away from the building located at 405 East 42nd Street and they walked together ^{west} on 42nd Street to the intersection of Lexington Avenue and 42nd Street, where they were observed for a few moments standing together on the northwest corner, just in front of the Nedicks stand on that corner.

The view of the writer, who had assumed a position directly across the street, was momentarily obstructed by a south-bound bus and when the bus had cleared the view of the intersection, the unidentified man was observed walking alone in a westerly direction on the north side of 42nd Street, away from the intersection, and the subject could not be seen in the dense crowds of people who thronged the streets.

After a quick check of the immediate vicinity, the writer proceeded down the stairs into the Lexington Avenue IRT Subway Station at 42nd Street and made a quick check of the north-bound platform with negative results. The subject was last seen on the above-mentioned corner at approximately 5:05 PM. The writer then proceeded hastily along 42nd Street in a westerly direction as far as 5th Avenue on the possibility of finding GUBITCHEV. At this point, the writer called the office and advised that the surveillance of GUBITCHEV had been discontinued. The writer then joined agents WARD and MC GUINN in car 201 and thereafter cruised about in the midtown area of Manhattan, awaiting further instructions, and listening to messages from other units working on this surveillance.

At approximately 8:40 PM, the writer proceeded in car 201 to the vicinity of 680 Park Avenue, for the purpose of observing if GUBITCHEV, who reportedly had left the area of the rendezvous at 193rd Street and Broadway, should perhaps enter the Russian UN Headquarters.

At 8:51 PM, upon receipt of instructions from the radio room, the writer and occupants of car 201 proceeded toward the vicinity of Pennsylvania Station, by proceeding south on Park Avenue. While on the Park Avenue ramp above 42nd Street, adjoining the Commodore Hotel, the message was received that subjects had boarded Bus 89 at 42nd Street and 9th Avenue, going south. The writer and other occupants of car 201 then proceeded in haste down Park Avenue, across 42nd Street and then south on 9th Avenue, and at approximately 9:01 PM, observed Bus 89 proceeding south on 9th Avenue at approximately 22nd Street. A few moments later, the writer observed VALENTINE GUBITCHEV seated on the right side of the bus to the rear of the side exit door, which is located toward the rear of the bus. JUDITH COPLON was observed seated on the left side of the bus across the aisle and several seats forward of GUBITCHEV. She was approximately in the middle of the bus and was looking straight forward.

Bus 89 was sparsely populated and did not appear to have more than a half-dozen passengers at that time.

At approximately 9:04 PM, the bus arrived at 14th Street and 9th Avenue, at which point GUBITCHEV could be seen standing at the exit door. Simultaneously, a message was received from car 194 that he had arrived on the scene and had the bus under observation. The writer and other occupants of car 201 observed COPLON and GUBITCHEV alight from the bus at the bus stop on northwest corner of 14th Street and 9th Avenue. This area was then practically deserted, it being in the wholesale produce area, where, at that hour of the night there is no activity.

9th Avenue, going south, ends at 14th Street and its continuation on the south side of 14th Street is Greenwich Street. Hudson Street, going south starts at a triangular intersection of Greenwich and 14th Streets. Bus 89 left the above-mentioned corner of 14th Street and 9th Avenue and proceeded south down Hudson Street. The writer and occupants of car 201 observed subjects standing on the corner and looking all around the neighborhood, and proceeded directly across 14th Street in order to take up a position in a dimly lighted block between 14th and 13th Streets on Greenwich Street. Upon entering this street, a policeman blew his whistle and indicated that he desired the car recognize his beckoning inasmuch as it appeared that we had gone into a one-way street. At about this time, the subjects were observed crossing 14th Street to the southwest corner of the intersection where they stood for several minutes looking about in every direction, and obviously eyeing the Bureau car 201.

Car 201 then proceeded to the end of the block and made a U-turn at 13th and Greenwich Streets, and pulled up behind a truck in order to get some cover while observing the subjects. After watching the subjects scrutinizing the area for several minutes, they were observed crossing the intersection by walking east to the southeast corner of 14th Street and Hudson Street. Here again they stood for several minutes, looking about in all directions and again apparently were taking cognizance of Bureau car 201. The writer observed that JUDITH COPLON was placed in one of the Bureau cars with an agent on either side of her in the rear of the automobile and went directly to GUBITCHEV, who was then being searched by Agents GRANVILLE and EDWARD MC CARTHY in the presence of SAC EDWARD SCHEIDT. The writer, following the apprehension, followed the cars in which the subjects were brought, to the United States Court House.

RE: VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV AND
JUDITH A. COPLON SURVEILLANCE,
March 4, 1949

The following memorandum supplements the memorandum of SA Daniel F. Garde, dated March 7, 1949, in the above case.

At approximately 9:04 PM on March 4, 1949, the writer observed GUBITCHEV and COPLON leaving Bus #89 at the northwest corner of 14th Street and 9th Avenue. They crossed the intersection to the southwest corner together and proceeded from there to the southeast corner and then started walking east on the south side of 14th Street. GUBITCHEV frequently turned completely around to check for surveillances. They continued walking along 14th Street to the southwest corner of 8th Avenue and 14th Street, where they entered a subway station together.

Both subjects entered a BMT train which was waiting at the station. This is the starting point of the Canarsie BMT Line. When they entered the train, there were no other persons on the train. This was at about 9:08 PM. The train did not leave the station until approximately 9:15 PM. By that time a few other passengers had boarded the train.

At the Union Square stop, a crowd of passengers boarded the train and it was possible for the agent then to enter the same car in which the subjects were riding. It was then observed that COPLON and GUBITCHEV were occupying separate seats but were sitting adjacent to each other. COPLON faced west and GUBITCHEV faced south.

At the next stop, the Third Avenue Station, subjects timed their exit just as the doors of the car were closing. The agent was unable to continue the surveillance without an indiscretion.

At the following Second Avenue stop, the writer placed a call on land-line to SA Kennedy, advising him of the location of the subjects.

The writer arrived at the scene of the apprehension shortly after it was initiated.

The writer is in a position to testify that COPLON and GUBITCHEV were together from the time they left the bus at 14th Street until they left the BMT subway at Third Avenue and 14th Street.

At approximately 9:30 PM, March 4, 1949, I was cruising along East 15th Street, New York City, between Second and Third Avenues, in car #200. SA EDWARD McCARTHY was with me. At 9:34 PM, McCARTHY saw COPLON and GUBICHEV together on the southeast corner of 15th Street and Third Avenue.

Their location was immediately broadcast to headquarters.

I drove car #200 across Third Avenue on 15th Street and stopped a short distance from the intersection, and SA McCARTHY got out.

I then backed car #200 into Third Avenue and headed north. Just short of 16th Street on the east side of Third Avenue I observed SAC SCHEIDT, SA'S GRANVILLE, CAREY and McCARTHY placing both subjects under arrest. I stopped car #200 at the scene, and subject COPLON was escorted into the rear seat by SA McCARTHY. SA T. S. MILLER got into the rear seat and SA B. WILSON joined me in the front seat.

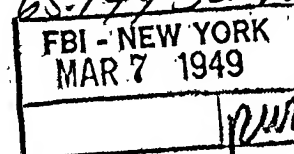

I drove car #200 into the basement garage of the courthouse and subject COPLON and escorting agents got out and left the basement.

I had no conversation with COPLON and I did not hear her make any statements.

At 9:33 p.m. I was about ten yards behind GUBITCHEV and COPLON who were together and walking north on Third Avenue between 15th and 16th Streets. I had just left Car 220.

At about 9:35 p.m. SAC SCHEIDT and SA GRANVILLE left Car 220 in front of me and made the arrest of the subjects.

I immediately moved up and while they were still in their original position I took GUBITCHEV by the arm from the rear. Then he was brought out by Car 220 which was parked abreast. While SA GRANVILLE searched GUBITCHEV'S pockets I held his right arm and also patted him from the waist down for possible arms. I removed nothing.

In approximately five minutes the search was finished and with SA J. F. MALLEY holding GUBITCHEV'S left arm and I holding his right arm, he was placed in the rear seat of Car 220.

With SA GRANVILLE driving and SAC SCHEIDT in the front seat, the car proceeded immediately to the office.

GUBITCHEV was then brought to complaint room C on the 6th floor. This was approximately 9:50 p.m.. GUBITCHEV was placed in a chair.

During the ride to the office and the detention by the author, GUBITCHEV was asked no questions and never spoke except when he was told to get in the car and replied, "O.K." At all times his arms were held securely by SA MALLEY and the writer. He made no suspicious motions whatever and cooperated in all movements necessary to his transportation.

GUBITCHEV was then turned over to SA MC ANDREWS and SA ROBERT WIRTH.

At about 9:34 P. M., Special Agent M. J. McDONAGH and I were in Car 200 cruising east on 15th Street between 2nd and 3rd Avenues, New York City. At 9:35 P. M., as we approached the corner of 3rd Avenue and 15th Street, JUDITH COPLON and VALENTIN A. GUBITCHEV were observed on the southeast corner of 15th Street and 3rd Avenue. This information was broadcast on the radio.

The car proceeded across 3rd Avenue and I alighted from the car and proceeded to surveil COPLON and GUBITCHEV on foot. COPLON and GUBITCHEV were walking together on the east side of 3rd Avenue, north from 15th Street. At about 9:36 P. M., when COPLON and GUBITCHEV were about midway between 15th and 16th Streets on 3rd Avenue, a Bureau automobile stopped and the apprehension of COPLON and GUBITCHEV was made by Special Agent in Charge SCHEIDT and Special Agent GRANVILLE.

I immediately ran across 3rd Avenue to assist. I moved towards GUBITCHEV, but was directed by Special Agent in Charge SCHEIDT to COPLON. I escorted COPLON to Car 200 which was stopped in the middle of 3rd Avenue and assisted her to enter the rear seat of Car 200. I entered the rear seat of Car 200 and sat beside COPLON. COPLON still retained possession of her handbag. I reached over and took the handbag from her. I opened the handbag and noted that it contained a small package of Kleenex, a red leather wallet, a paper envelope similar to the type for women's hosiery, and other material. At this time, Special Agent T. S. MILLER was also seated in the rear seat of Car 200 on the other side of COPLON. The handbag was closed with all contents as when it had been opened. Special AGENTS M. J. McDONAGH and BREWER WILSON were in the front seat of Car 200.

At this time, approximately 9:40 P. M., Car 200 proceeded to the New York Office. When the car was at 4th Avenue and 12th Street, COPLON requested a kleenex. The handbag was opened and COPLON attempted to pick a Kleenex from the package. She was unable to do so with her glove on. COPLON removed her left glove and picked out a piece of Kleenex and wiped her nose. The handbag was again shut.

When the car was at 8th Street and 4th Avenue, it was noticed that COPLON was crunching something in her mouth. She was asked if she was eating. COPLON replied in the affirmative and said it was a "life-saver." I requested to see it and she spit a "life-saver" into my hand.

At about 9:50 P.M., Car 200 was driven to the basement garage of the U. S. Court House and COPLON was escorted to the 6th Floor of the building. She was escorted to the nurse's office on the 6th Floor, accompanied by Special Agents T. S. MILLER, BREWER WILSON, Miss SAPPHO MANOS, Miss CHARA, and myself. In the nurse's office, I placed the handbag on the table. About 9:55 P.M., the handbag was opened by Special Agent T. S. MILLER and the contents were emptied on the table. He opened a flat piece of plain paper which was sealed with scotch tape. Inside of this piece of paper, was another sheet of note paper which had handwriting on both sides. After reading the handwriting aloud, Special Agent MILLER placed the paper in a cellophane envelope with another piece of paper which I identified. The cellophane envelope was stapled. Special Agent MILLER then opened the paper envelope similar to the type used for women's hosiery. This had a piece of scotch tape binding the flap to the envelope. The envelope contained a number of slips of paper approximately 5" X 7" in size on which there was typewriting.

At this point, approximately 10:00 P.M., I left the room.

From the time of COPLON'S apprehension until I placed the handbag on the table in the nurse's office, the handbag was not opened except as noted above in this memorandum. At all times, her handbag was carried by me in her immediate presence.

Reference is made to the teletype of the New York Office dated February 25, 1949. The personnel file of the Department of Justice on Shirley Gladys Aronow has been reviewed and reflects the following information.

Miss Aronow filed an application on June 10, 1943 giving her legal residence as 666 West End Avenue, New York City, telephone, Schuyler 4-3272. Her application reflects her father's name as David Aronow who was born in Russia and her mother's maiden name as Rae Kamalet who was born in the United States. Shirley Aronow was appointed on June 16, 1943 as an expert in the Anti-Trust Division at New York City. This appointment was effective on June 17, 1943 at which time she took an oath of office. She was actually employed in the Economic Warfare Section at a salary of $2,000 per annum. An efficiency report dated March 31, 1945 was under a rating by Robert Wohlforth.

Miss Aronow was recommended for a transfer from the Economic Warfare Section of the War Division of the Department of Justice on June 7, 1945 to employment in the Anti-Trust Division at $2,600 per annum. The reason for the transfer, according to a communication in the personnel file, was that the New York Office of the Economic Warfare Section was being closed. The transfer was effective on July 1, 1945. Miss Aronow's position was abolished in a letter to her dated March 14, 1946 because of a reduction in personnel. The date of her termination is given as April 15, 1946.

There is no information in the Bureau's files which can be identified with David Aronow with the possible exception of the reference concerning a David Aronow who was a member of INO Lodge of December, 1946. There are no references on Dr. Sidney Martin Samis or on Shirley Samis. The only reference on Shirley Gladys Aronow appearing in the Bureau's files is the Departmental applicant investigation.

The personnel file of the Department of Justice relative to Sarah Becker who is a contact of Coplom has been reviewed. This reflects that she was born on April 29, 1911 in Milwaukee Wisconsin. She filed an application on November 5, 1942 in which she listed her father as Abraham Becker, born in Kaunas, Lithuania, and her mother's maiden name as Anna Zak, born in Grenshek, Lithuania. She listed the following relatives in Government service:

cc - Washington Field

65-14722-133
J

Major Samuel Becker, blood brother, Ambassador Hotel,
Chicago, Illinois, Ordnance Explosive and Safety Branch

A. Harry Becker, blood brother, St. Clair Hotel, Chicago, Illinois, Attorney for the FCC

Robert Charusich, cousin, 3359 North Humboldt Avenue, Milwaukee,
Wisconsin, United States Mailman

Sarah Becker attended the University of Wisconsin from September, 1927 to June, 1934, receiving her B.S. in 1935. She was appointed as an expert in the Anti-Trust Division, Department of Justice on November 19, 1942 at a salary of $2400 per annum, payable from the working fund of the Board of Economic Warfare. Her official headquarters at the time of her appointment was given as Chicago but was immediately changed to Washington, D. C. The appointment was effective on January 11, 1943. She was transferred to the Economic Warfare Section in New York City on September 14, 1943. Her efficiency reports as of March 31, 1944 and March 31, 1945 were under a rating by Robert Wohlforth. She was transferred to the Anti-Trust Division of the Department of Justice on June 12, 1945 on the grounds that the New York Office of the Economic Warfare Section was being closed. This transfer was effective on July 1, 1945. She was separated from work in the Anti-Trust Division on April 15, 1946. At that time her address was 4500 Kansas Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

In connection with the above references to Sarah Becker's two brothers whom she terms as blood brothers, it is to be noted that information appearing in her personnel file reflects that her parents were naturalized in the United States in 1906. There is no indication that either of them is deceased or that she has any step-parents. Information has been received from Departmental officials to the effect that the Economic Warfare Section of the War Division of the Department of Justice went out of existence as of December 28, 1945. However, it is apparent from the personnel files of the two persons referred to above that the New York Office of the Economic Warfare Section closed during June of 1945. This is also substantiated by the information obtained from Mr. William Van Allen of the Anti-Trust Division in New York City who advised that this section in New York City closed as of June 30, 1945.

at 5:35 PM, on March 4, 1949, JUDITH COPLON was observed on the lower level of Pennsylvania Station at the head of the escalator which leads from platform 11 of the station.

The writer, together with Miss CATHERINE CONDON, observed COPLON walk left on the lower level apparently in search of a locker in which to check the small red colored hand-case of the vanity type which she was carrying. She placed this hand-case in locker #1035 located almost in front of the Savarin Cafe on the lower level of Pennsylvania Station.

COPLON then walked upstairs in the station, through the north waiting room and went up the escalator leading to the arcade which runs to the 7th Avenue exit of Pennsylvania Station. It was noted that while ascending in the escalator COPLON looked back.

COPLON walked through the arcade to the 7th Avenue exit meanwhile looking in one of the shops of the arcade. On leaving the station at 7th Avenue she walked north on 7th Avenue to 34th Street, crossed 7th Avenue to the east side of 7th Avenue and continued walking to 37th Street and 7th Avenue. At the intersection of 37th Street and 7th Avenue she turned around and retraced her steps to 491 7th Avenue entering Weitzman's Bar at that address. She entered Weitzman's about 5:45 PM.

At 5:55 PM, COPLON left Weitzman's Bar, crossed 7th Avenue to the west side of the Avenue and walked north on 7th Avenue to 42nd Street. She stopped several times to look in shop windows. At 42nd Street and 7th Avenue she walked west along the south side of 42nd Street to Eighth Avenue. She crossed 8th Avenue to the west side and entered the Independent-8th Avenue subway at the entrance on the south west corner of 42nd Street and 8th Avenue. COPLON after walking to the downtown turnstiles turned and went to the uptown turnstiles where she entered and went down to the northbound platform. It was observed that COPLON turned and looked up the stairway after she had reached the platform but apparently did not notice agents who were on the platform with her.

About 6:10 PM, COPLON boarded a northbound 8th Avenue "A" express. To this point COPLON was being surveilled by Miss CATHERINE CONDON, Special Agents J. F. Malley, Brewer Wilson and the writer. When COPLON boarded the train Miss CONDON dropped off the surveillance.

COPLON left the train at the 181st Street Station and walked upstairs to the mezzanine or ramp which is above the tracks and between the platforms of the station. The writer did not immediately follow COPLON up to the ramp but remained on the northbound platform of the station for a short period. When the writer reached the ramp COPLON was observed walking along the ramp toward the northerly exit of the station. During her walk along the ramp to this exit she looked back. Agents were then with other passengers proceeding to south exit. Surveillance was discontinued as COPLON was the only person observed proceeding along the ramp toward the northerly exit. This was apparently 6:35 PM. The subject's whereabouts were telephonically furnished the office.

Agents Malley, Wilson and the writer then proceeded to 190th Street and Broadway and joined Agents T.S. Miller and J.P. Doley in Car 194. At about 7:15 PM, COPLON was observed walking up and down the east side of Broadway between 192nd Street and 191st Street. Shortly thereafter the writer left Car 194 and joined Agent M. J. McDonagh in Car 200. Car 200 was parked in the vicinity of 187th Street and Broadway.

At approximately 7:30 PM, COPLON was observed on the east side of Broadway and 187th Street walking south. GUBITCHEV was observed at 187th Street and Broadway on the west side of Broadway about 7:48 PM. GUBITCHEV proceeded south on Broadway. At 7:53 PM, COPLON was observed passing the intersection of 187th Street and Broadway walking north on the west side of Broadway at 7:54 PM. GUBITCHEV was observed passing the intersection of 187th Street and Broadway also walking north on the west side of Broadway behind COPLON.

No further pertinent activity was observed by the writer until approximately 9:35 PM when COPLON and GUBITCHEV were observed on the south east corner of 3rd Avenue and 15th Street and the office notified by radio. The writer surveilled COPLON and GUBITCHEV to midway in the block of 3rd Avenue between 15th and 16th Streets where the apprehension of the subjects was effected.

On Friday, March 4, 1949, the writer drove radio car 194 accompanied by SA T. SCOTT MILLER, JR. This car was in position at 5:00 PM at 190th Street and the east side of Broadway, New York City, just south of the Broadway IRT subway entrance. At 6:52 PM JUDITH COPLON was seen walking north on the west side of Broadway at 190th Street. She was still in view of the Agents in car 194 until she reached 192nd Street about 6:58 PM. Car 194 advised Car 195 and [] of the location of COPLON at 6:55 PM.

At 7:00 PM COPLON was seen by Agents in Car 194 walking south on the east side of Broadway toward 191st Street. She turned around and walked back toward 193rd Street. [] at 7:02 PM was advised COPLON was returning north. At 7:10 PM COPLON was seen walking south on the east side of Broadway toward 191st Street. She turned around and walked back toward 193rd Street. [] was again advised. At 7:13 PM COPLON was seen on the east side of Broadway walking south to 191st Street. At 7:14 PM she was seen walking back and forth on the east side of Broadway and she then walked in the direction of 193rd Street.

At 7:29 PM COPLON was seen on the east side of Broadway walking south. She passed Car 194 at 7:30 PM and continued walking south toward 190th Street. Car 200 was advised of COPLON'S movements.

At 7:48 PM Car 194 now carrying SAS JOHN F. MALLEY, BREWER WILSON, MILLER and DALEY tailed a southbound Broadway bus at 191st Street after being advised that VALENTIN A. GUBITCHEV had boarded this bus at 192nd Street. GUBITCHEV was observed leaving this bus at 187th Street and he started walking south. At 7:51 PM COPLON was seen on the west side of Broadway proceeding north at 186th Street. AGENTS MILLER, WILSON and MALLEY left the car and surveilled COPLON. WFBV was advised.

At 8:00 PM the writer saw COPLON coming from the west side of Broadway to the east side where she entered the 191st Street entrance of the Broadway subway. WFBV was advised that J. R. MURPHY was following her. SA MILLER then gave an accounting of both subjects' actions to WFBV from Car 194. Between eight and nine PM, Car 194 went to Dyckman Street and SAS MILLER and STEPHEN A. McGARR searched the restaurants throughout the neighborhood, particularly the DE LUXE Italian Restaurant. Other restaurants on Nagle Avenue were searched by SA MILLER. Car 194 then returned to 191st Street and Broadway and took its original position. Advice was received that both subjects were riding on a south bound bus on 9th Avenue at 42nd Street.

Car 194 proceeded down the west side highway to 17th Street and 9th Avenue where a flat tire occurred. Agents MILLER, WILSON and MALLEY left the car and proceeded south on foot to 14th Street where the last advice received.

disclosed that the subjects were on 14th Street. Car 194 had the flat tire replaced in a few minutes. At 9:25 PM Car 194 proceeded east on 14th Street to Avenue A looking for the Subjects and Agents. At Avenue A Car 194 proceeded west to Third Avenue and 15th Street. Re: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

At 5:35 p.m. on March 4, 1949, subject JUDITH COPLON was observed by the writer leaving Pennsylvania Station. At this time, the writer was accompanied by Agents BREWER WILSON and EDWARD F. MC CARTHY and by Steno KAY CONDON. The writer, in the company of the three persons mentioned above, surveilled MISS COPLON to Weitzman's Restaurant, 491 Seventh Avenue, which she entered at approximately 5:46 p.m. During this period it was noted that COPLON frequently glanced back over her shoulder as if to check for a possible surveillance. When approaching Weitzman's Restaurant, it was noted that COPLON walked past the restaurant to 37th Street, then turned, and retraced her steps to the restaurant which is located four or five doors south of 37th Street. It was also noted that before leaving Penn Station the subject placed the vanity case which she had brought with her in a locker located on the lower level of Penn Station near the entrance to the Savarin Restaurant.

At approximately 5:55 p.m., COPLON left the restaurant and proceeded on foot to the Independent Subway at Eighth Avenue and 42nd Street. It was noted that she no longer appeared to be looking back following her departure from the restaurant. It is further pointed out that the Eighth Avenue Subway, which she entered at 42nd Street and Eighth Avenue, was available to her at Penn Station.

COPLON boarded an Uptown A Train at approximately 6:10 p.m. At this point, Steno KAY CONDON dropped off the surveillance which was continued by Agents WILSON, MC CARTHY and the writer.

COPLON left the train at the 181st Street stop on the Independent line. She went up the stairs and proceeded south along the subway ramp leading to the 181st Street exit. After walking a part of the distance, she turned and retraced her steps, walking toward the northernmost subway exit at the opposite end of the long ramp. At this point, pursuant to office instructions, the surveillance was discontinued by Agents WILSON, MC CARTHY and the writer, and the subject's location at that time was telephonically furnished the office.

MEMO:

It was the opinion of the writer and the two other Agents mentioned above that the subject was again checking for a possible surveillance at 181st Street but that there was no indication at any time that she had made the surveilling Agents.

After dropping the surveillance, Agents WILSON, MC CARTHY and the writer proceeded to Car #194, which was parked at 190th Street and Broadway, and joined Agents T. SCOTT MILLER and JOHN P. DALEY.

At 7:13 p.m., COPLON was observed by all Agents in Car #194 as she walked slowly back and forth between 192nd and 190th Streets on the east side of Broadway, ultimately passing out of the sight of the Agents in Car #194.

At approximately 7:20 p.m., the writer entered the IRT Subway Tunnel at 190th Street and Broadway, which leads to the 191st Street stop of the IRT Subway. About half way down this long tunnel, the writer observed VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV coming toward him, walking toward the Broadway exit from the tunnel. No effort was made to surveil GUBITCHEV but the writer continued through the tunnel to the subway entrance where he telephonically advised the Radio Room of GUBITCHEV'S whereabouts. After waiting about five minutes, the writer returned through the subway tunnel to Broadway and rejoined Agents DALEY, MILLER and WILSON in Car #194.

At approximately 7:45 p.m., the occupants of Car #194 were advised that GUBITCHEV had boarded the south-bound Broadway bus at 192nd Street. Car #194 surveilled this bus as it passed them on Broadway and observed GUBITCHEV alighting from the bus at the first stop south of 190th Street. Thereafter, GUBITCHEV continued walking south along the west side of Broadway. Car #194 proceeded past the subject to 185th Street and Broadway, where subject COPLON was observed walking north on the west side of Broadway toward GUBITCHEV, who was approaching from the opposite direction as indicated above.

The writer left Car #194 at this point to observe the impending meeting between the two subjects. From a distance of approximately fifty feet, concealed behind the automobiles parked on the west side of Broadway, it was possible for the writer to clearly view the two subjects as they approached from opposite directions on Broadway, meeting at a point between 185th and 186th Streets. It was observed that subject GUBITCHEV stopped as COPLON approached and turned toward her. COPLON slowed down slightly but did not stop. As she passed GUBITCHEV she looked back at him over her left shoulder and continued walking north. To the writer, it appeared that GUBITCHEV seemed surprised that COPLON did not stop. He remained standing, looking after COPLON apparently undecided which way to go. After a minute or two, he started walking at a fast rate after COPLON and appeared to be overtaking her.

In view of the fact that the two subjects were already under surveillance by several other Agents, the writer remained in the bus stop at 185th Street and Broadway on the east side of the street until the two subjects had walked a distance of about two blocks north on Broadway. The writer then proceeded after them, walking on the east side of Broadway and reaching the vicinity of 190th Street in time to see subject COPLON turn west on 190th Street and walk up the hill and out of sight. At this point, the time was approximately 7:57 p.m. GUBITCHEV was not in sight at this time.

About two minutes later, subject COPLON was observed returning to Broadway, walking east along the west side of 190th Street. She crossed 190th Street and entered the IRT tunnel at that location. At this point, the writer was joined by Agents WILSON and JOHN R. MURPHY, who had had COPLON under surveillance from different points. In view of the fact that Agent WILSON and the writer had surveilled COPLON from Penn Station to this area, it was agreed among the three Agents that MURPHY should undertake the surveillance of COPLON at this time. Agents WILSON and the writer then proceeded to Car #194, where they joined Agents MILLER and DALEY.

The writer remained in Car #194 during the next hour and did not participate in any activity material to the surveillance until receiving word over the air at approximately 9:00 o'clock that the two subjects had been located on a Ninth Avenue bus proceeding south from 42nd Street. Car #194 thereupon proceeded to the vicinity of 14th Street and Ninth Avenue, where they joined Agents MARTIN J. MC GUINN and DANIEL F. GARDE in Car #201.

MEMO:

The writer was in Car #201 with Agents MC GUINN, GARDE, T. S. MILLER and WILSON in the vicinity of 14th Street and First Avenue when word was received over the air at approximately 9:33 p.m. that the two subjects had been located at 15th Street and Third Avenue. Car #201 proceeded to this point and the writer participated in the apprehension of the two subjects and assisted in transporting subject GUBITCHEV to the office.

Re: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

On the evening of March 4, 1949, the writer was assigned to the surveillance of the above named subject in the vicinity of 190th and Broadway.

She was first seen at about 6:48 P.M. as she walked north on Broadway on the west side of the street between 187th and 189th Streets. COPLON continued walking until she reached a luncheonette at 4451 Broadway between 190th and 192nd Streets, which place she entered at about 6:53 P.M. and where she remained for about 5 minutes. While there, COPLON appeared to be engaged in conversation with the woman behind the counter, and may have been drinking something.

After leaving 4451 Broadway, COPLON walked to 192nd Street and Broadway where she crossed to the east side of the street, again walked north and took a position on the southeast corner of 193rd and Broadway in front of the Terrace Drug Store, 4500 Broadway. After about 5 minutes of waiting COPLON paced the block between 193rd Street and Fairview Avenue, returning to her position at 193rd Street. (At this point, the writer rejoined Bureau car #200 which was parked on 187th Street west of Broadway).

Again, at about 7:32 P.M. COPLON was seen by the writer, walking south on Broadway near 187th Street, this time on the east side of Broadway. She walked to 181st Street and Broadway, crossing to the southwest corner, where she entered a Bickford's Restaurant at approximately 7:41 P.M. COPLON returned to the street at 7:45 P.M. and began walking north on Broadway on the west side of the street.

At about 7:52 P.M. COPLON was observed to pass without apparent recognition subject GUBITCHEV. This meeting occurred between 185th and 186th Streets. GUBITCHEV, who had been walking south on the west side of Broadway, stopped after COPLON passed, looking after her as she continued walking north. Just after passing GUBITCHEV, COPLON looked back at him over her shoulder, but it did not appear that words were spoken by either. Neither did anything pass between them.

JUDITH COPLON was next observed by the writer as she walked east on 190th Street toward Broadway. COPLON had walked up this slight incline (west 190th Street) to Bennett Avenue, a short block away, immediately doubled back toward Broadway, which action at that point afforded her an excellent opportunity to determine whether she was under surveillance.

COPLON proceeded, without hesitation, to the 191st Street tunnel entrance to the I.R.T. Subway located just south of 191st Street and Broadway, entering at about 8:01 P.M.

Due to prevailing circumstances at the time, the writer was alone on the surveillance of COPLON from 8:01 to 8:53 P.M.

COPLON walked the entire length of the tunnel, which measures about 2½ blocks, at a moderate pace, casually glancing over her shoulder on one occasion, as she neared the east or subway end. COPLON went directly to the downtown platform where she read a magazine while waiting for the train which arrived after a 5-7 minute wait. As she entered the subway train, COPLON glanced casually to her left, possibly in an effort to detect a surveillance. However, during the entire subway trip, COPLON read the magazine, and was never noticed professing any interest in the people around her on the train.

At the Times Square stop, COPLON left the train, and exited to the street on 42nd Street just west of 7th Avenue. Upon reaching the northwest corner of 42nd Street and 7th Avenue, COPLON stood hesitatingly as if undecided as to the direction she would proceed. She turned, and strolled to a position on 7th Avenue at 42nd Street in front of a United Cigar Store, where she stood rather nonchalantly apparently awaiting the arrival of another person. After about a minute, however, COPLON left the corner, walked north on 7th Avenue to a point near 43rd Street, doubling back rather abruptly and scanning the faces of persons behind her in an obvious attempt to uncover a surveillance. She then returned to 7th Avenue and 42nd Street where she resumed her position at the cigar store.

About 10 minutes later, or at approximately 8:45 P.M., COPLON began walking west on 42nd Street on the west side of the street at a moderately fast rate. Just after she started this maneuver, it was observed that she was followed by subject GUBITCHEV who was a discreet 25 feet directly behind her. In the first block between 7th and 8th Avenues, which is well lighted, GUBITCHEV gave two deliberate, studied looks at the persons behind him and COPLON. On the first occasion, he practically stopped as he made the observation, while on the second occasion he merely glanced furtively over his shoulder. Again after crossing 8th Avenue, GUBITCHEV again checked for a surveillance. Since the block between 8th and 9th Avenues on 42nd Streets is particularly dark, it is possible GUBITCHEV made other efforts to detect observation.

At any rate, GUBITCHEV passed COPLON as they neared 9th Avenue, and seeing a waiting southbound bus on 9th Avenue, he began running for it. When she saw this, COPLON followed suit boarding the bus immediately behind GUBITCHEV. The bus pulled away almost immediately after COPLON entered it. This occurrence took place at about 8:53 P.M.

Following this, the writer discontinued the surveillance, notifying the New York Office of the bus number and the latest developments in the surveillance.

Re: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

At 5:35 P.M., March 4, 1949, JUDITH COPLON was observed to take the escalator from Track #11 to the mezzanine floor of Pennsylvania Station. It is noted Train #176 arrived from Washington, D. C. on Track #11.

On leaving the escalator, COPLON walked about fifteen to twenty feet to the south and then she turned around, retraced her steps and walked north to the lockers located near the SAVARIN RESTAURANT on the mezzanine floor. After checking a red imitation alligator vanity type suitcase in Locker #1035, she walked up the steps on the north end of the station to the upper level. After walking ^{through} ~~toward~~ the waiting room on the north of the station, COPLON took the escalator to the arcade on the east side of Pennsylvania Station and went out ^{through} ~~directly~~ to the 7th Avenue exit.

At this point, subject was being surveilled by SA JOHN F. MALLEY, E. F. MCCARTHY and Steno CATHERINE CONDON, who accompanied the writer.

COPLON walked north on the west side of 7th Avenue to the north-west corner of 7th Avenue and 34th Street. She then crossed to the north-east corner of 7th Avenue and 34th Street and continued north to the south-west ^{east} corner of 37th Street and 7th Avenue, at which point she turned around, retraced her steps and walked to the WEITZMAN RESTAURANT, 491 7th Avenue, between 36th and 37th Streets, which she entered at about 5:45 P.M. She was observed to sit at the bar in this restaurant.

CATHERINE CONDON was instructed to call the office to advise them of our location. It is noted that after leaving the escalator in Pennsylvania Station until the time she entered the restaurant, COPLON looked back on a few occasions, possibly for the purpose of checking for a surveillance.

At approximately 5:55 P.M., COPLON left the above restaurant, walked to 37th Street, crossed to the southwest corner of 37th Street and 7th Avenue and then walked north to the northwest corner of 42nd Street and 7th Avenue. Thereafter she proceeded along the south side of 42nd Street to 8th Avenue and entered the subway station on the southwest corner of 42nd Street and 8th Avenue. After walking down the steps to the station, COPLON walked around the change booth and in a southerly direction to the downtown turn-stile. It appeared that she was lost in the station, inasmuch as after walking north, she stopped a man and asked him a question, apparently directions. COPLON then walked toward the turn-stiles leading to the uptown trains and boarded an 8th Avenue Washington Heights express at about 6:10 P.M.

It is noted that from the time COPLON left the WEITZMAN RESTAURANT until she boarded the 8th Avenue subway, she did not appear to check for surveillance. It is also noted she stopped to look in three or four store windows along the way.

As Agents MCCARTHY, MALLEY and the writer had boarded the train with COPLON, CATHERINE CONDON was advised to advise the office of our location and to return to Pennsylvania Station.

COPLON continued on the 8th Avenue subway to the 181st Street stop. Enroute she read a book which was carried by her. At the 181st Street stop, COPLON got off the subway, walked south and then to the upper level of the station. At the upper level of the station, COPLON walked south for a distance of about fifty feet, toward the 181st Street exit. At this point, she turned around and walked in a northerly direction and walked toward the northernmost subway exit ~~at the north end of~~ the subway station, which was a distance of almost three blocks.

It is noted that all of the persons who got off the subway train at this stop left the station at the 181st Street exit with the exception of COPLON. At this point the surveillance was discontinued by Agents MALLEY, MCCARTHY and the writer and the subject's location was telephonically furnished the office. This was about 6:31 P.M.

Agents MALLEY, MCCARTHY and the writer then joined SAS J. P. DALY and T. S. MILLER in Car 194, which was parked at 190th Street and Broadway. At about 7:13 P.M., COPLON was observed walking between 192nd Street and 190th Street on Broadway in a southerly direction. Shortly she turned around and walked north on Broadway. At about 7:29 P.M., COPLON was observed to walk south on the east side of Broadway, past 190th Street and continued south out of sight.

At approximately 7:47 P.M., Car 194 received a message that GUBITCHEV had boarded a south bound bus at 192nd Street and Broadway and immediately thereafter, ^{we} surveilled the bus, which was going in a southerly direction.

MEMO

At the first bus stop south of 190th Street, GUBITCHEV left the bus and walked south on Broadway on the west side of the street. Car 194 passed the subject ^{when} to about 185th Street at which place COPLON was observed to walk north on the west side of Broadway.

Agent MALLEY and the writer then left Car 194 to cover the impending meeting between COPLON and GUBITCHEV. At a point about twenty-five to thirty feet north of 185th Street, GUBITCHEV came face to face with COPLON, stopped and turned toward her. Although COPLON did not stop, she slowed down on meeting GUBITCHEV and they appeared to exchange a few words, although the writer was unable to observe whether anything was passed. COPLON continued walking in a northerly direction on the west side of Broadway. GUBITCHEV ^{past} when ~~next~~ observed by the writer was standing, looking north, toward COPLON while she walked. This was about 7:52 P.M.

COPLON continued walking on the west side of Broadway and after crossing 189th Street, GUBITCHEV was observed to be walking north at a very fast pace behind COPLON and momentarily caught up to her. When he came along side of COPLON, GUBITCHEV walked over next to her and walked immediately beside her for about five or six steps, appearing to have exchanged a few words with her. It is not believed that anything passed between them at this time. This was about 7:55 P.M.

Thereafter, GUBITCHEV walked at a very fast pace, walking ahead of COPLON and continued north on Broadway. As COPLON neared the corner of 190th Street and Broadway, the writer was joined by SA MARTIN CAREY.

On reaching 190th Street and Broadway, it being noted GUBITCHEV was a considerable distance north of 190th Street, COPLON turned west and walked on the south side of 190th Street to Bennett Avenue, which is one block west of Broadway. When she reached Bennett Avenue, COPLON turned around and retraced her steps, walking on the south side of 190th Street toward Broadway.

The writer and SA CAREY, who had walked west on the north side of 190th Street, continued to Bennett Avenue and for a short distance south of 190th Street on Bennett Avenue. Shortly thereafter, the writer returned to 190th Street and Broadway, joined SA J. F. MALLEY and J. R. MURPHY and observed COPLON walking east in a tunnel leading to the IRT station. It is noted COPLON was the only person walking in the tunnel at this time.

It was decided by the above agents that MURPHY should continue the surveillance on COPLON and that Agent MALLEY and the writer should drop off for security reasons due to the fact the latter two had surveilled COPLON from Pennsylvania Station to this area, as well as in this area.

Agent MALLEY and the writer then joined SAS MILLER and DALY in Car 194, located at 190th Street and Broadway. At about 8:55 P.M., all cars were advised that COPLON and GUBITCHEV had boarded a bus proceeding south on 42nd Street and 9th Avenue. Agents in Car 194 proceeded to the vicinity of 15th Street and 9th Avenue and due to a flat tire on Car 194, Agents MALLEY, MILLER and the writer joined Car 201, which was then occupied by SAS McGUINN and GARDE.

At about 9:33 P.M., a message was received that the two subjects had been located at 15th Street and 3rd Avenue, at which time Car 201 proceeded directly to that point and the writer participated in the apprehension of the two subjects and assisted in transporting JUDITH COPLON to this office.

RE: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

At approximately 5:35 pm on March 4, 1949, JUDITH COPLON was observed by the writer on the lower level of Pennsylvania Station leaving Track #11 via the escalator. She proceeded to the lockers located near the Savarin Cafe and checked her vanity-size case in locker #1035. She then went upstairs to the upper level of Penn Station, walked through the waiting room to the main lobby, and got on the "up" escalator. It is noted that while COPLON was on the escalator, she was observed looking around her, possibly checking for a surveillance.

COPLON thereafter proceeded to walk through the arcade which leads to Seventh Avenue. While walking through the arcade, she was observed looking in a store window. SA Brewer Wilson and the writer surveilled COPLON walking north on the west side of Seventh Avenue. She proceeded to the northwest corner of 34th Street and Seventh Avenue, where she crossed Seventh Avenue to the northeast corner of 34th Street and Seventh Avenue. COPLON then proceeded north on the east side of Seventh Avenue to the southeast corner of 37th Street and Seventh Avenue, at which point she retraced her steps and entered a restaurant at 491 Seventh Avenue, located between 36th and 37th Streets. This was at approximately 5:45 pm.

At approximately 5:51 pm, the writer, at the request of SA Wilson, called SA Harold V. Kennedy in the radio room at the office and advised him of COPLON's location in the restaurant at the above address. It was also requested of Agent Kennedy that agents be sent to 37th Street and Seventh Avenue.

COPLON was observed leaving the restaurant at about 5:55 pm. She walked to the southeast corner of 37th Street and Seventh Avenue, crossed Seventh Avenue to the southwest corner of 37th Street and Seventh Avenue and proceeded to walk north along the west side of Seventh Avenue to the southwest corner of 42nd Street and Seventh Avenue. While walking in this direction, it was noted by SAs Wilson, J. F. Malley, E. F. McCarthy and the writer that COPLON stopped and looked in the windows of a few stores, possibly trying to detect a surveillance.

COPLON was thereafter surveilled walking west on 42nd Street, to the southwest corner of 42nd Street and Eighth Avenue. She then walked down the stairs of the entrance to the Eighth Avenue Subway to the subway station, walked around the change booth and headed in the direction of the "downtown" turnstiles. She retraced her steps and was observed stopping a man, possibly to ask directions. COPLON was then observed to walk in the direction of the "uptown" turnstiles. COPLON proceeded down the stairs to the uptown subway platform and at approximately 6:10 pm boarded a north-bound Washington Heights, 207th Street Express train.

The writer observed SA Wilson board this train. SA Malley, who was observed on the subway platform prior to the time the train arrived in the station, was not observed on the platform following the train's departure. At this point, the surveillance was discontinued by the writer.

At 6:12 pm, I again called SA Kennedy in the radio room at the office to advise him that COPLON had just boarded an Eighth Avenue north-bound Washington Heights, 207th Street Express train at 42nd Street. I further advised Mr. Kennedy that I had observed Agent Wilson getting on the train; that I presumed that Agent Malley was also on the train inasmuch as I had not observed him on the platform following the departure of the train from the station.

On the afternoon of March 5th, Mr. WHITSON of the Bureau advised that the Washington Field Office is endeavoring to get a search warrant to search COPLON'S residence in Washington. The United States Attorney at Washington requires an oral affidavit from one of the agents who apprehended COPLON and from one of the agents who searched her effects. He will call this office to obtain these oral affidavits.

Mr. WHITSON advised that when making the affidavit concerning the documents recovered from COPLON the agent should restrict himself to the following general statement: "Abstracts of Government documents pertaining to the national security in the custody of the Department of Justice."

I advised Mr. WHITSON that SA Robert R. Granville will furnish the oral affidavit relative to the apprehension and SA T. Scott Miller, Jr., will furnish the affidavit concerning the documents.

On the afternoon of March 5, 1949, Mr. WHITSON of the Bureau advised that the Bureau desires this office to immediately interview ROBERT WOHLFORTH and PAULINE SLAVIN in connection with this case.

3/7. // O'mara carey
While I was speaking later to Assistant Director Ladd I advised him that the agents handling this case have been on their feet since early yesterday morning and consequently we would prefer to handle these interviews the first thing next week. Mr. Ladd advised that it would be satisfactory for these interviews to be conducted on Monday.

With reference to Mr. WHITSON'S call on the affidavits as set out above, Mr. LADD advised that the affidavit prepared for Mr. DELAVIGNE at the Washington Field Office had been too voluminous and too detailed, with particular reference to FBI reports, therefore we should be sure to clear any proposed affidavit with the Bureau before giving it our O.K.

MEMORANDUM

ESPIONAGE R.

Mr. Nichols called today with reference to the Friday night surveillance conducted in this matter, and stated that for reference purposes and so that all the material would be available, he desired that memoranda be obtained by me, or an Agent who could collate the material, from all Agents who participated in the surveillance, these to include all the funny, interesting things that happened; that it should be on an unexpurgated basis and include information that might be regarded as confidential; that he felt before much of this is forgotten it should be recorded in its entirety, for reference purposes; that he felt a magnificent job had been done by the Agents of this office in maintaining the surveillance, and he desired included all the means used by Coplon and Gubitchev to detect and throw off the surveillance.

Mr. Nichols suggested these memoranda be prepared as soon as possible, while it is still fresh in the Agents' minds, and that we include the number of Agents participating during the evening.

At 5:45 pm on March 7, Mr. Leo Laughlin of the Bureau called to ascertain whether JUDITH COPLON was still in custody. Supervisor Granville checked this and advised that she was still at the City House of Detention. Mr. Laughlin was so advised.

At 1:40 pm on March 8, I spoke to Mr. Leo Laughlin to advise him that we are sending the Bureau a teletype indicating that COPLON may make bail about 2:00 pm on March 8. At approximately 1:50 pm, Mr. Laughlin called back to ask whether we were considering putting a surveillance on COPLON when she leaves the House of Detention. I advised him we were not considering such a surveillance inasmuch as COPLON is a public figure and reporters will be trying to contact her. He advised that the purpose of such a surveillance would be to see whom she contacts on her release from the House of Detention. I advised him that her brother, BERTRAM, is constantly in contact with her and is attempting to arrange her release; that she has an attorney and it is not likely that she will attempt to contact any figures involved in this case. Further, that a surveillance under the existing conditions would be very difficult and might well result in embarrassing publicity. I advised that if the Bureau desires us to place a surveillance on her, we will attempt to do so, but it is our judgment that it is not desirable.

ESPIONAGE - R

On the afternoon of March 7, MILTON LEWIS of the "Herald Tribune" called and advised that a rumor was circulating to the effect that JUDITH COPLON was employed by or was an agent of the FBI. He wanted to know if this were true. It is noted that this innuendo appeared in the "Daily Worker" of March 7 and was commented on by the "World Telegram" on March 7 as having come from the "Daily Worker".

It appeared to me desirable to scotch any such rumor. Consequently, I advised Mr. LEWIS strongly that JUDITH COPLON had never been connected in any way with the FBI.

I immediately called Mr. John McGuire of the Bureau to advise him of this call from MILTON LEWIS and of my reply to LEWIS. I informed Mr. McGuire that while we had made no comments on this case prior to this on definite bureau instructions, I did feel that we should refute this rumor rather than allow any doubt to remain in the mind of the reporter; that I thought this was necessary for the protection of the Bureau. Mr. McGuire spoke to Mr. Nichols concerning this and called me back to advise that my reply was satisfactory. I advised Mr. McGuire that this office is continuing to make no comment to any other inquiries from the press.

MEMO

ESPIONAGE - R

On March 8, 1949, I spoke to Mr. Leo Laughlin of the Bureau and advised him that we had the material which we had taken from subject GUBITCHEV photographed, as well as some additional items taken from subject COPLON at the time of their apprehension. I advised him that we thought it advisable to have this material taken down to the Laboratory for examination on the chance that it might contain information not apparent to the agents. Because of the fact that the Soviets might demand the return of these articles taken from GUBITCHEV, we suggested that the items be taken down by agent courier tonight for examination by the Laboratory on March 9th and returned here by courier. Mr. Laughlin advised this would be satisfactory.

PHYSICAL SURVEILLANCES CONDUCTEDJanuary 14, 1949:

(U)

On the above date, the New York Office received information that JUDITH COPLON was scheduled to arrive in New York City at 4:45 p.m. on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Immediate measures were taken to cover her activities in New York City by physical surveillance.

At 4:50 p.m., Train #176, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, arrived at Pennsylvania Station, at which time JUDITH COPLON was identified by Special Agents DUDLEY PAYNE and THOMAS MENDENHALL, of the Washington Field Office, to the following Special Agents of the New York Office: T. SCOTT MILLER, JR.; ROGER W. ROBINSON; JOHN F. MALLEY, JR.; RICHARD T. BRADSKY; RICHARD E. BRENNAN and DANIEL F. GARDE.

COPLON proceeded immediately to the ladies' room on the main level of Pennsylvania Station and remained there from approximately 5:00 p.m. until 5:40 p.m. At this last time, she left and was followed by the above-named New York Agents, with the exception of Agent MALLEY. COPLON purchased a "New York Star" newspaper and proceeded to the lower level of Pennsylvania Station, where she entered the Doubleday Bookstore at 5:44 p.m. She remained there approximately ten minutes, walked across the arcade to the Station Drugstore, where she sat at the counter and ordered something. At 6:02 p.m., COPLON left the drugstore and went to the IRT Subway Station, where she boarded an Uptown Seventh Avenue Broadway Express. At 6:40 p.m., she left the subway train at the 191st Street stop. She took the elevator to the street level and upon emerging from the station turned north on St. Nicholas Avenue and walked to Wadsworth Avenue. There, she turned left and followed Wadsworth Avenue around in a curve to the intersection of 192nd Street, then east on 192nd Street and back to St. Nicholas Avenue, thereby circling the irregularly-shaped block between these streets. She then walked south on St. Nicholas Avenue to 190th Street, where she crossed St. Nicholas Avenue and entered the drugstore on the northeast corner of that intersection. After remaining there a short period of time, she left and walked west on 190th Street to Wadsworth Terrace, turned right and walked north to

Fairview Avenue. COPLON then turned left and walked down the dimly-lighted, winding hill on Fairview Avenue to Broadway. She then turned right (or north) and walked one block to 193 Street, where she stopped and waited on the northeast corner of the intersection of Broadway and 193 Street. She stood there for approximately ten minutes.

Subway Park*

At approximately 7:12 p.m., COPLON was met by a man, who was not known to any of the Agents present, who came from a southerly direction on Broadway. After a brief greeting, they walked together in a northerly direction along Broadway to Nagle Avenue; then along Nagle Avenue to Dyckman Street; then left, or west, on Dyckman Street. The two then proceeded to the Deluxe Restaurant, an Italian restaurant, located at 143 Dyckman Street, New York City. They were observed to sit in a booth on the west side of the restaurant.

At approximately 7:45 p.m., Agent MILLER entered the restaurant and sat in a booth on the opposite side of the restaurant. During this time the two were observed in conversation and it was noted that the man was eating. COPLON was putting nickels in the music box attached to the wall in the booth.

At 8:15 p.m., the two got up, the man paid the check, and they left the restaurant together. The Agents on duty outside the restaurant at that time were Agents WRADSKY, GARDE, MALLFY, ROBINSON and BRENNAN. Agent MILLER did not attempt to leave the restaurant immediately after COPLON and the man.

The two walked west on Dyckman Street to Sherman Avenue, then left on Sherman to Broadway. They then walked south on Broadway, during which time the Agents observed that COPLON was engaged in animated conversation with the man and stopped on several occasions to gesticulate vehemently with a rolled-up newspaper. They crossed to the west side of Broadway and walked along the park edge to the south end of Fort Tryon Park on Broadway, where they stood on the corner for several minutes. The two then walked up to and entered the tunneled footwalk entrance to the 190th Street--Overlook Terrace stop of the Independent Subway. This subway entrance is across the street from Broadway from their point of original contact at 193 Street and Broadway.

From approximately the time that the two entered the subway station, the three Agents who were on the surveillance were Agents MALLEY, HRADSKY and BRENNAN.

The two boarded a Downtown Express Train and sat on the train together, conversing until the train reached the 125th Street stop of the station. Just before the doors closed, the man hurriedly left COPLON on the train, ran across the platform and boarded a waiting Downtown Local Train. The surveillance of COPLON was discontinued in order to surveil the man. The man stayed on the local train until the next stop, which was 116th Street. He got off the train, walked upstairs and proceeded to walk south on Eighth Avenue from 116th Street. He hailed a taxicab bearing New York State tags (1948) 035-652, which he entered and which was driven to 116th Street and Broadway. At this point, the man was observed to get out of the cab and go down the subway entrance there. By the time the agents got in the station, a southbound train was just pulling away and the man was not observed on the platform.

It should be pointed out that the area described above through which COPLON walked from the 191st Street stop of the IRT Subway to 190 Street on Broadway was a very dimly-lighted, residential section of Upper Manhattan and was almost totally deserted.

January 15, 1949:

On the above date, Agents MALLEY and BRENNAN instituted a surveillance in the vicinity of 680 Park Avenue, New York City, which is the building occupied by the U.S.S.R. Delegation to the United Nations.

Shortly after 10:00 a.m., the two Agents observed the man they had seen on the previous evening, as described above, enter the building at 680 Park Avenue. Agents ROBINSON and HRADSKY were immediately sent to join Agents BRENNAN and MALLEY. At 11:35 a.m., this same man left 680 Park Avenue and went to 64 West 108th Street, New York City.

During this time, Agent MILLER was examining photographs of Russian Nationals in the United States and picked out a picture of VALENTINE ALEKSEEVICH GUBITCHEV.

All of the six New York Agents mentioned above, who participated in the surveillance of COPLON on January 14, 1949, can definitely identify the man COPLON contacted on January 14, 1949, as VALENTINE ALEKSEEVICH GUBITCHEV.

February 18, 1949:

On the above date, the New York Office was notified that COPLON again intended spending the week-end in New York, and arrangements were made to cover her activities. The information was that she was to arrive in New York City at 6:00 p.m. on the Pennsylvania Railroad. This train was late and finally arrived at 6:35 p.m. COPLON was observed to get off the train, run up the stairs, during which time she broke the strap on her shoe, and then proceed to a bank of steel lockers, where she checked her suitcase in Locker No. 1207. At this time, she was being surveilled by Special Agents T. SCOTT MILLER, JR., THOMAS J. MC ANDREWS, ROGER W. ROBINSON, MARTIN F. CALEY, ROBERT J. WIRTH, RAYMOND P. WIRTH and Chief Clerk SAPHO MANOS.

After checking her bag, COPLON hurried to the Eighth Avenue Independent Subway Station in Pennsylvania Station, where she caught an Uptown Express Train just as the doors were closing. Agents MILLER, MC ANDREWS, ROBINSON and Chief Clerk MANOS were successful in getting on the train. The car was very crowded and Agent MILLER was immediately behind COPLON. Immediately after the train started, COPLON opened her purse and began adjusting some articles in it, at which time Agent MILLER noted that in one of the compartments of the purse, by itself, was a folded piece of onion skin paper, or possibly two sheets. Typewriting could be observed through the paper. At 7:10 p.m., COPLON left the train at the 190th Street--Overlook Terrace stop. She took the elevator to the surface, being surveilled by Agents MILLER, MC ANDREWS and Miss MANOS. She left the building housing the subway station and entered a deserted park, at which time Agent MILLER dropped off the surveillance.

In the park, COPLON seemed very excited and asked Agent MC ANDREWS and Miss MANOS how she could get to Broadway. She was advised that Miss MANOS and Agent MC ANDREWS were also looking for Broadway and were lost, to which COPLON said, "Oh, God!" She then retraced her steps to the building housing the subway station to seek the proper route from the subway clerk. After talking with him, she caught the elevator down to the track level and left the station through a tunnel leading to Bennett Avenue, which runs parallel with Broadway, one block west. As soon as she arrived at Broadway and 192nd Street, Agent MC ANDREWS and Miss MANOS dropped off the surveillance.

Agents MILLER and ROBINSON observed COPLON when she arrived at the corner of 192nd Street and Broadway, which was at approximately 7:17 p.m.

Agent MALLEY had informed Agents ROBINSON and MILLER a few moments prior to this time that he had observed GUBITCHEV near the intersection of Broadway and Nagle Avenue, which will be described subsequently.

Upon arriving at the corner of 192nd Street and Broadway, COPLON crossed to the east side of Broadway and walked north across 193rd Street and stopped at that intersection in front of a small store. She stood on this corner for a minute or so, then walked about ten yards north, turned around and walked south across 193rd Street about sixty yards. She then walked back north almost to the corner of 193rd Street and Broadway, turned around and again went south about twenty yards and entered a shoe repair shop. She remained there about ten minutes, came out, walked south to some steps leading to an apartment house, stood there for several seconds, then walked north again almost to the corner of 193rd Street. There she hesitated a moment, stepped back one step, looked around and then continued to the corner, turning east on 193rd Street. She began walking up the hill and turned to the right out of sight. All the time COPLON was walking around the vicinity of 193rd Street and Broadway, she appeared to be looking for someone in an anxious and very nervous manner.

~~(U)~~

The above activity was observed by Agents MILLER, ROBINSON and HALEY.

The following activity was observed by Agents ROBINSON and MILLER:

Robert Miller
At approximately 7:58 p.m., COPLON was observed walking north on the west side of Broadway approaching 192nd Street. She crossed over the sidewalk to the curb, the light being red against Broadway traffic. She began walking diagonally across Broadway in a northeasterly direction. At this moment, a man, known to the Agents as VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV, was observed walking north on the east side of Broadway. He was first observed at about the same spot, but across the street, where COPLON was first spotted, as described above. GUBITCHEV continued walking north and at about 8:00 p.m. pulled alongside of COPLON, who had just reached the sidewalk on the east side of Broadway. COPLON was observed adjusting articles in her purse just as she stepped on the sidewalk. She turned her head to the right toward him and he walked over toward her and pulled alongside, the two continuing to walk. GUBITCHEV leaned over toward her and said a few words and at the same time extended his hand in front of her. This contact, from the time GUBITCHEV began walking immediately alongside COPLON until the time they separated, lasted no more than five seconds. COPLON continued walking north, GUBITCHEV stopped, turned left and stood on the curb facing west. After a couple of seconds, he stepped off the curb and stood behind a parked automobile. He then crossed Broadway, walked west on 192nd Street to Bennett Avenue, and then turned north to Bennett Avenue to the entrance of the 190th Street--Overlook Terrace stop of the Independent Subway, which he entered at 8:12 p.m. Agent

MALLEY had joined Agents MILLER and ROBINSON a few moments after the separation of COPLON and GUBITCHEV. About eight minutes after GUBITCHEV entered the subway, Agent MALLEY entered the subway and surveilled him to 64 West 108th Street, where he resides. He arrived there at 8:45 p.m.

Agents RAYMOND P. WIRTH, ROBERT J. WIRTH and MARTIN F. CAREY observed COPLON remove her bag from Locker No. 1207 at Pennsylvania Station at approximately 9:01 p.m. She went to the Independent Subway Station, where she boarded a Downtown Express Train. The Agents continued the surveillance to the High Street stop in Brooklyn, at which time the surveillance was discontinued.

As stated above, Agent MALLEY, who was in an automobile in the vicinity of 193rd Street and Broadway, observed GUBITCHEV at 7:05 p.m. walking north on Broadway just above 193rd Street. He crossed Broadway and boarded a southbound bus at 7:08 p.m.

Agent MALLEY continued surveilling the bus until 7:13 p.m., at which time Agent HRADSKY, accompanied by SA WILLIAM A. KOLAR in another Bureau automobile, recognized GUBITCHEV on the bus. At this time, Agent MALLEY dropped off the surveillance.

GUBITCHEV got off the bus at 166th Street and Broadway and walked back to 168th Street, where he stood at the northbound Broadway bus stop. He then walked to the IRT Subway entrance and entered it. He immediately returned to the sidewalk level after descending the stairs a short distance and returned to the bus stop. At 7:35 p.m., GUBITCHEV crossed Broadway at 168th Street and entered the IRT subway entrance, at which time Agents HRADSKY and KOLAR discontinued the surveillance.

March 4, 1949

The following is a detailed account of the physical surveillance maintained on JUDITH COPLON and VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV on March 4, 1949. It is set forth in narrative form in order not to break the continuity of the activities engaged in by the two Subjects. Following this narrative of the activities of COPLON and GUBITCHEV, the detailed physical surveillance logs of the Agents will be set forth reflecting the exact information to which each Agent is able to testify.

The times noted for the particular actions of COPLON and GUBITCHEV are very close approximates.

- 5:35 p.m. JUDITH COPLON was observed to arrive at the Pennsylvania Station via Pennsylvania Railroad on train arriving on Track #11. She then left the track level by the escalator.
- 5:37 p.m. COPLON proceeded to lockers near SAVARIN CAFE on lower level of Pennsylvania Station, and checked a red vanity-sized case, in Locker #1035. Special Agents Thomas Mendenhall and Dudley Payne of the Washington Field Office who had surveilled COPLON from Washington, D. C. to New York City, discontinued their surveillance of COPLON after she had checked her bag. COPLON was wearing a black cloth coat, had a grey, figured bandana on her head, and carried a black pocketbook with gold trim. After checking her bag, COPLON walked upstairs, through the men's waiting room and to the main lobby of the Pennsylvania Station. COPLON then took the escalator upstairs and proceeded through the arcade to 7th Avenue. COPLON walked north on the west side of 7th Avenue to the north west corner of 34th Street and 7th Avenue, crossing to the east side of 7th Avenue, and then proceeded north to 37th Street. She turned and retraced her steps to WEITZMAN'S BAR, 491 7th Avenue, located between 36th and 37th Streets, entering at approximately 5:45 p.m., and was observed sitting at the bar.

During the course of the above travel by COPLON, she had frequently glanced back over her shoulder and had stopped once and looked around.

~~(U)~~

- 5:55 p. m. COPLON left the restaurant, crossing to the west side of 7th Avenue and 37th Street and walked north to 42nd Street. She then walked west along the south side of 42nd Street to 8th Avenue. She crossed 8th Avenue and entered the 8th Avenue Subway on the south east corner of 42nd Street and 8th Avenue. It was noted COPLON stopped occasionally to window-shop, but did not again look back after leaving WEITZMAN'S BAR.
- 6:10 p.m. COPLON, while in the subway, first walked toward the downtown turnstile, but then turned around and walked back to the uptown turnstile. She stopped a man and appeared to ask him a question. She then entered the uptown turnstile and boarded a north-bound "A" train.
- 6:32 p.m. COPLON left the "A" train at the 181st Street stop of the 8th Avenue Subway. She then walked to the upper level of the subway station and walked south toward the 181st Street exit for a distance of about 50 feet. She then turned around and walked north toward the northern exit from the subway, which exit comes out at 184th Street. She turned once to look back as she neared the end of the platform and then left the subway. It is noted COPLON was the only person to leave the subway by the exit to the north, and there were no other people on that end of the platform.
- The surveillance of COPLON was discontinued at this point.
- 6:48 p.m. COPLON was next observed walking north on the west side of Broadway in the vicinity of West 187th Street. She continued walking north on Broadway.
- 6:53 p.m. COPLON entered a small luncheonette on the west side of Broadway at 4451 Broadway between 190th Street and 192nd Street.
- 6:57 p.m. COPLON left the luncheonette and walked north on the west side of Broadway to West 192nd Street, where she crossed to the east side of Broadway and continued walking north.
- 7:01 p.m. COPLON reached the corner of West 193rd Street and Broadway and there stood on the south east corner in front of a drug store. She remained standing at this location for about 7 minutes, glancing around the vicinity, apparently waiting for someone.

~~(U)~~

NY 65-14932

- 7:07 p.m. COPLON left the corner and started walking south on the east side of Broadway. She halted momentarily on two occasions, stopped for a moment, and appeared to be looking in the window of a restaurant approximately across the street from the intersection of 192nd Street and then continued walking south on Broadway almost to Fairview Avenue, where she turned around and again walked north on Broadway.
- 7:15 p.m. COPLON was observed in the vicinity of West 193rd Street and Broadway. She crossed the 193rd Street intersection and walked about 30 or 40 feet on Broadway beyond this intersection, and then turned around and walked back to the north east corner of Broadway and 193rd Street, where she entered a cigar and candy store at 7:18 p.m. NE. 14
NW 1
- 4:50 p.m. A physical surveillance of VALENTINE GUBITCHEV at his place of employment, the United Nations, 405 East 42nd Street, had previously been instituted. At 4:50 p.m., GUBITCHEV was observed at the intersection of 42nd Street and 1st Avenue, walking west from the above address. He was accompanied by an unidentified man. The two walked west on the north side of 42nd Street to the north west corner of Lexington Avenue and 42nd Street. They stood on the corner at that location for a few minutes and then separated at 5:05 p.m. It was necessary to drop the surveillance of GUBITCHEV due to the fact that he was glancing around, and appeared to be checking for a surveillance.
- 7:20 p.m. VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV was observed leaving the 191st Street I.R.T. Subway Station via the tunnel to Broadway at 190th Street.
- 7:24 p.m. GUBITCHEV was observed walking north on the east side of Broadway in the vicinity of 192nd Street. He continued walking north on Broadway to the south east corner of Broadway and West 193rd Street, where he entered a drug store at 7:25.
- 7:26 p.m. GUBITCHEV left the drug store almost immediately after entering, unwrapping what appeared to be a package of Life Savers, or a similarly-sized item. He stopped momentarily, glanced around the vicinity, and then started walking south on the east side of Broadway. At a point approximately opposite the 192nd Street intersection, he hesitated momentarily at the curb and then crossed the north west corner of Broadway and 192nd Street, where he stopped at a bus stop at 7:27.

East! It is noted COPLON was still in the cigar store on the north west corner of 193rd Street and Broadway while GUBITCHEV was in the area.

- 7:28 p.m. COPLON left the cigar store, glanced around the vicinity, crossed 193rd Street and continued walking south on the east side of Broadway, at which time GUBITCHEV remained at 192nd Street on the west side of Broadway. It is not known whether either of the Subjects saw each other at this time; however, there is no indication that they did see one another.
- 7:30 p.m. COPLON was observed in the vicinity of 191st Street, continuing south on the east side of Broadway to 181st Street where she crossed to the west side and entered Bickford's Restaurant on the south west corner of 181st Street and Broadway, entering at 7:41 p.m. She went to the rear of the restaurant behind a partition.
- 7:42 p.m. GUBITCHEV had continued to wait on the north west corner of 192nd Street and Broadway at a bus stop since 7:27 p.m. He had let two buses go by, and at 7:36 p.m., had moved out of sight momentarily. At 7:40, however, he was back at the bus stop on the same corner.
- 7:45 p.m. COPLON left Bickford's Restaurant, and began walking north on the west side of Broadway.
- 7:45 p.m. A south-bound bus stopped at the north west corner of 192nd Street and Broadway, and GUBITCHEV was seen approaching the front door of the bus. He apparently boarded the bus, as no one remained at the bus stop after the bus had departed.
- 7:48 p.m. GUBITCHEV was seen leaving the Broadway bus at 187th Street, which is just one stop from 192nd Street. He started walking south on the west side of Broadway, and at this same time, COPLON was walking north on the same side of the street.

- 7:52 p.m. COPLON passed VALENTINE GUBITCHEV between 185th Street and 186th Street on the west side of Broadway. He was then walking south, and she was walking north at this point. ~~(S)~~ (U)ARREST OF JUDITH COPLON and VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV

At 9:36 p.m., March 4th, 1949, JUDITH COPLON and VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV were placed under arrest by Special Agent in Charge Edward Scheidt and Supervisor Robert R. Granville, on 3rd Avenue between 15th and 16th Streets, New York City. They identified themselves as FBI Agents.

GUBITCHEV was searched immediately by SA's Granville and Martin F. Carey. His wrists were held by SA's Martin F. Carey and John F. Malley, Jr., and he was placed in the rear seat of Bureau Car No. 220. The search of GUBITCHEV on the street took about five minutes.

GUBITCHEV was brought to the New York Office, arriving at about 9:51 p.m., and was taken immediately to the 6th floor, Room C, where he was placed in a chair.

At 10:06 p.m., a thorough search and interrogation of GUBITCHEV was instituted by SA's Thomas J. McAndrews and Robert J. Wirth.

JUDITH COPLON, upon arrest, was escorted to Bureau Car No. 200, by SA's Edward F. McCarthy and T. Scott Miller. Her handbag was taken from her possession, and she was taken to the New York Office, reaching there at 9:50 p.m.

COPLON was escorted to the 6th floor, and to the nurse's office by SA's T. Scott Miller, Brewer Wilson, Edward F. McCarthy, and Miss Sappho Manos, chief clerk, and Nurse Genevieve Chara.

SEARCH AND INTERVIEW OF JUDITH COPLON

SA Edward F. McCarthy, who had taken COPLON's purse from her, turned it over to Agent Miller in the Nurse's Office.

The search of COPLON'S purse was made by Special Agents T. SCOTT MILLER, JR. and ROGER W. ROBINSON, in the presence of Special Agent BREWER WILSON, Miss SAPPHO MANOS and Nurse GENEVIEVE CHARA. The Agents identified themselves to COPLON as FBI Agents. The following articles were found in the purse:

- A. A small package about $1\frac{1}{2}$ by $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches bound in scotch tape. The outside of the package consisted of a piece of white paper. Inside was a piece of paper with handwriting on both sides. On the outside of the package was a printed arrow. The following was the handwritten material on the inside of the package:

"Bureau using 2 highly placed Amtorg officials as informants. One is Needleman with whom Bureau maintains 'a rather indirect contact through an intermediary'. Bureau has not been entirely satisfied with this arrangement or extent of information supplied by Needleman & in order to check on N's sincerity, Bureau desires to obtain from him more complete info on a variety of matters including his knowledge of activities of Amtorg which would be in possible violation of F.A.R.A. Bureau asks for memo on what would constitute a violation & any questions which should be asked of N. Asks if N. is registered as foreign agent.

"Bureau has recently learned thru an informant that Amtorg has been in contact with the Geophysical Research Corp re geophones. The fact that these 'are used for the purpose of making blast measurements at Alamogordo & other testing points is highly restricted but Amtorg apparently must have some knowledge of their use.

"Bureau Memo, 3/3/49."

- B. A larger package, about 5" X 6" consisting of an outside envelope which bore the name "Bellé-Sharmeer Stockings" together with copy about the stockings. This envelope was sealed with scotch tape. Inside this envelope was a plain white envelope also sealed with scotch tape. Inside this envelope were 34 5" X 8" abstract blanks containing typewritten summaries of information contained in FBI reports. Each summary bears a notation referring to an FBI report and setting forth

He said he is not in correspondence with Russians for over a year and has not received any communication from Russia. Said material used to come to him via diplomatic pouch. Re contacts with individual Russians, Leslie said that since departure of Fedotov and Fedosimov, he has had no contacts with any Russians. Know Vladimir Byzkin. Never had any contact with Yakov Lomakin, of whom he had a very poor opinion. Leslie deplored the suspicious and hostile attitude of Russians and felt that the cause of friction between US and USSR lay with Russians. Said that he is now 'persona non grata' with the Russians, e.g., in 11/7/48 he (page two) though not invited, accompanied Dr. Julius Hyman, to the Embassy's reception. While there, one of the Russians--Striganov--called Hyman aside and asked what he meant by bringing to the Embassy 'an Americanski agent'. Re Anatoli Gromov, Leslie said he had difficulty placing Gromov but believes he was one of the Russians several years ago for whom he made hotel reservations. Re Pavel Mikhailov, Leslie said his contacts with him only concerned receiving of American Soviet Medical Society material in the diplomatic pouch. Believes also, on occasion, wrote letters to Mikhailov recommending various persons for Russian visas. Said that his most important Russian contact was with Dr. Vladimir Lobendenko; Leslie's work with Lobend. concerned medicine and science. Leslie said Dr. Stuart Mudd's only interest is science and medicine; that at time of Mudd's visit to Russia, Mudd not fully convinced that Russians were accomplishing much until he happened to see a blood machine, the same type which he and another American doctor had invented. The Russians had his and an enlarged and greatly improved model which they had devised. Leslie termed Mudd 'a good Republican'. Leslie mentioned that Sigarist was in Switzerland at present time. "I have not been able (and don't think I will) to get the top secret FBI report which I described to Michael on Soviet & Communist Intelligence Activities in the US. When the moment was favorable, I asked Foley where the report was (He'd previously remarked that he'd had such a report); he said that some departmental official had it and he didn't expect to get it back. Foley remarked there was nothing "new" in it. When I saw the report, for a minute, I breezed through it rapidly, remember very little. It was about 115 pages in length; summarized first Soviet "intelligence" activities, including Martens, Lore, Poyntz, Altschuler, Silvermaster et. al. It had heading on Soviet UN delegation but that was all I remember. The rest of the report I think was on Polish, Yugo, etc. activities and possibly some info on the CP, USA.

"Beginning with the spring semester of 1946, I attended The American University, Washington, DC until the spring semester of 1948, during which time I completed my class credits for an MA in International Organizations and International Relations. All I need for my degree is the completion of a thesis. While I'm not enthusiastic about it, I think I should complete this thesis by the summer. My subject will deal with certain aspects of international propaganda and its control."

~~ALFRED BOYNTON STEVENSON, aka. Steve~~

"I first met 'Steve', as he is known, in the summer of 1946 when we both attended a class in 'International Organization' at the graduate school of American University in Washington.

"Steve is about 29 years of age, an American by birth, and comes from El Paso, Texas. At the present time he is working at the Signal Corps in Arlington, Virginia. He has a P-3 or P-4 rating; I do not know the nature of his work since he is most secretive on this point; he did tell me several months ago though that he had changed the type of work he was doing. Steve came to Washington during the war and, I believe, has been working since, first as a GI and then as a civilian, at the Signal Corps. Previously, he held some sort of civil service job in Texas or Arkansas and prior to that I think taught school, having received an M.A. in English literature from some southern US university.

"I would characterize Steve as pro-Communist, albeit a bit of a 'wishy-washy idealist' and politically naive. For example, in a conversation that I had with him a few days ago, he mentioned some people that he'd met in New York (apparently Communists); he told me that while he found himself agreeing with these people sympathetically, he could not accept all of their 'realistic' approach. He mentioned though that when he met such people as a group, he tended to agree with them 100% in their presence, largely because they were usually so shocked finding someone so 'liberal' from the proverbially reactionary state of Texas that he seemed to want them to be sure that he was one of them. (I might add, as an aside, that until this very recent conversation with him, I'd never heard him express such qualifications to his previously seemingly more mature views.)

"I do not know of any of his political affiliations. I know he is a member of the American Veterans Committee and that for a while he associated, and may still associate, with various persons connected with

36. (continued)

"Community Education, Inc., an inter-racial 'cultural' center in Washington. It was my vague impression that Community Ed. was a pro-Communist organization. Recently I read in a Bureau report where one informant characterized the group as pro-Communist, but another characterized it as Socialist and one of its leaders, David Campbell, as a Trotskyite. Steve also attended at least one meeting, a year or so ago, of the Washington Bookshop (subversive listing) which was on the subject of Palestine and about which he was very enthusiastic; and was impressed with the speaker.

"Steve's closest friend, and former roommate, in Washington was Floyd Albert, who also worked at the Signal Corps until he returned to New York last summer. He is working at present for some agency of the New York State Government. Floyd graduated from Brooklyn College and was friendly with several people (mainly progressives) whom I'd been friendly with during college days. Floyd impressed me as being more politically mature than Steve, although I do not know of any of his previous or present political affiliations.

"As for Steve's personality--he is seemingly sincere, intelligent, good-natured sort of person. On the negative side, he is quite shy, inclined to boring, tedious discussions on obscure points, and has a general awkwardness, social and otherwise, like that of an adolescent. When I was attending American University (until Feb. 1948), I saw Steve about once every two or three weeks; since then I've seen him infrequently.

"With respect to his family background--his father, now dead, was a Protestant minister; his mother teaches school in El Paso; he has an older sister who is married and an older brother, Robert Stevenson. Robert is a pianist and composer and is now teaching at the Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey. About a year or more ago, Robert gave a concert in New York City which included his own works, one of which, I vaguely remember, was devoted to John Brown, or some other progressive American historical figure, and had a slightly progressive flavor. From what Steve has told me, I would say that financially his family has been relatively poor.

"LORRAINE ELKIN SINDERBRAND

"Lorraine and I lived in the same neighborhood in Brooklyn, were quite friendly in high school, drifted apart during college days and saw each other rarely after that. In about October 1947, Lorraine married Alvin Sinderbrand who was then and is now studying at Georgetown University law school. Since Lorraine's been in Washington I've seen her only a few times; although personally I'd like to see her more often, I've felt restricted because of her progressive political leanings.

"Lorraine is about 26 years of age, American by birth. She attended Brooklyn College two or three years, left to take a secretarial course, and held secretarial jobs until she enlisted in the WAVES during the war. When she first came to Washington she worked as a stenographer in the Patent Office, Dept of Commerce; she told me she was extremely bored by this work, deplored her reactionary colleagues. She thought for a while she might try to get some work at the Navy, in view of her former association as a WAVE, but I do not think she pursued the idea. Whether she was dissuaded from doing so, in light of the Loyalty program, I do not know. At the present time she is not working but is attending a school of fashion design during the day.

"When I first knew Lorraine, although an intelligent and relatively sophisticated girl, she was not politically active, although she might have been a passive member of the American Student Union when at college. At the present time, she is very much interested in progressive groups and appears to have developed a great deal politically. I do not know whether she is or has been a member of the CP. The only political affiliation I know of on her part is that just previous to coming to Washington she worked as a volunteer on a campaign being conducted by the Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade.

"I might add that I have tried, the few times I've seen or spoken with her, to avoid political discussions because of the anomalous status I must occupy in her thoughts. She remembers me as a Communist, and I think she is confused as to whether I still am a C (and if so why I continue to work for the Govt in Washington), or if I've 'sold out'. I think her opinion is that I am somewhere between the two, that is, that I'm just a neurotic.

"Lorraine has a pleasing personality, slightly reserved; she is intelligent and outwardly appears well-poised and well-adjusted. However, a few days ago she told me that she had been considering going to a psychiatrist. When I said I was surprised, she remarked that she really thought she needed it and was not being superficial or a faddist.

"Her family background is fairly comfortable financially. Her father owns a tie factory in Paterson, New Jersey. Her oldest sister is married and I think lives in Paterson. Her other older sister, Sophie, is married to Everett Pearlburg, and lives in Brooklyn. My impression is that during the time I know her in Brooklyn, Sophie was a Communist and was probably then, if not now, a member of the CP. At the present time Sophie is a housewife, has one young child. Her husband is in some sort of export-import business which requires that he travel a lot in the US; formerly he used also travel in Europe but I believe he desires to eliminate the latter in view of his young baby, etc.

He comes from Brooklyn, received a degree in engineering from New York University, was a naval officer during the war, and is attending law school at present for the purpose of becoming a private patent lawyer, with a practice preferably in New York. For a while he worked in the Patent Office, Dept of Commerce, during the day and attended law school at night; at present he attends school during the day (will finish this June) and works part-time during the day in a private patent law office here.

"Politically his views seem to parallel Lorraine's, although she seems, superficially at least, more politically mature than he. I forgot

Upon the completion of the search of COPLON which ended at 11:12 p.m. she was then fingerprinted, photographed and taken to Conference Room "C" on the 6th Floor of the U. S. Court House arriving there at 11:35 p.m. There the interview of COPLON was commenced and present in the room were Special Agents Roger W. Robinson, T. Scott Miller, Jr., and Brewer Wilson, together with Miss Sappho Manos and Miss Genevieve Chara.

COPLON was advised that she need not answer any questions if she did not so desire and if she did, anything she said would be used against her in Court. Further, she could obtain the services of an attorney if she so desired.

COPLON was first asked her name, to which she answered, "No comment". She was then asked where she lived, to which she answered "No comment." Agent Miller then asked her where she worked and she gave the same answer. She was questioned concerning her knowledge of the man with whom she had been arrested, but she gave the same answer, "No comment", to all questions. When she was questioned about her background, her parents, her education, her answer to all questions was the same. Interview Concerning Gubitchev's
Association With Coplon

At 10:55 P.M., March 4, 1949, the interview with GUBITCHEV was begun by the above mentioned agents who identified themselves to GUBITCHEV. At 11:00 P.M., March 4, 1949, GUBITCHEV was advised that he was not obliged to make any statement; that any statement he did make would be used in court against him and that he was entitled to retain an attorney if he desired one.

GUBITCHEV advised that he understood his rights as outlined above. GUBITCHEV furnished his name, address, occupation, the identity of his wife and daughter and declined to answer any other questions concerning his activities on March 4, 1949 unless a representative of his country was present to give official approval to GUBITCHEV to answer these questions. GUBITCHEV refused to answer any question involving his activities on the day or evening of March 4, 1949. He stated that he did not know the identity of the young lady in whose company he was observed by Bureau agents on the evening of March 4, 1949, and who has been identified by Bureau agents as JUDITH COPLON.

In this connection GUBITCHEV stated that he had never known any person by the name of JUDITH COPLON. GUBITCHEV stated that he had never seen this woman during the evening of March 4, 1949 prior to his arrest. He also stated that he had never seen JUDITH COPLON at any time prior to his arrest.

GUBITCHEV refused to enter into any discussion of the subject COPLON. He stated that he had never engaged in any espionage or other illegal activity and advised that he had never been employed by any intelligence service. GUBITCHEV did state that the $125.00 found in an envelope on his person at the time of the search was his money which he intended to use for the purchase of household goods. In view of GUBITCHEV'S refusal to answer any questions concerning his association with COPLON on March 4, 1949 or prior thereto the balance of the interview was devoted to obtaining GUBITCHEV'S background information which GUBITCHEV freely volunteered to the interviewing agents. The interview with GUBITCHEV was terminated on the specific instructions of RAYMOND WHEARTY, a Special Assistant to the Attorney General, at 2:37 A.M., March 5, 1949.

The period between 2:37 A.M. and GUBITCHEV'S initial appearance before USDJ RIFKIND at 4:48 A.M., March 5, 1949, was devoted to making GUBITCHEV comfortable by offering him food, rest and requesting his signature on receipts of property removed from his person.

(U)

The following is the background information that GUBITCHEV volunteered to Special Agents Thomas J. McAndrews and Robert J. Wirth:

He advised that his full name is VALENTINE ALEKSEEVICH GUBITCHEV, and that he had never used any other names; that he was born June 24, 1916 at Orel, USSR, and that his wife, LIDA, was born in March, 1915 at Leningrad, USSR. He stated that he married his wife, LIDA, in 1933 at Leningrad, and that they have one child, a daughter, VIOLETTA, who was born in 1934 at Leningrad, USSR. He advised that he has no living relatives other than his wife and daughter, and explained this by stating that all of them had passed away from natural causes during World War II. He further advised that his wife was an orphan and had no living relatives other than he, GUBITCHEV, and child, VIOLETTA.

He stated that he enrolled at the Leningrad Institute For Civil Engineering in 1934; that he attended this institute for six years, studying Civil Engineering, and that he also attended English courses during his first three years of attendance at the institute. He advised that he graduated in 1940 and was immediately assigned to the Ministry of Construction; that his duties with the Ministry of Construction were the building of housing projects and factories. He stated that he was so employed until 1944, and during this tenure of employment, was assigned to work in the Ural Region of the USSR.

He explained that he was exempt from military service in the USSR armed forces during World War II as he was "a qualified man" and as such was assigned to work for which he was trained. GUBITCHEV stated that in 1944 he went to Moscow in order to complete his education, where he enrolled in the Moscow Civil Construction Engineering School, which school he attended, studying Civil Engineering until the middle of 1945. According to GUBITCHEV, at that time he was selected by the Personnel Unit of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs for duty with the USSR diplomatic service. He advised that he was selected for this duty as it was known that he had studied English for three years at the Leningrad Institute and had also continued home study of the English language.

GUBITCHEV stated that his knowledge of English was the only reason he knew of for his selection by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs for diplomatic service. He stated that he was first assigned to clerical duties at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Moscow. Early in 1946 he was made a Third Secretary in the USSR diplomatic service, but continued his clerical duties for some time.

In this connection, he stated he had never attended a special school wherein he was trained for his diplomatic work or related work, and again reiterated that the only advanced formal education he had received was at the Leningrad Institute For Civil Engineering, and the Moscow Civil Construction Engineering School.

He continued by stating that in the Spring of 1946, a member of the Personnel Unit of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, whose name he did not know, asked him if he, GUBITCHEV, would like to accept employment in the United States as a UN employee. According to GUBITCHEV, he didn't want to accept employment with the UN, but was later advised that it had been so arranged, and that he would be employed as an engineer by the UN. He advised that he, together with his wife, LIDA and daughter, VIOLETTA, arrived at the Port of New York as passengers aboard the SS WASHINGTON, on July 20, 1946; that they were travelling on diplomatic passports and diplomatic visas issued by the American Embassy at Moscow, USSR. In this connection, he stated that this was his first assignment outside of the USSR, and that, in fact, he had never been outside the USSR prior to the date of this departure for the United States.

He stated that when he and his family first arrived in the United States they resided at the Robert Fulton Hotel, 228 East 71st Street, New York City; that thereafter they resided at several addresses which he could not remember, for short periods of time, but that they finally took an apartment in the Spring of 1947, at the corner of 110th Street and Riverside Drive, where they resided for several months. He advised that they then moved to an apartment at 158 West 106th Street, New York City, where they resided until August of 1948. He stated that in August of 1948 his daughter, VIOLETTA, returned to Russia to complete her education. He advised that he does not know VIOLETTA's address, but that she is attending a boarding school which is operated by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Moscow. He stated that when he or his wife write to their daughter, they address the mail in care of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Moscow, USSR. In this connection, he stated that a friend of theirs recently arrived from Moscow and had seen his daughter, and that she was well. He refused to name this individual, but it is noted that a friend of the GUBITCHEV family, one ALEXEI KUZMICH SHUBNIKOV, who, according to the Telephone Directory of the UN, dated February 1, 1949, is a UN employee of the Department of Economic Affairs, Transport and Communications Division, in which division he is employed as the Chief, Research and Documentation Section, recently returned to the United States from Moscow.

He advised that after his daughter had returned to Moscow, USSR, he and his wife moved to a smaller apartment, located at 64 West 108th Street, New York City, where they still reside. He stated that he is now employed as an Engineer XIII, by the United Nations, and is attached to the Headquarters Planning Office, Department of Administrative and Financial Services, 405 East 42nd Street, New York City. He advised that he is now making $6,600.00 yearly.

On being questioned as to who is his superior, he advised that Mr. MOROZOV, First Secretary of the USSR, UN Delegation, 680 Park Avenue, was his superior. He, however, later changed this statement, stating that Mr. MOROZOV was an official of the USSR Russian delegation to the United States that he contacted concerning his passport and visa problems. He advised that he knew no other personnel of the USSR UN delegation located at 680 Park Avenue, New York City, and further stated that he did not know any USSR Embassy employees at Washington, D. C. He, however, stated that he was acquainted with a Mr. SOROKIN, former Vice Consul of the USSR Consulate, New York City, who he had previously seen on several occasions concerning his passport. He further stated that Mr. SOROKIN was the only member of the former USSR Consulate located in New York City that he had ever contacted.

WAIVER OF SEARCH

During the interview with VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV, he was asked if he would consent to a search of his home, 64 West 108th Street, New York City, and he declined. GUBITCHEV refused to furnish any waivers of any kind and declined to accept receipts listing the property removed from his person at the time of his arrest when they were offered to him. Similarly, he declined to sign any receipts itemizing the property taken from him at the time of his arrest and subsequent thereto.

At 4:46 A.M. on March 5, 1949, [redacted] was served with a subpoena requiring his appearance before the Grand Jury sitting in the United States District Court, for the Southern District of New York. The subpoena was served by RAYMOND WHEARTY, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, and was returnable on [redacted] refused to accept service. He was advised by Mr. WHEARTY that he had no choice as to whether he could accept or decline service.

At 4:48 A.M., March 5, 1949, GUBITCHEV was brought before United States District Judge SIMON H. RIFKIND of the Southern District of New York in Judge RIFKIND's chambers. Both COPLON and GUBITCHEV were advised by Judge RIFKIND of their right to obtain counsel and both indicated a desire to do so. Mr. GUBITCHEV expressed the desire first to contact representatives of his government. He was advised that telephone facilities were available to him.

At 5:00 A.M. the hearing adjourned until 7:00 A.M. to allow COPLON and GUBITCHEV time to obtain counsel. GUBITCHEV communicated in Russian with the USSR delegation to the United Nations by telephone, according to his own statement. He spoke telephonically with a person whom he identified as his wife. At 6:25 A.M., March 5, 1949, GUBITCHEV received an incoming telephone call from a person whom he voluntarily described as Mr. LEONID MCROZOV, First Secretary of the USSR delegation to the United Nations. GUBITCHEV told agents in attendance that he had advised MCROZOV of his location, and that MCROZOV had indicated he would come down to the United States Court House to see GUBITCHEV.

At 6:36 A.M., GUBITCHEV was brought to Judge RIFKIND's chambers and Mr. WHEARTY advised Judge RIFKIND that GUBITCHEV had been unable to obtain counsel. He suggested that the preliminary hearing be held over until 11:00 A.M., March 5, 1949. Judge RIFKIND then explained to GUBITCHEV his right to be represented by counsel, and agreed that the hearing be adjourned until 11:00 A.M. in order that GUBITCHEV might obtain counsel. Judge RIFKIND remanded GUBITCHEV to the custody of the Federal Bureau of Investigation until 11:00 A.M., March 5, 1949, and declined to fix bail for GUBITCHEV until GUBITCHEV was represented by counsel at the hearing scheduled for 11:00 A.M., March 5, 1949.

~~(U)~~PROSECUTIVE ACTION TAKEN AGAINST SUBJECTS

Following the apprehension of COPLON and GUBITCHEV upon Bureau instructions, Mr. Raymond P. Whearty, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, was brought to the New York Office. He communicated with Mr. Peyton Ford of the Department relative to the particular charges against COPLON and GUBITCHEV.

A complaint was drawn up, alleging a violation by VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV and JUDITH COPLON of Sections 371, 793, 794 and 2071, Title 18, U. S. Code. This complaint was signed by SA T. Scott Miller, Jr. in the presence of Judge Simon H. Rifkind on March 5, 1949.

At 11:00 a.m., Judge Rifkind held the arraignment, at which time COPLON'S attorney, BERTRAM ADAMS, waived hearing. Her bail was set at $20,000.

At the arraignment GUBITCHEV still had not obtained counsel, and his bail was set at $100,000. In default of bail both COPLON and GUBITCHEV were turned over to the custody of DANIEL J. McCARTAN by agents. GUBITCHEV was committed to the Federal House of Detention and COPLON to the Womens House of Detention, March 5, 1949. McCARTAN is U.S. Deputy Marshal.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed are ten copies (Washington Field-6) of the report of SA T. Scott Miller, Jr., dated March 8, 1949, New York.

It will be noted that both COPLON and GUBITCHEV are made subjects of this report as this report was prepared at the specific request of Raymond P. Whearty, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, to enable him to properly present the case to the grand jury on March 9, 1949.

The New York Office is putting half of the copies of this report in the GUBITCHEV file and half in the COPLON file. The Bureau and Washington Field may do likewise.

It will be noted that this report contains only information which would be of value to Mr. Whearty in presenting the case to the grand jury. Subsequently, an investigative report will be set out, setting forth information concerning technical information and collateral investigation, an attempt to identify individuals who might possibly be operating in Soviet intelligence.

Examination requested by: Washington Field

Reference: Letter dated March 7, 1949

Examination requested: Document

Specimens:

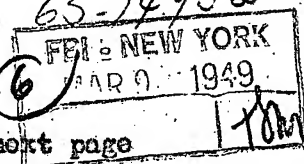

- K15 One box of Write carbon paper, 8" x 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ ", manufactured by Write, Inc., Bridgeport, Connecticut, containing black lightweight carbon paper.
- K16 Two sheets of white mottled-finish paper, approximately 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ " x 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ ".
- K17 Four sheets of thin white paper, approximately 8" x 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ ".
- K18 Two pieces of white bond paper torn on one edge, approximately 8" x 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ ".
- K19 One 3" x 5" bound pad of white paper containing 13 pages.

Results of Examination:

It has been concluded that the paper specimens, Q36, Q37 and Q38 and the paper taken from the subject's room, described above as K17, came from the same original source. This conclusion is based on evidence found that all of these sheets of paper were cut with the same knife. In addition all of the sheets of paper were found to have the same physical properties with respect to size, thickness, color, finish, transparency and fluorescence.

The other paper specimens submitted, K16, K18 and K19, were not similar to any of the other questioned paper previously submitted, Q1 through Q43. It is noted that one sheet of K18 contained a portion of a Government watermark.

2-New York - SPECIAL DELIVERY

None of the carbon paper, K15 had been used. Because of the common type of carbon paper used to prepare specimens Q25 through Q33, which are the only questioned carbon copies thus far submitted, it was not possible to determine whether the carbon paper used to prepare Q25 through Q33 was of the same type as K15.

Specimens Q1 through Q43 are described in the Laboratory report dated March 7, 1949 and were submitted by the New York Office with a letter dated March 4, 1949.

Specimens K15 through K19 will be returned to the Washington Field Office as soon as appropriate photographs of K17 have been made. No photographs of the other specimens will be retained in the Laboratory.

RE: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

John F. Mullen

On March 8, 1949 Miss PAULINE SLAVIN was interviewed at the New York Office by Special Agent MARTIN F. CAREY and the writer. Information furnished by Miss SLAVIN during this interview is set forth herein under two headings.

Acquaintance With JUDITH COPLON

Miss SLAVIN first met JUDITH COPLON one and a half to two years ago in Washington, D.C. She believes she was introduced to COPLON by BEATRICE BRAUDE (phonetic) one evening when Miss SLAVIN and MISS BRAUDE were to attend a movie and Miss BRAUDE showed up accompanied by Miss COPLON. Miss SLAVIN has no very clear recollection of this meeting. BEATRICE BRAUDE is a State Department employee now in France. At that time she was living in an apartment on Mozart Place, Washington, but Miss SLAVIN believes that her family maintains a residence in New York City.

Miss SLAVIN can not remember when she last saw Miss COPLON but believes it was at one or more parties which they might both have attended in Washington. She can not remember any such parties but feels there must have been something of that sort following her initial meeting with COPLON.

Miss SLAVIN has seen COPLON about eight or ten times since that first meeting. These meetings consisted of luncheon and dinner engagements in Washington, D.C. including one dinner at Miss COPLON's apartment and one party in Miss SLAVIN's apartment. Miss SLAVIN last saw Miss COPLON during a luncheon engagement at ALFONSO's Restaurant in Washington, D.C. about three or four months ago. No one else was ever present on any of the occasions when Miss SLAVIN met Miss COPLON with the exception of the initial meeting and the party at Miss SLAVIN's apartment. On the latter occasion all persons present were friends of Miss SLAVIN who were not previously acquainted with Miss COPLON. (Excepting also any parties which they may have attended after the initial meeting, concerning which Miss SLAVIN has no recollection whatsoever.)

Memo

Miss SLAVIN does not know Miss COPLON's family, nor does she know any of Miss COPLON's friends. As far as she knows BEATRICE BRAUDT is their only mutual friend and she doubts that Miss BRAUDT and Miss COPLON are close friends.

Miss SLAVIN described her acquaintance with COPLON as a "growing friendship" rather than one which had already matured. It was based on a mutual interest in music, literature, etc. Miss COPLON sometimes called her to inquire about literature on music on which Miss SLAVIN is well informed. Their conversations on such occasions as they were together were purely social and Miss SLAVIN has no knowledge of Miss COPLON's political views or activities.

Miss SLAVIN's last contact with COPLON was a telephone call which she received from COPLON early last February. Miss SLAVIN believes that she was in Washington when she received this call. Miss SLAVIN remembers two details concerning this conversation. Miss COPLON mentioned that she was thinking of some man in terms of marriage (but did not mention his name) and also stated that she planned to be in New York February 18th. Since Miss SLAVIN also was planning to be in New York about that time, a possible meeting was discussed. Miss COPLON gave Miss SLAVIN her Brooklyn telephone number but the meeting was left indefinite due to the fact that COPLON had other appointments and the duration of Miss SLAVIN's stay in New York was uncertain. Actually Miss SLAVIN left New York on February 13th and did not see COPLON nor have any occasion to use the phone number. Miss SLAVIN stated that she has never seen nor talked to COPLON in New York City.

Other details mentioned by Miss SLAVIN in connection with her association with COPLON included the fact that she had secured a book "Progress of Music" at Miss COPLON's request several months ago. She believes she may have commented about giving Miss COPLON this book during their last telephone conversation. SLAVIN also recalls that Miss COPLON brought her an inexpensive cigarette case upon COPLON's return from Italy last summer. SLAVIN may have given COPLON a similar gift upon the occasion of COPLON's departure for Europe.

Miss SLAVIN expressed complete surprise at hearing the news of COPLON's apprehension and alleged activities. Although she knew nothing of COPLON's views on Russia or Communism, she felt COPLON was too much of a "philosophical type" to commit the acts with which she is charged.

Background of PHILIP SLAVIN

MISS SLAVIN was born May 1, 1918 at Washington, D.C. and has resided in Washington during her entire life. Since 1941 she has lived with her family at 2027 Park Road N.W. and prior to that time resided for over ten years at 39 Quincy Place N. E.

Miss SLAVIN is presently employed in the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, Federal Security Agency as an Information Specialist under the supervision of W. OLIVER KINCANNON.

Miss SLAVIN is a daughter of PHILIP SLAVIN, an employee in the Washington Post Office, and GOLDA MUNKIN SLAVIN, who was a dentist employed in the Washington, D.C. Health Office until the middle 30's when she retired. Both of Miss SLAVIN's parents were born in Russia but came to the United States before Miss SLAVIN was born and were naturalized in Washington, D.C. or Baltimore approximately 1920.

Miss SLAVIN graduated from McKinley Technical High School, Washington in 1935 and from Wilson Normal School, Washington, in 1936. She attended the University of Michigan from 1936 to 1940 receiving a Bachelor of Music Degree. Thereafter she gave private instruction on the piano from 1940 to 1942 as an associate of the Kitt Music Company in Washington, D.C. She was also employed in the Music Department of the National Broadcasting Corporation for a short time during this period.

Thereafter Miss SLAVIN was employed in the Research Division of the Library of Congress and the Recording Laboratory of the Library of Congress from August, 1942 to August, 1943, the Office of Education, Federal Security Agency from August, 1943 to May, 1944, the War Manpower Commission from May, 1944 to December, 1945 and in her present occupation from December, 1945 to date.

Miss SLAVIN is now on special assignment engaged in radio and magazine promotion which keeps her in New York City about three-fourths of the time. She has been on this assignment since the middle of January, 1949 and while in New York has stayed at the Cornish Arms Hotels, 23th Street and Eighth Avenue.

Miss SLAVIN advised that she has not been and is not now a member of any organization except the National Rehabilitation Association. She has never been a member of the Communist Party nor asked to join the Party or any of its affiliates. As far as she knows her parents are not members of any language group nor other organizations.

Miss SLAVIN can be contacted in New York at the Regional Office of the Federal Security Agency, 11 West 42nd Street, through JOSEPH LA ROCCA, Regional Representative.

Discussion was also had concerning the rerouting of mail to Miss COPLON inasmuch as Mr. COPLON advised that there were a number of crank letters coming through and he did not want to worry his parents with them. Therefore, he would like to have the mail rerouted to his residence. Mr. ADAMS then spoke up and said this would be arranged through leaving a change of address with the Post Office in Washington, D. Re: JUDITH COPLON, ETAL
ESPIONAGE- R.

At 8:25 pm, S.A. THOMAS MENDENHALL, W.F.O. telephonically advised Agents of the W.F.O. had interviewed FRANCIS TEMKO, 25 Q St., N.W., Washington, D.C. this evening regarding her knowledge of subject COPLON as TEMKO was known as an associate of subject at BARNARD COLLEGE.

During said interview, TEMKO received a phone call from one MRS. KINGSLEY (Phonetic) of New York. The Agents overheard the following: KINGSLEY is a Reporter for the N.Y. Daily News and attended BARNARD COLLEGE together with COPLON as did TEMKO. KINGSLEY called for the purpose of inquiring from TEMKO any info re: COPLON since COPLON left College, to bring her up to date. KINGSLEY stated that she has been granted permission to interview COPLON personally for her version of the present charges against her, and intends to publish it tomorrow in the paper.

I advised S.A. MENDENHALL of the situation as it existed up here in N.Y.C. re: the circumstances surrounding COPLON'S detention as well as the anonymous requests this office had received, as set out in my previous memo of 6:35 pm. Also, W.F.O. was to advise Bureau of above.

At 10:00 pm, RAY WHEARTY, Special Assistant to the Attorney General was advised of the Above. He said he would call House of Detention to see if any such permission was granted by anyone, since he had not been contacted.

Later MR. WHEARTY called back and stated he had contacted the House of Detention for Women and learned no visitors were allowed except during visiting hours, 10- 11 am daily, only one a day to each prisoner. Then visitors may be restricted upon orders of Attorney handling case. Mr. WHEARTY advised the Captain in Charge of the House of Detention for Women of N.Y.C., where COPLON is being held, to restrict all visitors, unless approved by him, and such restriction ~~should~~ would be confirmed by letter tomorrow. MR. WHEARTY, when requested such approval by anyone to visit COPLON, will contact this office for any info we have, on which info he will decide whether to grant approval for any visitors to COPLON. Nobody has been granted permission to see COPLON up to this time.

At 11:00 pm, Supervisor R.C. GODFREY at the Bureau was advised of the above.

Indices check on KINGSLEY revealed reference on a R.J. KINGSLEY, Editor, Wayne News, Wayne, Nebraska, with rubber stamp notation of " American Youth Congress, Mailing List- 1941, N.Y. File 100-3622." Said reference not checked since so far name is phonetic.

At 6:35 PM, a call was received from a woman, who at first refused to give her name. She spoke with an apparent Brooklyn accent. She stated she desired to talk to subject COPLON, that she wanted to surprise the subject- so did not wish to give her name, and she wanted to console the subject at this time since she was a former friend of the subject's at school. She said she had called the House of Detention for Women, requesting to talk to subject, was told she could not talk to subject since rules of that jail prevented visitors and would have to get permission from the FBI.

After repeated inquiry she gave her first name as BERTHA, but still refused her last name, giving the same reason as above. She reiterated her request for permission to talk to subject. She was told this office could not give such permission as subject was under the custody of the court. At this point BERTHA abruptly hung up.

Thereafter, PLACIDO DUCA, Guard, House of Detention for Women was contacted (OR5-2150) and asked if he had received any such call as mentioned above. He said he had received a call from an unknown woman (he did not ask for her name) who requested to talk to subject on the telephone. He refused this explaining it was against the jail's rules. She then asked him if she could see the subject. He told her she could not under any circumstances unless it was cleared by the FBI.

DUCA was advised this office could not clear anybody to see the subject, but such a request for visit would be submitted to the attorney handling the case. Duca said he understood, but felt this office may be interested in any persons even requesting permission to see the subject. Duca added, hereafter, he will get the identity from such parties making such inquiry about subject and transmit them to this office.

(Note Memo on call from WFO at 8:25PM today re interview of FRANCES TELKO)

At 8:20 PM duca reported one KATIE McGUIRE (phonetic), giving her address as Haywood, 123 West 11 St., NYC, called for permission to see the subject. He advised he obtained her identity on the basis he would have to check and see whether she would be admitted and call her back. Duca added, he intends to call her back and tell her any request would have to be made to the Department of Justice attorney handling the case.

RE: JUDITH COPLON
VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV
ESPIONAGE - R

At 11:00 AM, March 7, 1949, ROBERT McLAUGHLIN, accountant with Byrnes & Baker, 19 Rector Street, New York City, telephone Whitehall 3-9877, telephonically advised the New York Office that he had information concerning subject GUBITCHEV.

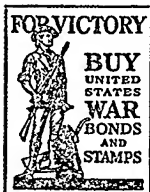

At 12:00 Noon the writer and SA S. A. McGarr interviewed Mr. Mc LAUGHLIN at 45 Rockefeller Plaza.

Mr. McLAUGHLIN stated that he is an accountant employed by the above-named firm and assigned to work auditing the UN contracts for excavations and other engineering work and in his duties he became acquainted with GUBITCHEV. While so employed at the UN, he had noticed GUBITCHEV at one time (date unknown) conferring with JOSEPH SEIF, an attorney employed by the UN doing real estate work. When McLAUGHLIN appeared on the scene, GUBITCHEV and SEIF broke off their conversation and GUBITCHEV appeared to be startled. Later, on another date, the identical occurrence took place.

Mr. McLAUGHLIN stated he has no information which would cast suspicion on SEIF, other than the above two occasion. Mr. McLAUGHLIN said that GUBITCHEV is a very pleasant fellow employee at the UN but kept to himself most of the time and did not appear to be very friendly with anyone there, and that GUBITCHEV appeared to be satisfied with the menial work he was performing although he was rated as an engineer. Part of his work was to check the trucks carting dirt and debris out of the excavation at 42nd Street and First Avenue.

Mr. McLAUGHLIN has no further information regarding GUBITCHEV other than the latter stated that he was returning to Russia this summer for a trip, expenses being made by the UN.

The New York indices reflect case file 77-3909 on JOSEPH BARUCH SEIF, Officer, Emergency Management, Special Inquiry. A report of SA C. W. Vrooman (A) dated at New York June 26, 1942, reflects that at that time SEIF resided 1564 52nd Street, Brooklyn. He was admitted to the New York Bar in 1922, was born November 28, 1896 at Stryj, Poland, and became a naturalized citizen through his father who was naturalized January 9, 1911. The investigation did not disclose any information of a derogatory nature.
